THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 4 OF 1986

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and
L. G. Harris & Co. Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Wage increase.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and L.G. Harris & Co. Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 11th July, 1986, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 13th June, 1985, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 10th January, 1986, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

This dispute affects some 33 unionisable employees who work for the respondents. The parties had relatively a long time of relations until 1984 when they were negotiating the disputed agreement. The parties agreed for the 1984 wage increase to be taken as house allowance as they were moving from consolidated to deconsolidated wage structure. They also agreed that the increase for the second year of the agreement be determined at a later date before the end of the June 1984. The said agreement was back-dated to 1st June, 1983.

The claimants told the court that when they sent their proposals to the respondents, the respondents applied delaying tactics until early 1985, when the parties met. At this meeting the claimants demanded 15 per cent wage increase. The parties however did not agree as the respondents offered only 2 per cent wage increase. The claimants stated that the respondents business was sound and they have the ability to pay. The claimants prayed the court to award their members 15 per cent wage increase for the period in question.

The respondents told the court that they were in a poor financial position and could not meet the claimants demand. The respondents stated that for the first year of the agreement they gave increases ranging from 13.2 per cent to 23.3 per cent in the form of housing allowance. They produced audited accounts for the period in question showing that they operated at a loss and stated that if the claimants demand was accepted by the court the respondents would not be able to meet it. The respondents who manufacture brushes and brooms told the court that some employees had resigned from their employment and had started similar business as the respondents causing a big competition. The respondents submitted that as the business was showing some improvement they had increased their offer from 2 per cent to 5 per cent and prayed the court to make an award in their favour as anything beyond that would cripple the business. They asked the court to make the 5 per cent increase effective from the date of the court award.

The court notes that under the wages guidelines the respondents employees are entitled to a compensation of 10 per cent for the period under review. The court also notes the long standing good relationship between the parties before the respondents business started dwindling. After careful consideration of the parties submissions, the court finds that the respondents' financial position is not very encouraging and as such, an award to fully compensate these workers would cause a great hardship to the respondents. For this reason the court accepts the respondents offer of 5 per cent wage increase for the second year of the agreement but rejects their plea that it should be effective from the date of the court award. The court awards that the 5 per cent wage increase should be effective from 1st July, 1984.

Given at Nairobi the 18th July, 1986.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT CAUSE No. 39 OF 1986

Parties:
Kenya Engineering Workers' Union
and
The Kisumu General Engineering Group of F.K.E.

Issue in dispute:

Refusal by the employer to sign the negotiated and agreed Collective Agreement. (On clause—Minimum Wages)

THE Kenya Engineering Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the Kisumu General Engineering Group of F.K.E. shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 23rd May, 1986 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 17th March, 1986, duly signed by the parties, was received by the court on 29th April, 1986 together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents at the start raised a legal objection on the issue in dispute. They pointed out that they never refused to sign a collective agreement as specified in Form "A". After some clarification from the claimants, the respondents agreed that the court should proceed with the hearing.

The dispute concerns minor engineering firms operating in Kisumu with a labour force not exceeding twenty per unit. The events that led to the present dispute followed the delays in starting negotiations in time to have the collective agreement concluded and registered before its expiry. The 1983/84 agreement which is the subject of this dispute was not finalized until after the award in Cause No. 106 of 1984.

At the time both parties agreed that:

- (a) Grades I and II will get an increment of KSh. 61 each year of the agreement.
- (b) For the rest of the grades KSh. 75 each year of the agreement.

Both parties agreed that new minimum rates would be obtained by adding these increases to the existing rates.

The respondents pointed out that at the time when the above agreement was concluded the rates were consolidated minimum rates as they appeared in the 1981/82 agreement. However, these were subsequently amended by Legal Notice No. 120/82 which came into force on 1st August, 1982.

