THE INDUSTRIAL COURT
CAUSE No. 90 OF 1990

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial, Food and Allied Workers
and

Central Security Guards Limited.

Issue in dispute:

"Dismissal of Lawrence Moruri."

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Central Security Guards Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. This dispute was mentioned on 13th September and 29th October, 1990, and fixed for hearing on 21st March, 1991. On 21st March, 1991, when this dispute came up for hearing the respondents' representative sent a letter to the court stating that he was busy at the high court. He pleaded his inability to attend the hearing and requested for adjournment. The adjournment was granted and thereafter the dispute was fixed for hearing on 25th April, 1991. Again on 25th April, 1991, the respondents or their representative did not turn up for the hearing and the court proceeded to hear the dispute ex parte.

AWARD

3. The dispute was referred to the court by the Minister for Labour, on 8th August, 1990, in accordance with section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act. This reference together with the statutory certificates was received by the court on 10th August, 1990.

Lawrence Moruri was employed by the respondents on 17th December, 1985, as a guard earning a consolidated salary of KSh. 690. His services were terminated on 1st October, 1987, after having served the respondents for one (1) year and nearly ten (10) months. At the time of his termination Mr. Moruri was earning a consolidated salary of KSh. 821 per month.

The events leading to the grievant's dismissal happened in the period between August and September 1987. It is alleged that at the material time Mr. Moruri had made enquiries at the National Social Security Fund (N.S.S.F.) offices about his and his workmates contributions. Consequently, N.S.S.F. officials were prompted to institute investigations. Whilst the N.S.S.F. investigations were under way the grievant was issued with a dismissal letter.

The claimants told the court that they took up the matter on behalf of the grievant but the respondents did not agree to meet the claimants on all the four occasions they were expected to meet. As a result, a trade dispute was reported to the Minister for Labour. Thereafter, the dispute having gone through the usual machinery the Ministry's findings and recommendations were released to the parties on 18th October, 1988.

The Ministry's findings were that the grievant had suffered a wrongful dismissal and for that he was entitled to compensation.

The Ministry recommended that the grievant's dismissal be reduced to normal termination of services that would entitle him terminal benefits. The respondents were also asked to pay him four (4) months salary by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal he had suffered.

The decision was accepted by the claimants but the respondents did not bother to respond.

The claimants told the court that the grievant had maintained an exemplary employment record for twenty-one (21) months he served the respondents.

The claimants further stressed that Mr. Moruri was an active shop steward who pursued only matters relevant to his responsibilities. As a result, Mr. Moruri was within his duties and rights when he enquired about employees' contributions at the N.S.S.F. The claimants felt that it was grossly unfair for the respondents to have dismissed the grievant on account of legitimate enquiries at the N.S.S.F. The claimants went on to advance that the respondents were also guilty of not specifying the reasons upon which they were dismissing the grievant.

The claimants concluded their submissions by stating that the Ministry of Labour had confirmed that the grievant had been wrongfully dismissed. The claimants requested the court to reduce the grievant's dismissal to normal termination of service and in addition to order that he be paid the following benefits:

	Sh.
(a) Notice one month .....	821.00
(b) Unpaid wages for September, 1987 .....	821.00
(c) Leave travelling allowance 9½ months at 150/-	112.50
(d) Prorata leave: 9/12 each 21 .....	479.30
(e) Severance pay each 15 days per year .....	410.50
(f) Compensation for wrongful dismissal each 12 months wages .....	9,852.00
	12,496.30

After careful consideration of all the submissions made by the claimant, the court finds itself in agreement with the findings of the Ministry of Labour, that the grievant had suffered a wrongful dismissal.

The court accordingly awards that the dismissal should be reduced to normal termination that would entitle the grievant to all his terminal dues. In addition he should be paid four (4) months' salary by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal he has suffered.

Dated the 28th May, 1991.

CAUSE NO. 7 OF 1991*Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial, Food and Allied Workers
and Maramoja Security Guards

Issue in dispute:

Recognition Agreement.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial, Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as claimants and Maramoja Security Guards shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 4th June, 1991, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 14th May, 1990, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 13th February, 1991, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents are a protective security company based in Nakuru Municipality of Rift Valley Province. They employ a total labour force of 85 employees.

This dispute arose in October, 1987 when the claimants approached the respondents seeking to be accorded recognition. The claimants demand was rejected by the respondents and subsequently, on 10th October, 1988, the dispute was reported to the Minister for Labour. The dispute was thereafter investigated by the Ministry of Labour and on 31st January, 1990, the Ministry's findings and recommendation were conveyed to the parties.

The Ministry's findings were that the respondents are in security industry and the claimants were the appropriate trade union to represent their unionisable employees. It was also found that there was no rival trade union seeking recognition from the respondents. It was recommended that the respondents should accord the claimants recognition.

The decision was turned down by the respondents and now the matter is before the court for adjudication.

