THE INDUSTRIAL COURT
CAUSE No. 73 OF 1986*Parties:*

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and
National Museums of Kenya

Issue in dispute:

Termination of Joseph Kamanjiri's services.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as claimants and the National Museums of Kenya shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 6th May, 1987, and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions, the claimants called the grievant, Joseph Kamanjiri, to give evidence.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 7th April, 1986, duly signed by the parties, was received by the court on 10th July, 1986, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The grievant was employed by the respondents on 1st April, 1972, as a general worker. In October 1976, he was promoted to the position of a caretaker. He was stationed at Olorgesailie Prehistoric Site, upto 25th April, 1983, when he was dismissed for alleged misappropriation of the respondents' funds.

The claimants told the court that Joseph Kamanjiri was in charge of Olorgesailie Prehistoric Site of the respondents. His duties included collection and safe-keeping of the revenue collected from visitors at the site and safe-keeping of tickets.

The claimants stated that on Saturday, 9th April, 1983, the grievant received a message from home that his grandmother was seriously sick. He decided to go home at Nyeri. Although the grievant had two bank accounts with money, he could not get money as the banks were closed so he decided to use the money he had at the site. He wrote out a petty cash voucher for KSh. 409 and signed it signifying that he would refund the same at the end of the month. The following day which was a Sunday, the grievant left for Nyeri. On arrival Joseph Kamanjiri's grandmother died and was buried on 12th April, 1983. Mr. Kamanjiri reported on duty on 18th April, 1983, and found that his assistant, Francis Murage, had reported to the respondents that he Mr. Kamanjiri had taken some money from the site. The respondents sent their officers to inspect the books of accounts on the same day Mr. Kamanjiri returned to work. The inspection revealed that KSh. 639.45 was missing. Mr. Kamanjiri was suspended on 20th April, 1983, and subsequently terminated on 25th April, 1983. The claimants submitted that it was a practice with workers at the respondents' site to take money from the site revenue when an urgent need arose and to refund it at end of month. The claimants felt that their member was not guilty of misappropriation of his employer's funds as he had signed a petty cash voucher so the termination was wrongful. The claimants prayed the court for reinstatement of their member and payment of all salary to him for the time he was out of employment.

Giving evidence in court, Joseph Kamanjiri said that on Friday, 8th April, 1983, he came to Nairobi to attend a co-operative meeting on the following day, Saturday, 9th. After the meeting he went to see his sister here in Nairobi and found his young brother who had come from home with a message that their grandmother was seriously sick and wanted to see him, Joseph Kamanjiri. He stated that he tried to find money from friends but could not get any. He then went back to the site where he kept petty cash and wrote out a voucher for KSh. 409 being all the money there was and used it to go home the following day, 10th April, 1983. Mr. Kamanjiri told the court that he was due six (6) days off-duty and he needed no permission from anyone when to take them as he was in-charge at the site. He reported at the head office on 18th April, 1983, on his way back to the site. At the head office he found there was a car going to the site to check the accounts. He went with the officers who carried out the inspection and found that KSh. 639.45 were missing. Mr. Kamanjiri told the court that he did not intend to steal but had followed the practice which had been authorized by the respondents.

The respondents told the court that none of their employees including site caretaker were allowed to use revenue collected at the site without the approval of their authorized officer. Mr. Kamanjiri was aware of this rule as he had been warned against it in the past. The respondents stated that the grievant was in Nairobi on 9th April, 1983, and there was no indication that he had made any effort to inform anybody in authority that he would be absent from the site from 10th to 18th April, 1983, so he was absent without permission in the first instance.

Secondly, the respondents told the court that Mr. Kamanjiri had taken the petty cash on 9th April, 1983, and not on 10th April, 1983, as he claimed. They referred to the petty cash vouchers (produced by the claimants in their memo) dated 9th April, 1983. The respondents submitted that all what Mr. Kamanjiri had told the court was a cover-up of his misdeeds. The on-the-spot check which was carried out on 18th April, 1983, revealed that Mr. Kamanjiri could not account for KSh. 639.45. The respondents produced inspection papers showing that he actually acknowledged owing KSh. 700. The inspection was carried out in his presence. The respondents stated that Mr. Kamanjiri was accorded a heavy responsibility of running a field museum but had abused it, an act which left the respondents with no alternative but to terminate his services.

The court finds that Mr. Kamanjiri was entirely responsible for the respondents' undertaking at Olorgesailie. From the evidence before it, the court finds that Mr. Kamanjiri disappeared from the site without informing the head office and that before leaving the site he took all the money in the cash box being KSh. 409 which he used hoping to refund at the end of the month. Moreover, Mr. Kamanjiri acknowledged owing KSh. 700 to the respondents during inspection which clearly shows that he had taken another KSh. 291 without permission.

It may well be that Mr. Kamanjiri was due six (6) days off-duty but he should not have utilized them without leaving his immediate junior in-charge, instead he just went off with all the cash that was at the site.

The court finds that Mr. Kamanjiri's behaviour was irresponsible to say the least and he certainly is guilty of gross misconduct. The court rejects all the demands made by the claimants on his behalf.

