THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO 5 OF 1969

Parties —

Kenya Chemical Workers' Union
and
African Chemicals Ltd

Issues in Dispute —

- 1 Wages
- 2 Effective date
- 3 Duration of agreement

1 The Kenya Chemical Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and African Chemicals Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties were heard in Mombasa on the 16th day of April 1969 and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

The parties have agreed that the duration period of their new agreement should be three years. The matters in dispute are increase in wages, the effective date of such increase and whether the employees should get further increases, if at all, at yearly intervals or after 18 months.

During negotiations the Respondents had made an offer of a wage increase of Sh 12/50 w e f 1st April 1968 for a period of 18 months and a further amount of Sh 12/50 w e f 1st October 1969, for a further period of 18 months. This was not accepted by the Claimants who had asked for a 15 per cent yearly increase for three years. The final position reached by the parties prior to referring the dispute to the Court was as follows —

Claimants Demand —

	Sh	cts
1st year 10 per cent increase	313	50
2nd year 9 per cent increase	341	70
3rd year 9 per cent increase	372	45

Respondents Offer —

	Sh	cts
1st year	300	00
2nd year	315	00
3rd year	330	00

The Court is satisfied that the delay of about five months between the time the Claimants submitted their demands on 25th March 1968 and the date the Respondents declared a trade dispute with the Ministry of Labour on 7th August 1968 was primarily caused by the Claimants insistence over the introduction of a grading system. The Court feels that there is no justification at this stage for a grading system to be introduced by the Respondents. Another delay of five months occurred when the matter was in the hands of the Ministry of Labour for which the Court can neither blame the Respondents nor the Claimants. In these circumstances the Court has come to the conclusion that the most equitable effective date would be 1st October 1968 and so awards, the parties having agreed that the duration period of the agreement would be three years.

On the question of wages, after a careful consideration of all the submissions made by the parties the Court awards that the present wage of Sh 285 consolidated p m should be increased as follows w e f 1st October 1968 —

For 12 months	Sh 305 p m consolidated
For the next 12 months	Sh 325 p m consolidated
For the next 12 months	Sh 345 p m consolidated

Issues in dispute —

AWARD

The Industrial Relations Charter has come to be accepted in Kenya as the Magna Carta of relations between employers and their workers since 15th October 1962, when it was drawn and signed by the Federation of Kenya Employers, the Kenya Federation of Labour and the then Minister for Labour. This Charter has indeed come to be accepted as an enlightened document and is being used as a basis for regulating industrial relations in other countries as well. Attached to this Charter is a model agreement which under clause 2 (a) states as follows —

"The [redacted] affords full recognition to the Union as a properly constituted and representative body and the sole labour organization representing the interests of workers who are in the employment of the [redacted] concerning rates of pay and overtime, hours of work, method of wage payment, paid leave, duration of employment, collection of union dues, retirement benefits, medical benefits, principles of promotion, principles of redundancy and other generally accepted terms and conditions of service. This shall not include supervisory staff as defined from time to time by the FKE and KFL (now COTU(K))"

And under the heading "Modification to and termination of this agreement", it provides as follows —

"This Agreement shall come into force on [redacted] and shall remain in force for a period of not less than 12 months. Thereafter the Agreement shall continue in force but may be modified or rescinded by mutual agreement."

"After 12 months, either party wishing to amend or modify the Agreement shall give two months' written notice to the other party with details of the proposed amendments. In the event of it proving impossible to obtain mutual agreement to amendment of the Agreement, then either party may refer the dispute for formal action in terms of the Trade Disputes Act 1965."

The Court is satisfied that this model recognition agreement has been used as basis for almost all the recognition agreements in the country and while accepting the Respondents' submission that at the most the model recognition agreement could be considered as a guide, the fact remains that there have to be exceptionally strong reasons to vary or depart from the subject matter recommended in this model agreement.

On the matter of retirement benefits, the Respondents submitted that if the Claimants were granted the right to negotiate on this matter then it would automatically lead to their having to grant a benefit like a gratuity scheme to their workers. The Court sees no merit in this submission as it should be obvious by now to the Respondents representative that disputes that come before the Court are very carefully considered by the Court on their own merits and circumstances. There would be no certainty that the Court would make an award in favour of the Claimants on a matter which was negotiable. The Court further overrules the Respondents' submission that the granting of right to negotiate on retirement benefits would lead to contravention of section 42 of the National Social Security Fund Act (NSSF Act). For one reason because there is no restrictive clause in the NSSF Act, if an employer chooses to grant additional retirement benefits to the ones under NSS Fund then he is perfectly entitled to do so. The other reason being that the NSS Fund as yet is not applicable to female workers.

