THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 42 OF 1981

Parties:
Transport and Allied Workers' Union
and Express (K) Ltd./Etco Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of 239 employees.

1. The Transport and Allied Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Express (K) Ltd./Etco Ltd shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 29th September and 2nd October, 1981, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The Respondents also called J. J. Mageria to give evidence on oath.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 9th October, 1980, duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 8th July, 1981, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

This dispute involves some 239 former employees of the Respondents and the issue in dispute as reported to the Minister for Labour and as it appears on the Notification of Dispute Form "A" reads "dismissal of 239 employees". The Claimants, however, in their written submission had added another issue No. 2 which reads, "refusal by the management of Messrs. Express Kenya Ltd. to pay terminal benefits to their employees".

The dispute as reported to the Minister for Labour on the issue of dismissal of 239 employees was investigated by the Ministry of Labour and the Ministry's findings and recommendation were conveyed to the parties on 17th June, 1980, which were:

"During the investigations it was established that Express (K) Ltd. did not have work for the employees after the agents services were terminated by the Coffee Board of Kenya but the company had not declared the employees redundant or advised them to find jobs elsewhere like they did. The employees concerned applied for jobs individually to the Coffee Board without involving the union or the management of Express (K) Ltd. and did not wait to be transferred or to be declared redundant."

Therefore the management of Express (K) Ltd. had a right to claim that the said employees deserted their employment since they did not give them a month's notice. However, they had all collected their dues for the days they had worked before they obtained jobs with the Coffee Board of Kenya. The 18 people who are retired on age grounds had also been paid their retirement benefits.

It was therefore found out that the employees were not declared redundant as the union claims and so cannot claim for severance pay or any other benefits related to such. The Claimants have no case in this issue. In view of the foregoing I find that the 231 employees deserted their employment and broke their contract of service with Express (K) Ltd.

I therefore recommend that the matter should stand as it is and the Claimants' demand is hereby rejected."

The Claimants rejected both the findings and recommendation and the dispute is now before the Court.

It is not disputed that prior to 1979 the Respondents were the managing agents for the Coffee Board of Kenya (hereinafter referred to as the Coffee Board) and employed specifically for this business 249 workers. The Claimants to a certain extent are correct when they submit that the Respondents had no work for these employees and allege that the Respondents entered into negotiations with the Coffee Board to persuade the board to take over all these employees without any loss of service or reduction in their terms and conditions of service. They however accused the Respondents of having tricked their members in this whole affair and stated that they had taken an undue advantage of a letter written by the Labour Commissioner on 7th June, 1979, to the Respondents and the Coffee Board. The Court finds that in this letter the Labour Commissioner had made excellent suggestions for resolving this sensitive issue of the past services rendered by these 239 employees and as to their future prospects with the Coffee Board. The Labour Commissioner has suggested the following four points:

1. All employees currently employed by Etco Ltd., who work for the Coffee Board should be taken over the Board as their employees without any loss of benefits.
2. Any benefits so far accrued to individual employees up to the date of take over should be deposited in a trust account which should be operated by the Coffee Board from which all benefits would be paid to individuals as they fall due.
3. Once an agreement has been reached by both of you I would suggest that advantage be taken to discuss it with the union currently representing these employees. Once this has been done formal letters should be addressed to individual employees advising them of the changeover and giving details such as their benefits, etc. It is assumed that they will move to the new employer with all their existing terms and conditions of employment. These letters should be jointly signed by both of you with a copy to the union and ourselves.
4. With regards to personal details of employees it is suggested that these be given by the current employer to the new employer. In this connection therefore there is no need for each individual employee being requested to fill new forms by the proposed new employer.

I would like to emphasize that we do not expect any redundancy as a result of this change over."

The Labour Commissioner's advice was not taken as the Coffee Board decided to take over all these workers as new employees with effect from 1st July, 1979, provided each one of them signed a form of acceptance of employment with them. This form included a probationary period of three months.

