THE INDUSTRIAL COURT
CAUSE NO. 54 OF 1979

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and

Kenya Bankers (Employers) Association
INTERPRETATION APPLICATION

Ruling

THE parties appeared before the court in cause No. 54 of 1979, in which the court made an award on 19th February, 1980—the issue in dispute was "Long services increases to the subordinate staff and messengers".

The parties then appeared before the court in cause No. 82 of 1986, when the issue in dispute was once again "long service increments". The parties, however, reached an agreement and settled this dispute out of court. The parties' own agreement dated 2nd March, 1987, was in the following terms:

AGREEMENT
CAUSE NO. 82 OF 1986

Long Service Increments

Noting that the parties in this dispute reached an agreement which was signed on 2nd April, 1982, setting out the formula to be used in offsetting the anomalies connected with long service increments;

Noting further that all the banks concerned applied the formula correctly except that in some cases in K.C.B. the recoveries made from the arrears were more than the maximum recoveries produced by applying the agreed formula;

It is therefore, agreed that the union should list out the names of the complainants and that the K.C.B. management should take action by deducting the deductions agreed upon in accordance with the formula—that is Sh. 1,721 only and nothing in excess of this figure. And that overtime adjustments, if any, be paid for the period 1st March, 1975 to 31st March, 1982.

Signed:

On behalf of the Kenya Bankers (Employers) Association.

Signed:

On behalf of Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers.

This is now an application made by the respondents for interpretation of the court's award in cause No. 54 of 1979 and they have relied on the last but one paragraph of the court award in that dispute. This paragraph reads as follows:

"The court notes that this dispute affects approximately 1,231 subordinate and technical staff in the banking industry. There is no doubt that the collective agreements of 1973 and 1977, both of which improved the Nazareth award of 1963, have created anomalies as pleaded by the claimants. It is regrettable that in the collective agreement there is no mention about the backdating of the 1973 and 1977 amendments. And the fact that the claimants took no action during the years 1974 to 1978 in pursuing this matter right up to the industrial court does not help the situation at all. In these circumstances the court feels that it would not be fair to penalize either party on this issue."

The respondents then referred to an agreement which they made with the claimants on 2nd April, 1982, on the formula to be adopted in implementing the court award in cause No. 54 of 1979. They particularly stressed the last para of the agreement reading "Please note that any amount already paid to an employee affected by this salary adjustment shall be offset against the amount payable as at the time the employee received such payment in arrears or on monthly basis, as the case may be."

The respondents' spokesman who was accompanied by a representative of the Kenya Commercial Bank (K.C.B.) quite candidly admitted that they i.e. the respondents and the K.C.B. were going to wash their dirty linen in public. Briefly the K.C.B. are very upset at the agreement reached between the respondents and the claimants in cause No. 82 of 1986, which has been set out hereinbefore particularly the last paragraph in which deductions were limited to Sh. 1,721 only.

The K.C.B. complained that the agreement in cause No. 82 of 1986, was inconsistent with the parties' agreement which they had made on how the court award in cause 54 of 1979, was to be implemented. They bitterly criticized the respondents which is their own association (Kenya Bankers (Employers) Association) for having let them down so badly. The K.C.B. stated that they were not a party to this agreement and therefore they disown it. They further explained that the respondents' spokesman had accepted his mistake in making the aforesaid agreement with the claimants and this had promoted this application in which they were seeking court's help to rectify the situation for them. They asked the court to uphold the K.C.B.'s stand in this matter and rule that this particular bank is not subject to the restriction of the deductions up to Sh. 1,721 only.

The claimants submitted that the K.C.B. should not be allowed to opt out of the agreement made between them and the respondents in cause No. 82 of 1986, and they particularly referred to the last paragraph of that agreement where this particular bank is mentioned and it is stated that the K.C.B. should take action by deducting the deductions agreed upon in accordance with the formula i.e. Sh. 1,721 only and nothing in excess of this figure. The claimants stated that the K.C.B. administration had made some mathematical errors prior to cause No. 54 of 1979, and that it had led to a lot of confusion. In order to eliminate this confusion a formula was worked out on 2nd April, 1982, as banks had started implementing the court award in their own separate ways. Subsequently the parties had decided to forget the mistakes between 1975 and 1980 and eventually the matter was finally resolved in the agreement made between them in cause No. 82 of 1986.

This is a very unusual interpretation application which has been made to the court in that one member bank of the bankers' employers' association the respondents is trying to back out of an agreement made by their association with the claimants. All the other banks have honoured this agreement with the exception of the K.C.B. who do not want to be limited to their deductions of Sh. 1,721 only as agreed.