During the hearing of Cause No. 106 of 1984, the claimants had demanded deconsolidation of wages in accordance with guideline IV (b) (ii) of 1982 wages guideline amendment. They demanded that the respondents should pay 15 per cent house allowance on the current consolidated rates and not on minimums as provided for under the guideline. At this time the parties had no clause on house allowance.

As a result of the award in Cause No. 106 of 1984, the wages had to be deconsolidated immediately. The respondents drafted a new agreement incorporating the court award, but the claimants refused to sign it claiming that their understanding of the award was that the deconsolidation should take place after adding the percentage increases agreed on the various grades and not before adding these increases.

The claimants later filed an interpretation application in which the court ruled that the agreed increases of KSh. 61 and KSh. 75, respectively, had to be added to the old minimum wages as at 31st December, 1982 before deconsolidating them by 15 per cent to arrive at the housing allowance. The claimants argument was that with effect from 1st January, 1983 minimum wage was KSh. 577 per month arrived at as (KSh. 516 plus KSh. 61 equals to KSh. 577, then deconsolidated by 15 per cent to get housing). Based on this premise, the claimants asked the court to find that the new minimum as at 1st January, 1983 was KSh. 577. The court upheld the claimants' submissions. The claimants appear to have second thought, and have brought the present dispute. The claimants have misunderstood the court's award and the interpretation ruling.

The court would like to remind the claimants, of the contents of guideline (iv) (b) (ii) on wages guidelines of 9th August, 1982, which directed that:

Where deconsolidation of consolidated wage is deemed necessary, the housing element shall be deemed to be not more than 15 per cent of the prevailing wage for the particular groups covered.

The claimants' demand in this dispute is that consolidated wages as at 1st January, 1983, should remain and the percentage increases agreed should be added on to them and after that the workers should get 15 per cent of those consolidated wages as house allowance.

Regrettably, this cannot be so at the question of deconsolidation was finalized with the 1982 agreement when a new minimum rate was set separating house allowance as a negotiable item for the future. This point was fully explained in Cause No. 106 of 1984 and during subsequent parties appearance before the court.

Under the circumstances, the court finds that the claimants' demand in this dispute must fail and the parties should abide by the court award in Cause No. 106 of 1984 and the subsequent interpretation.

CAUSE No. 116 OF 1985

Issue in dispute:

Dissimal of J. O. Aywa, S. M. Dimbidi, Z. M. Mambo and W. O. Nyasio.

THE Kenya Engineering Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the Werrot and Company Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

Claimants:

Z. M. Mambo.

Respondents:

J. Maithya.

Harjinder Kumar.

AWARD

3. The Minister for Labour referred this dispute to the court in accordance with section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act, on 4th October 1985.

The respondents are a limited company situated in Athi River and Nairobi Industrial Area and employ a total of 50 employees. They are engaged in making diesel generators for the government.

The claimants told the court that:

James Osodo Aywa.—Was employed by the respondents around 9th June, 1980, as a spray painter at a salary of KSh. 709 per month plus house allowance of KSh. 110 per month. The claimants stressed in court that they did not agree with the dismissal of their member for gross misconduct as no reasons were specified surrounding the alleged gross misconduct.

Solomon Muvayo Dimbidi.—The claimants told the court that Mr. Dimbidi was employed on 20th September, 1979, as a general labourer and was dismissed on 26th April, 1983. At the time of dismissal he was earning KSh. 560 per month plus a house allowance of KSh. 110 per month. The claimants protested in court that they did not accept the reason given by the respondents for the dismissal which was that he had refused to accept the warning letter served on him by the management.

The claimants added that the procedure for issuing warning letters was not followed as per the registered collective agreement No. 176 of 1983, which was prevailing at the time of his dismissal. The claimants cited the clause dealing with the warning letters which stated that when an employee is served with a warning letter, a copy of the said warning letter should be given to the shopsteward and the union, and in this case it was not done.