The claimants submitted that 80 unionisable employees out of a total of 85 employees in the respondents employment are their members since October, 1987.

The respondents submitted that union membership had been done secretly and they were surprised at the allegation that some of their employees were claimants members. The respondents argued that the claimants went round at night collecting signatures from their employees.

The respondents summed up their submissions by telling the court that they are willing to recognize the claimants as long as legal requirements for recognition are met. The respondents urged the court to order that the parties convene a meeting to resolve the issue of recognition once and for all.

The court has carefully considered the parties submissions and finds that the respondents have no grounds to deny claimants recognition so as to enable them to represent the respondents unionisable employees.

The respondents have all along played for time and have succeeded in denying claimants recognition since October, 1987. Obviously the respondents are worried that once the claimants are recognized they will have to face demands from them on behalf of workers for increasing their wages and fringe benefits. They need no fears in this regard because if they find the demands too high then they can always refer the matter to the Ministry of Labour and the Industrial Court for a fair and just resolution of the dispute. The court accordingly awards that the respondents should recognize the claimants and the parties should sign the recognition agreement within three (3) months of the date of the award and that the recognition agreement be effective from the date the said recognition agreement is signed.

CAUSE NO. 122 OF 1990*Parties:

and Gailey and Roberts Limited.

Issue in dispute:

Termination of John Mambo.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial, Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Gailey and Roberts Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 9th May, 1991, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

The respondents called Charles W. Waigwa as a witness.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 4th October, 1990, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 13th December, 1990, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. Mambo was employed by the respondents on 2nd May, 1978, as an artisan grade II at a salary of KSh. 1,500 p.m. On 1st May, 1981, he was promoted to artisan grade II after passing the company's trade test. He worked for the respondents until 14th November, 1989, when his services were terminated. At the time of his termination, he was earning KSh. 5,931 plus a housing allowance of KSh. 625 per month. He had worked for the respondents for 11 years and nearly 8 months.

The circumstances which led to the grievant's dismissal happened between 7th and 8th December, 1989. It is alleged that at the material time a caterpillar fuel pump valued at over KSh. 100,000 which was being repaired in Mr. Mambo's section disappeared mysteriously from the workshop. Subsequently, the respondents lost confidence in him and on 14th December, 1989 his services were dispensed with.

The claimants submitted that they took up the matter on behalf of the grievant but no settlement was reached. Subsequently, on 2nd February, 1990, a trade dispute was reported to the Minister for Labour. The dispute having gone through the usual machinery, the Ministry's findings and recommendations were released to the parties on 11th September, 1990. The Ministry's finding was that Mr. Mambo was unlawfully terminated. It was recommended that Mr. Mambo should be reinstated back to his former job and the period he was out of employment be treated as leave without pay.

The decision was turned down by the respondents and the matter is now before the court for consideration.

The respondents countered the claimant's submissions by stating that Mr. Mambo was entrusted with the sole responsibility of receiving and securing customer's spare parts. As a result, it was through his machination that the fuel pump disappeared from the workshop only to be recovered in the car park. They also refused the claimants' allegations that the pump had been hidden and dumped at the car park by their agent deliberately to victimize Mr. Mambo. They asserted that Mr. Mambo's car had remained securely locked during the search and the time he was held by the police. They maintained that, it was a possibility that Mr. Mambo had hidden the pump in his car. However, when he got a chance to pick his car from the company premises on Sunday the 10th December, 1989, being a non-working day, he removed it from the car. The respondents stressed that the pump was found near where Mr. Mambo used to park his personal car. The respondents explained that it was very difficult to establish as to whether some employees saw Mr. Mambo take the pump and chose to remain silent or as to whether they did not participate in the incident.

The respondents emphasized that Mr. Mambo had previously been involved in similar cases where parts went missing.

The court has made its position very clear in numerous previous decisions as to the circumstances in which it would be prepared to interfere in an employer's right to dismiss a worker. The circumstances of the present dispute, however, do not fit into any of the criteria laid down by the court.

From the submissions of the parties and the evidence of the respondents witness it is clear that there were very strong was discovered that it had in it customer's and parts belonging to the respondents worth Sh. 123,000. The jobs for which these parts were needed had been completed a couple of months earlier and as such they should have been returned to the stores.

The respondents have given the grievant a normal termination by giving him salary in lieu of notice for two (2) months amounting to Sh. 11,862 and the grievant would also be entitled to an amount of Sh. 110,747/40 by way of provident fund which includes the respondents contribution of Sh. 55,373.70.

Under the circumstances of this dispute the court has decided to uphold the respondents' decision to terminate the grievant's services and the demands for his reinstatement and/or heavy compensation are rejected.

Particular attention should be paid to the following points:

- (i) Signature must be clarified by means of rubber-stamping or typing the name of the signer in capital letters.
- (ii) Dates must be correct and filled in where necessary.
- (iii) Care should be taken to ensure that all headings to notices and references to legislation are up to date and conform with the Revised Edition of the Laws of Kenya.