Under section 9 (1) of the Trade Disputes Act 1965, an Industrial Court has been established by the President of the Republic for the purpose of the settlement of trade disputes and matters related thereto. It is inconceivable that a dispute on recognition agreement from which stem all the obligations of the parties, i.e. the employers and trade unions on matters relating to wages, terms and conditions of service, could not be termed a trade dispute within the definition of the "trade dispute" in the Trade Disputes Act 1965. The Court rules that it has jurisdiction over disputes relating to recognition agreement.

In these circumstances and after a careful consideration of all the submissions, the Court awards that the Claimants are entitled to have the wording as suggested in the aforesaid model recognition agreement under clause 2 (a) which is reproduced hereinabove, in the proposed recognition agreement between the parties.

The first two items in dispute having been disposed of, the Court rules on the issue of duration of recognition agreement that here again the wording of the model recognition agreement which is also reproduced hereinabove should be incorporated in the proposed recognition agreement between the parties.

The Court would like to add on the question of principles of promotion that the final say on this issue must be the prerogative of the management. In fact the Claimants conceded this point during the hearing.

The Court feels that it would not be desirable at this juncture to depart from the principles enunciated and laid down in the Industrial Relations Charter which has made such a tremendous impact on the smooth industrial relations in the country. If the employers now feel that any provisions of the Industrial Relations Charter have got to be modified then proper course surely is for the Federation of Kenya Employers, the Central Organization of Trade Unions (Kenya), and the Government to embark on such an exercise.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO 11 OF 1969

Parties

National East Africa Seamens Union
and

Shipping Employers' Group

Issues in Dispute

- 1 Wages
- 2 Payment for dangerous cargo
- 3 Short-hand money—catering and engine room
- 4 Effective date
- 5 Duration of agreement

1 The National East Africa Seamens Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Shipping Employers' Group shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents

2 The parties were heard in Mombasa on the 15th day of April 1969 and relied on their written and verbal submissions

AWARD

The Court has very carefully considered the submissions made by the parties on the various matters in dispute. There is no doubt that shipping industry in East Africa has expanded over the last few years and the future also appears to be fairly bright. In 1965 there were 147 seamen working on 10 vessels whereas now in 1969 there are 371 seamen working on 19 vessels. Employment opportunities have been created and the Court is confident that further opportunities will arise provided a favourable climate is created under which the parties can get down to stabilizing and improving industrial relations in the industry.

The Court has come to the conclusion that the present basic rates being paid to the various categories of seamen have to be examined without bringing in the question of the payment of a European allowance. The Court feels that it would not be fair to mix these two matters together in arriving at a wage increase to be granted on the basic rate. It is quite clear that the European allowance would be paid to seamen from the day a ship first touched a European port until the date of departure from the final European port of call. This, the Court was told, would happen once in every four or five months for about 20 days. In the 1967 Agreement expiring on 31st May 1968, the following wage standards are provided —

	Deep Sea E A Sh	Coastal E A Sh
--	--------------------	-------------------

Deck Crew

Bosun	513	465
Carpenter	429	—
2nd Bosun	357	—
Storekeeper	327	—
Quarter Master	357	—
Able Seaman	282	252
Ordinary Seaman	246	212
Deck Boy	186	168

Engine Room Crew

Engine Room Serang	510	—
Storekeeper	327	—
Donkeyman	327	—
Greaser I	297	267
Greaser II	258	240
Fireman	249	—
Cleaner	195	—

Catering Crew

Butler	510	—
Cook Grade I	444	—
Cook Grade II	306	—
Cook Grade III	267	—
Pantryman	282	—
Laundryman	267	—
G S I	267	243
G S II	237	212
Galley Boy	198	—

The Court awards that the above rates should be increased by Sh 30 with effect from 1st January 1969 for a period of 12 months and further that these rates should be increased by another Sh 30 with effect from 1st January 1970 for another 12 months.

The Court further awards that a seaman should get Sh 10 per day European allowance, payable from the day a ship first touches a European port until the date of departure from the final European port of all.

As far as items concerning payment of dangerous cargo and short-hand money are concerned, the Court was left with inadequate and incomplete information on these items. There appears to be considerable merit in the Respondents' submission that the Claimants' demands are vague and that in fact no discussions had taken place on these matters during negotiations and conciliation. In these circumstances, the Court feels that it would not be appropriate to make an award on these two matters in the present dispute. They are accordingly rejected. The Claimants can, if they so wish, bring up these items during the next revision of their agreement.

As stated hereinabove under the award on the issue of wages, the Court rules that the effective date of the agreement should be 1st January 1969, and that it should remain in force for a period of two years from that date.

The Court rules that this award shall be applicable to those seamen only who are on a current contract of employment or who are offered fresh contracts during the life of this award.