There is no doubt that all these persons completed these forms in a hurry and secured employment with the Coffee Board. The Claimants do not deny this and the Court therefore cannot understand how they can argue that the Respondents had tricked these workers into believing that they were transferred to the Coffee Board when each one of them signed a new application form for employment containing a probationary period of three months. As a matter of fact all of them did this before the end of June 1979.

The Claimants after finding that all their members had accepted new jobs with the Coffee Board then embarked on negotiations with the Respondents for the payment of redundancy pay to all of them which of course the Respondents promptly denied and rejected.

The Claimants have pleaded that their members were victims of circumstances and that they had not deserted their employment and broken their contract of employment with the Respondents and accused the Respondents of being too clever and of exploiting these poor persons. The Claimants have demanded that all these 239 former employees of the Respondents should be paid their terminal benefits in accordance with the redundancy clause in the collective agreement.

For the Respondents J. J. Mageria, their managing director gave evidence on oath and the important point arising out of his evidence is that he had sought the advice of the Labour Commissioner (which has been set out hereinabove) but the Coffee Board had circulated employment application form to all employees which all of them filled and signed without exception. Further, the Coffee Board again circulated forms of acceptance of employment which again all these persons signed. Mr. Mageria was emphatic that all their workers did this despite the Claimants and the Respondents advising the shop stewards and the employees concerned that they were still in the process of discussing with the Coffee Board the change-over procedure and that they should leave the whole matter to the two managements. Mr. Mageria said that they had not addressed any communication of any sort to any of these 239 former employees as he was hoping that they would be able to resolve this matter in accordance with the Labour Commissioner's advice. In cross-examination Mr. Mageria stated that he ran a group of five companies and in the event of the Coffee Board not agreeing to resolve the matter satisfactorily with them he could have tried to absorb all the workers in the other companies.

The Court has examined the provisions of the collective agreement between the parties during the material time and finds that there are no terminal benefits as such provided for in it. There is a clause on redundancy and redundancy pay unfortunately for Claimants and these 239 workers they have been able to produce any evidence to show that the Respondents either dismissed them or declared them redundant. The Court has no doubt that they all acted prematurely during the crucial last week of June 1979 and also took no notice of the Respondents' and the Claimants' advice to them that they should await and leave the whole matter to the two management to sort out. The Court can appreciate the difficult position in which these workers have put the Claimants in that they failed to take their advice at the proper time. The Court is not surprised because of the circumstances of this whole dispute that the Claimants were at a loss on how to proceed with this dispute because the Respondents had not dismissed any of these employees nor had they declared them redundant. On the contrary, all these workers, may be in a state of panic and in order to ensure their future jobs, acted prematurely in applying for and accepting jobs with the Coffee Board with effect from 1st July, 1979, as new employees.

The Court has very carefully considered this whole dispute and all the circumstances relating to it but regrettably cannot help these workers in these circumstances. The Court must uphold the findings and recommendation of the Ministry of Labour and reject this claim.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 3584

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT CAUSE NO. 43 OF 1981

Parties—

Kenya Bakers and Confectioners Workers Union
and Batchelors Bakery Ltd.

Issue in dispute—

Recognition.

1. The Kenya Bakers and Confectioners Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Batchelors Bakery Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 15th and 25th September and 23rd October, 1981, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Minister for Labour signed the reference of this dispute to the Industrial Court on 8th July, 1981, in accordance with section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act. The Court received the notification of dispute from the Minister with the relevant statutory certificate on 10th July.

In this dispute the Claimants are seeking recognition from the Respondents on the ground that they are a bakery and as such fall within the constitution of the Claimants. In view of the fact that the Respondents have recognized the Domestic and Hotel Workers' Union the Court also invited this union to be made a party to this dispute and they accordingly also made written and verbal submissions during the hearing.