The court has carefully considered this matter and finds that it is really a dispute between the K.C.B. and the respondents and if they have been let down by their own association or the association acted outside their instructions then their remedy lies against the association i.e. the respondents and not the claimants. The claimants and the respondents made an agreement in good faith and it was understood that the respondents committed all its members to that agreement. Were the court to allow the K.C.B. to opt out of this agreement it would be opening a door to undermining all the agreements made by various associations on behalf of their members by any member of such associations with disastrous consequences to industrial relations. It was up to the K.C.B. to ensure that their particular points were fully explained to the respondents and were taken into consideration when the agreement was made settling cause No. 82 of 1986. Whether they did this or not and on what authority the respondents proceeded to commit them is a matter between them and the respondents and does not concern the claimants who are entitled to seek strict implementation of this agreement from all the member banks of the respondents.

In the aforesaid circumstances the court must reject the respondents' application and rules that the K.C.B. honour the agreement made between the claimants and the respondents restricting the deductions to Sh. 1,721 only. The court directs the K.C.B. to comply with the parties' agreement forthwith.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT CAUSE NO. 101 OF 1986

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and
B.A.T. Kenya Limited

Issue in dispute:

House and House Allowance.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and B.A.T. Kenya Ltd., shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 28th July and 17th September, 1987, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The hearing had originally been fixed for 22nd April, 1987, but due to the delay by the parties in submitting their memos the hearing had to be adjourned.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 4th April, 1986, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 14th October, 1986, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

This dispute arose when the parties were negotiating for the renewal of their collective agreement which expired at the end of March, 1985. During the negotiations the parties disagreed when the claimants demanded house allowance for the respondents employees who are housed by the respondents while the respondents contention was that the housed employees were not entitled to both house and house allowance. In addition, the claimants wanted the house allowance doubled for all grades. For rural workers the claimants demanded Sh. 300 from Sh. 80 currently being paid. The parties stands have not changed and now this matter is before the court.

The claimants told the court that the respondents are a large company which has a monopoly of their business and financially can afford to pay any house allowance awarded by the court comfortably. The claimants stated that there were other employers who are not up to the respondents standing who pay house allowance ranging between Sh. 400 and Sh. 3,200 p.m. and tabled a list of these employers. The claimants also tabled a list of the unhoused employees rents from different estates, with rents ranging from Sh. 600 to Sh. 1,800 p.m. and told the court that their demands were not anywhere near the rents paid by these employees of the respondents. The claimants told the court that the respondents have a rule that requires all shift workers to stay in certain specified estates in the Eastlands area of the city which are within close proximity to the respondents factory in order to facilitate easy transport arrangements for the shift workers. And, because of high demand in these popular estates the rents are very high.

The claimants stated that the respondents claim that the claimants demands would discourage them from developing housing estates for most of the workers is unrealistic since it has been talked about for the last 30 years when they developed the B.A.T. village in Nairobi. The claimants told the court that the employees of the respondents prefer being housed by their employers even if it means leasing an estate for them. The claimants prayed the court to award these workers house allowance as per their demands as shown below:

	Present H/A	Demand
	Sh.	Sh.
Grade 1	530	1,060
" 2	490	980
" 3	460	920
" 4	375	750
" 5	355	710
" 6	310	620
" 7	300	600
" 8	290	580
Rural	80	300

They stressed that this demand was for all employees both housed and unhoused.

The respondents told the court that the parties referred this dispute to the court giving the issue in dispute as "house and house allowance", because according to the claimants, the housed employees were also entitled to house allowance while according to the respondents they were not. Secondly, the claimants demanded the current house allowance be doubled as evidenced by their prayer to the court while the respondents offered an increase of 8.5 per cent on the current house allowance. The respondents stated that they have in their employment a total of 1,478 employees out of whom 213 are non-unionizable, and only 337 unionizable employees are housed in their B.A.T. village.

The respondents told the court that this dispute arose when the parties disagreed on payment of house allowance to the housed employees because the claimants contention is that these housed employees were awarded house allowance by the court and it cannot be withdrawn. The respondents stated that cause No. 104 of 1984 was not a dispute over introduction of house allowance to the housed employees but was on "violation of clause 27 (housing) of the parties collective agreement which stated:

"Besides basic wages/salaries, all employees on permanent terms of service will be entitled to a house allowance as follows".

The respondents stated that in clause 104 of 1984 the court's task was to interpret a clause which the parties had agreed upon themselves and not to introduce a new benefit to the employees. The respondents told the court that the current disagreement arose as a result of the respondents attempt to amend clause 27 of the expired parties collective agreement, to exclude housed employees from the benefits stipulated therein. The respondents referred the court to section 9 of the Employment Act which states:

"Every employer shall at all times, at his own expense, provide reasonable accommodation for each of his employees either at or near to the place of employment or shall pay to the employee such sufficient sum as rent in addition to his wage or salary as will enable such employee to obtain reasonable accommodation".

