Organizational unit.—Division of Physical and Chemical Sciences, Department of Research and Isotopes.

Reporting date.—As soon as possible.

Duty station.—Vienna.

Type of appointment.—Fixed-term.

Duration of appointment.—Three years.

Duties and responsibilities:

In general.—To assist the director of the division, as head of the section, in planning and implementing programmes related to industrial applications of isotopes and radiation and chemistry, especially by expanding and accelerating the use of established isotope and radiation applications to selected industries in developing member states through technology transfer and information dissemination; assisting developing member states in meeting their basic chemistry requirements in nuclear science and applications and the carrying out of technology programmes for increasing the availability of radioisotopes, including radiopharmaceuticals and other labelled compounds.

In particular:

- (a) To organize symposia, panels, consultants' groups and other activities to promote research and exchange of information in these areas and be responsible for publications resulting from such meetings;
- (b) To evaluate and disseminate scientific information in these areas;
- (c) To represent the Agency in contacts with member states and their research establishments and at scientific meetings;
- (d) To administer research contracts;
- (e) To provide technical advice to other departments in the Agency in these areas and on other aspects of chemistry, and on industrial applications of nuclear techniques, as appropriate;
- (f) To initiate new activities in areas of programme responsibility of the section, including the field of chemistry, and on industrial applications of nuclear methods for optimization of industrial processes;
- (g) To provide leadership to a staff of four to five professionals.

Qualifications:

Essential.—Ph.D. or equivalent in chemistry or engineering, with at least fifteen (15) years' relevant experience. Applicant should have a broad background in industrial applications and technology transfer, as well as in the field of chemistry and nuclear science relevant to the programmes of the section. In-depth scientific knowledge in one or several areas: radiation processing, nucleonic control systems, application of tracers in industry, nuclear analytical techniques or production and quality control of radioisotopes and radiopharmaceuticals. Science administrative experience is required. Experience in technical co-operation projects of an international nature is desirable.

Languages.—Fluency in English, French, Russian or Spanish essential.

The grade the successful candidate receives will be based on qualifications and experience, it will not be higher than that quoted.

Remuneration is quoted in annual amounts in US$ and is deemed to be exempt from national income tax.

Rate.—Single, net base salary, US$36,282, plus US$24,362, post adjustment; dependency, US$39,290, plus US$26,382, post adjustment. Post adjustment is variable and subject to change without notice.

Reporting date.—As soon as possible.

Duty station.—Vienna.

Type of appointment.—Fixed-term.

Duration of appointment.—Three years.

Duties and responsibilities:

In general.—The incumbent is responsible for the analysis, design and implementation of the training activities offered by the training section with direct responsibility for ensuring the instructional integrity of the training courses offered by the section for the Department of Safeguards.

In particular:

The incumbent will be expected to—

- (a) conduct courses as required;
- (b) teach course sessions, modules or segments as appropriate;
- (c) evaluate training effectiveness;
- (d) review and update the training course documentation system on a continuing basis;
- (e) devise instructional packages for instructor, proctored and self-training programmes;
- (f) subject to the approval of the board of governors, to prepare for, carry out and report on Agency safeguards inspection in the field;
- (g) develop procedures for carrying out the training function by applying good instructional design methodology combined with effective management skills;
- (h) establish training programme goals by comparing ongoing training activities with the section objectives established by the Director-General;
- (i) develop instructional objectives from task or needs analysis.

Note.—The incumbent must be prepared to travel as required to member states of the Agency for the purpose of carrying out training in safeguards matters. The incumbent of the post will also be considered to be a radiation worker and be subject to an appropriate programme of physical and medical surveillance arranged by the Agency.

Qualifications:

Essential.—University degree or equivalent in nuclear sciences, administration, or education. At least ten (10) years of experience in the nuclear industry, preferably in a training position. The candidate must have demonstrated ability to manage the learning situation effectively.

Desirable.—Experience as a national and/or international safeguards inspector is highly desirable.

Languages.—Fluency in English, French, Russian or Spanish essential.

The grade the successful candidate receives will be based on qualifications and experience, it will not be higher than that quoted.