Zablon Mambo.—The claimants told the court that Zablon Mambo was employed on 3rd August, 1976, and at the time of his dismissal on 24th February, 1983, he was earning KSh. 468 per month. The claimants told the court that the dismissal of their member on alleged fraud that he produced a hotel accommodation receipt reflecting higher amount than what he actually paid was not proved and requested the court to reject the reason given by the respondents.

William Oyim Nyasio.—The claimants told the court that Mr. Nyasio was employed in 1976 as a welder/fitter grade III and at the time of dismissal, he was earning a salary of KSh. 724.80 plus a house allowance of KSh. 110 per month. The cause of dismissal of Mr. Nyasio was similar to that of Mr. Mambo. It was again alleged by the respondents that he produced hotel accommodation receipts reflecting higher amounts than what he had actually paid. The claimants went ahead and told the court that the grounds used by the respondents to dismiss their members were nothing more than witch hunting and also added that the provisions dealing with the disciplinary and warning procedure were not followed as specified in the aforesaid collective agreement.

The claimants told the court that they were willing to settle this matter outside the court but the respondents were recalcitrant and they had no alternative but to report a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour. The claimants stated that Mrs. A. W. Taabu was appointed the investigator by the Ministry of Labour and the findings and the recommendations were in favour of the claimants and they rejected them because the compensation recommended was only for two months' salary for each of the grievants. The claimants concluded their submissions by asking the court to award unconditional reinstatement of their members together with maximum compensation and order that they should all be paid for the period they have been out of employment.

The respondents submitted in court very strongly to support the action they took to dismiss the four employees and had the following to say on each employee.

James Osodo Aywa.—The respondents told the court that Mr. Aywa was dismissed because of gross misconduct on 30th March, 1983. He was instructed by his supervisor to paint a pannel which was urgently required to be installed at Nyeri in Nyayo ward which His Excellency the President was to visit within a period of two weeks but he refused to carry out the work and instead he did other duties. The respondents added that the reason for the dismissal was communicated to him and to the claimants. At the time of his dismissal he had six written warnings of which three were still valid.

Solomon Dimbidi.—The respondents told the court that Mr. Dimbidi was employed in September, 1979, as a general labourer and he proved to be intelligent and was taken to assist in the stores. The respondents further told the court that the circumstances which led to his dismissal were that he left his place of work and went to the counter and engaged in idle talk and also on several occasions he had ignored to order the spare parts or had refused to take the spare parts out of the stores. The respondents informed the court that at the time he was dismissed, he had refused to place an order for a cutter which was urgently required by them, and when given a written warning, he rudely threw the letter at the manager.

Zablon Mambo.—The respondents informed the court that the circumstances which led to Mr. Mambo's dismissal were that having been on safari, he produced hotel accommodation receipts reflecting amounts which were higher than what he had actually paid, and this was regarded by them as fraud. The respondents added that one of the employees who had gone on safari together with him to Nyeri had confessed before the management that KSh. 50 as shown on the receipt produced by Mr. Mambo was an inflated figure and the right amount should have been KSh. 30.

William Oyim Nyasio.—The respondents told the court that Mr. Nyasio had been issued with five warning letters of which three were still valid at the time of his dismissal.

The circumstances leading to Mr. Nyasio's dismissal were similar to that of Mr. Mambo in that he produced hotel accommodation receipts reflecting amounts which were higher than what he had actually paid and this was regarded by the respondents as a fraud. The respondents ended their submissions by telling the court to reject the claimants demands and to uphold the respondents' decision to dismiss the four employees in question.

The court has looked carefully into the submissions presented to court by both parties and has evaluated the evidence given by the witnesses. On the side of the respondents, the court was alarmed at the rate at which the respondents had issued the warning letters to the employees in question. The court had an impression that the general manager lacked some human approach as the court was of the opinion that the management could have used other means of cautioning employees to desist from committing minor offences rather than issue numerous warning letters; most of which were issued without following the proper procedure as laid down in the collective agreement in force at the time. The court agrees with the claimants on this point as copies of the warning letters were not given to the shopsteward or the claimants in most cases.