The respondents stated that according to the section of law quoted above, the respondents employees are not entitled to both house and house allowance. The respondents further told the court the reason the claimants chose to follow house allowance issue only in this dispute is that whatever increase the court awards, the housed employees will benefit from it as well as happened in cause No. 104 of 1984. The respondents prayed the court to amend clause 27 of the parties collective agreement to exclude the housed employees from the house allowance entitlement and award an increase as per their offer of 8.5 per cent on house allowance for employees who are not housed by them.

In this dispute there are two distinct but interrelated issues at stake. The claimants put forward their submissions on the issue of house allowance only under which they seek increases as set out hereinbefore. They adopted this course notwithstanding the fact that during the negotiations on the items in dispute the respondents had put forward a demand to amend clause 27 of the parties collective agreement which allows house allowance to be paid even to those employees who are housed by the respondents. The respondents want this to be deleted and have made an offer of increasing the house allowance for those not housed to be increased in accordance with the relevant wages guidelines.

The issue of house allowance as covered in clause 27 of the collective agreement figured prominently in cause No. 104 of 1984 when the court ruled as follows:

"After careful consideration of all the submissions the court awards that the respondents should refund to all their housed employees the deductions which they have made from the effective date of the agreement as they ceased to be effective from the date of the new agreement. The court further rules that the parties should immediately embark on negotiations to determine what are the appropriate deductions to be made and once that is done then clause 27 on housing should be implemented in respect of those employees who are housed. In the meantime the respondents should withhold paying the agreed house allowance to the employees who are housed. Once the parties have agreed on the appropriate deductions to be made, then the housed employees should be paid the agreed house allowance. Both the payment of agreed house allowance and appropriate deductions will be with effect from the date of the collective agreement. It is now up to the parties to finalize this matter at a very early date."

The court was told during the hearing of this dispute that the parties have since agreed on the amount to be deducted from the house allowance entitlement of those who are housed.

The court has given careful consideration to the various submissions put forward by the parties and has come to the conclusion that the agreement relating to the housed employees vis-a-vis their entitlement to the house allowance should remain as it is. The court notes that out of the 1,234 unionizable employees of the respondents 337 are housed and 897 are not housed. The court has decided to make an award on the issue of house allowance for the non-housed employees only and the court awards the new house allowance to be paid to them as follows:

Grade	Sh. p.m.
1	600
2	555
3	525
4	430
5	405
6	360
7	345
8	335
Rural	150

The court would like to clarify once again that the housed employees will not benefit from the new increases on house allowance—they will remain on the old house allowance and continue to be subjected to deductions as agreed between the parties.

INTERPRETATION APPLICATION

Ruling

THE claimants have applied for an interpretation of the court award in the above dispute which was announced on 5th August, 1987.

They seek courts' interpretation on the award on the items of leave travelling allowance, basic minimum wages and wages increment. Their contention is that the court award on these items is below the offers made by the respondents during negotiations. They referred to the various minutes in support of their submission.

The respondents strongly objected to this application saying it was really an appeal to the court to vary its own award as the court's award on each item was very clear and needed no interpretation. They emphasized that the offers made during negotiations were withdrawn by their new management in view of their rapidly deteriorating financial position.

The respondents pointed out that by the end of March, 1987, their loss was in the region of Sh. 7,865 million and there was no way they could have sustained the offers made during negotiations by the old management. They asked the court to reject the application.

The court has considered the claimants application carefully and must point out that all the points raised by them and the respondents were given serious consideration by the court before coming to its decision. It was for this very reason that the court made the following observations in its award.

"The court notes that the parties collective agreement which is the subject matter of revision expired on 31st March, 1986, and the claimants did press for negotiations for its revision. The court has no doubt that the respondents are operating at a loss arising from poor state of their machinery and equipment. The D.M.P.D. investigator confirmed this and also that the cumulated loss as at April, 1987, was over six million shillings.

The court has carefully considered the respondents' financial position and in view of the fact that they are labour-intensive undertaking the court feels that it would not be in the interest of the parties to make an award which would increase the financial burden of the respondents to a point where the payment of the wages of their employees may be jeopardized. The court cannot make an award which may quite easily put the respondents in liquidation and cause a loss of over 200 jobs."

In the aforesaid circumstances the court rejects the claimants demand to vary the court's award. The parties will no doubt take into account the modest award made by the court in this dispute during their next round of negotiations depending no doubt on the financial position of the respondents at that time. This award is due to expire in another 5 months.