During the hearing it was established that the Respondents run three businesses namely a bakery situated on Lusaka Road, Industrial Area, Nairobi, a restaurant under the name of Giorgios Restaurant Ltd. at Wabera Street, in the city centre and Batchelors Cafe also in the city centre on Market Street. There are 48 unionisable employees altogether at present in these three establishments. From the list of employees that was produced there are about 20 to 22 employees working in the bakery with the remaining working in the other two establishments, i.e. Giorgio's Restaurant and Batchelors Cafe. At this stage the Court would like to mention that the Claimants made it abundantly clear that they were interested only in representing the unionisable employees working in the Respondents' bakery. They stated that they were not at all interested in either recruiting or representing employees working in the two restaurants being run by the Respondents.

The main issue in this dispute is whether the Claimants should be allowed to represent the Respondents' bakery employees only with the remaining employees being represented by the Domestic Union or whether the Claimants' demand should be rejected and the Domestic Union should be allowed to represent all the Respondents' employees including those working in the bakery. The Respondents of course have made vigorous representations that they should be allowed to continue recognizing the Domestic Union as their establishment was too small to let their workers be represented by two trade unions. The Respondents and the interested party also submitted that all these employees, i.e. those in the bakery and the two restaurants were interchangeable but in the absence of any clear-cut evidence on this point the Court is not inclined to attach much weight to this.

The Court does not intend to go into the question of the various check off lists that were submitted by the two trade unions to the Respondents or the withdrawal of the necessary authority by some employees at some stage or even the dismissal or some of the employees who it was alleged had been victimized for espousing the cause of the Claimants as this would really serve no useful purpose in determining the essential and central issue in this dispute. The Court is satisfied that at time of the hearing the Claimants had in their membership 16 bakery employees.

The Claimants have very strongly submitted that the High Court decision as a result of which they were registered as a trade union has effectively put an end to the Domestic Union's or any other trade unions' claims to be able to recruit and represent employees working in any bakeries in the country. The Domestic Union however produced a letter from the Registrar of Trade Unions dated 27th March, 1981, addressed to the Executive Director, Federation of Kenya Employers which reads:

"It would seem that following the ruling of the High Court on 18th November, 1977, which set aside my decisions to refuse registration of the Kenya Bakers & Confectioners Workers Union there are now two registered unions namely the Bakers Union and the Domestic & Hotel Workers' Union whose constitutions authorize membership from same industries."

I have however no power under the Trade Unions Act to direct either one of the above unions to amend their constitution so as to prevent the overlapping.

I can only advise you to refer the matter to COTU (K) to arrange for the respective unions to reach some kind of mutual agreement. Both unions are affiliates of COTU and COTU is empowered by its constitution to settle such disputes.

Failing the above the whole matter is quite clearly a trade dispute within section 2 of the Trade Disputes Act (Cap. 234). If one of the parties to the dispute authorizes you to report the dispute under section 4 (2) (c) of Cap. 234 you may then resort to the machinery laid down in the said Act."

There is no evidence that any of the suggestions put forward by the Registrar of Trade Unions have received any attention at the hands of the relevant authorities. So the Court is left with the situation where the Domestic Union is also still eligible to represent employees in bakeries in addition to employees in hotels, bars and restaurants and other various undertakings listed in their constitution.

The Court has given very anxious thought to this dispute and had it not been for the fact that the Respondents are running three different establishments at three different places for which they have taken out three different trading licences the Court would have found in favour of the Domestic Union but in the present dispute the Court is satisfied that the Respondents are running three separate enterprises and that the Respondents' main activity is that of baking. In fact the Respondents' representative conceded in a question from the Court that they were really a baking industry. The Court does not find that the division of 22 bakery employees and 26 restaurant employees to be represented by two different trade unions, i.e. the Claimants and the Domestic Union would be too cumbersome for the Respondents to handle or it would lead to any other complications. The Court accordingly awards that the Respondents should recognize the Claimants in respect of their unionisable bakery employees and the Domestic Union should continue to represent all the other unionisable employees in the Respondents' two restaurants. The Court further directs that the Claimants and the Respondents should sign a formal recognition agreement in respect of Respondents bakery employees only within a month of the date of the Court award.

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within sixty (60) days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form TM. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 50.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.

Applications for registration in Part A of the Register are shown with the official number unaccompanied by any letter. Application for Part B are distinguished by the letter B prefixed to the official number.