In case of Messrs. Aywa and Dimbidi, the court is satisfied that they had disobeyed clear instructions from their supervisor to perform certain duties. This is indeed a serious misconduct but because of the number of years they had served the respondents, the court awards Messrs. Aywa and Dimbidi normal termination instead of dismissal.

In case of Messrs. Mambo and Nyasio, the court is convinced that the investigations on re-payment for hotel accommodation carried out by the respondents were not satisfactory. The court has also taken into account the investigation by the Ministry of Labour which had ruled in favour of the claimants that the dismissals were wrongful and had recommended two months' compensation. The court has looked carefully into the allegations by the respondents that Messrs. Mambo and Nyasio had produced hotel accommodation receipts reflecting amounts higher than what they actually paid, and that KSh. 50 reflected on the receipts were inflated figures and the correct amount should have been KSh. 30 but there is no satisfactory evidence on this point. Moreover, the amount purported to have been inflated was within the limits as laid down in the collective agreement. The court finds that these two grievants have suffered a wrongful dismissal but since both of them are working elsewhere now, the question of reinstatement does not arise. The court has, however, decided to award them compensation which the court determines at three months' salary. This compensation is to be paid to them in addition to their dues under a normal termination.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

First Series Treasury Bond Due 1991

Interest payable 1st February and 1st August.

First six months' interest payable on 1st February, 1987.

COUPON OF THE ISSUES

1/1986 Two-year Treasury Bond due 1988—Coupon rate 12 per cent per annum.

1/1986 Five-year Treasury Bond due 1991—Coupon rate 13 per cent per annum.

Payable on application

PRICING OF THE ISSUES

The pricing of the issues and the effective interest rate will be determined through tender. To guide the applicants, yield tables are attached to the application forms, but investors are free to quote prices within two (2) decimal points, using the following example:

A two-year Treasury Bond Due in 1988 with a coupon of 12 per cent per annum, and a price of 98.33 will give a yield of 12.97 per cent per annum. For a price of 99.90 the yield will be 12.06 per cent per annum paid semi-annually which means the annual payment equivalent is 12.42 per cent per annum.

The five-year Treasury Bond Due in 1991, with a coupon of 13 per cent per annum at a price of 98.20 would give a yield of 13.51 per cent per annum, and for a price of 96.49 yield will be 14 per cent per annum. (This 14 per cent translates into 14.49 per cent paid annually.)

These Treasury Bonds are an investment authorized in the Republic of Kenya, by the Internal Loans Act (Cap. 420).

The proceeds of the loan will be credited to the exchequer.

The Central Bank of Kenya on behalf of the Government of the Republic of Kenya invites applications for Treasury Bonds as stated below. The bonds will be issued under the provisions of Internal Loans Act (Cap. 420) and will be registered in accordance with the terms of the Act. No notice of any trust in respect of the bonds will be entered in the register or be receivable by the Central Bank of Kenya.

Applications for tender must be for a minimum amount of KSh. 50,000 and thereafter in multiples of KSh. 50,000 and no allotment will be made for a lesser amount than KSh. 50,000 bond. The Central Bank of Kenya reserves the right to accept or reject any or all applications in part or in whole.

Interest will be payable half-yearly on 1st February, and on 1st August by interest warrants, which will be forwarded by post to the bond holder's last known address or to any other person, bank or firm named by him. Interest payments will be subject to the deduction of income tax in accordance with laws of the Republic of Kenya.

The issue will consist of two bonds. The two-year bond will be repaid at par not later than 1st August, 1988, in Nairobi, in local currency, and the five-year bond will be repaid at par not later than 1st August, 1991, in Nairobi, in local currency.

The register of holdings for each bond will be kept by the Central Bank of Kenya and the bond will be transferable in this register without charge and free of stamp duty in multiples of KSh. 50,000.