Given at Nairobi on the 5th June, 1987.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 97 OF 1986

Parties:

Kenya Building, Construction, Civil Engineering and Allied Trades Workers Union
and
G. Issaias & Company (K) Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Company refusal to pay safari allowance as per clause 6 of the parties collective agreement to employees who have been moved from the company's Eldoret site to Ol-Karia site at Naivasha.

THE Kenya Building, Construction, Civil Engineering, and Allied Trades Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and G. Issaias & Company (K) Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 14th April, 1987, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 3rd June, 1986, was received by the court on 23rd September, 1986, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents are a foreign owned company and they handle heavy machinery for construction and the nature of their work forces them to move from site to site whenever they get a contract. The respondents have a collective agreement with the claimants and this dispute arose when the respondents moved from their Eldoret site to a new site at Ol-Karia at Naivasha. The respondents moved eighty-two (82) employees who chose to move with their families. The respondents are a member of the Kenya Association of Building and Civil Engineering Contractors.

The claimants told the court that the respondents failed to implement the safari allowance clause 6 in the parties collective agreement in respect of these eighty-two (82) employees. The claimants quoted the said clause 6 in court as follows:

- (i) An employee who is required to perform work away from his principal area of employment shall be entitled to be paid subsistence allowance and accommodation allowance as follows—
 - (a) for any period of duty exceeding six (6) hours, KSh. 15;
 - (b) for any such period of duty exceeding twelve (12) hours, KSh. 35.
 - (c) for any overnight stops in Nairobi and Mombasa an employee shall be entitled in addition to subsistence allowance payable under proviso (b) to accommodation allowance of KSh. 60;
 - (d) for an overnight stop elsewhere, an employee shall be entitled in addition to subsistence allowance payable under proviso (b) to accommodation allowance of KSh. 50;
 - (e) for overnight stop when the employer provides accommodation, KSh. 35.
- (ii) The subsistence and accommodation allowances under subparagraph (i) of this paragraph shall cease to be payable to an employee after thirty (30) consecutive days of absence on duty from his principal area of employment and thereafter an agreement in respect of additional subsistence allowance shall be negotiated between the employer and the employees.

The claimants submitted that as far as they were concerned Eldoret site was the principal area of employment and operation, and, therefore, the workers were entitled to be paid safari allowance for twenty-nine (29) consecutive days when they were at Ol-Karia at Naivasha away from Eldoret. The claimants told the court that the respondents only paid the workers safari allowance when they stopped overnight at Naivasha on their way to Ol-Karia; and that once workers had arrived at Ol-Karia the respondents stopped paying them. The claimants informed the court that on arrival at Karia the respondents provided the workers with accommodation as per clause 6 (i) of the parties collective agreement refused to pay them subsistence allowance as per clause 6 (i) and that the workers were not told the reason why they not being paid their subsistence allowance. The claimants said that in the past the respondents had been paying their workers the safari allowance as provided for in the parties collective agreement and therefore they could not see the reason why respondents had deliberately decided to stop the payment of allowance which was beneficial to the workers. The claimants made their submissions by asking the court to decide in their favor so that the workers can be paid their safari and subsistence allowances as provided in clause 6 of the parties collective agreement.

The respondent resisted very strongly claimants' demands by telling the court that the allowances provided for under the parties collective agreement clause 6 above are meant for an employee or a group of employees who are required by the employer to work at a place away from their principal area of operation and to return after doing the work required to be done. The respondents informed court that what had really happened was that they had completed the project at Eldoret by 30th December, 1985 that mobilization of the equipment and personnel did commence until 1st July, 1984, and the process of movement took 3½ months to get settled at a new site at Ol-Karia. The respondents continued that the reason why they had to move from Eldoret and never to return was that they had secured a new contract at Ol-Karia and they were to stay there until the project was completed and therefore, the reason given by the claimants that the workers were to return to Eldoret was completely wrong. The respondents pleaded that their nature of work makes them to move from place-to-place whenever they get a new contract and therefore it was a normal transfer of workers from Eldoret to Ol-Karia, and that they had assisted the workers with transport plus the families of workers who had chosen to move with them to Ol-Karia. The respondents argued that the claimants' demand was outside the scope of the provision of the aforesaid clause 6. They added that the workers had been paid their appropriate allowances and asked the court to reject the claimants' demands in total.

The court has, carefully, considered the parties' submissions. The court noted the fact that the claimants admitted in court that they had spotted the loophole in clause 6 of the parties collective agreement and that they now intend to amend it. The court also noted the fact that the nature of work in which the respondents are involved forces them to move from place-to-place whenever they get a new contract. The court is convinced that what had happened was that the respondents moved in the normal manner from their Eldoret site having completed the project there, to embark on another project at Ol-Karia and that they were not to return to Eldoret.

The court cannot accept the claimants' submission that Eldoret was the principal area of employment and operations of the respondents and that the workers had gone to Ol-Karia temporarily and were to return to Eldoret. The court is satisfied in the way the respondents had treated the workers on their way to Ol-Karia from Eldoret having paid them subsistence allowance for an over-night stop at Naivasha as per clause 6 (i) (d) and for having assisted the workers and their families with transport.

The court finds that the movement of the respondents from Eldoret to Ol-Karia was a normal exercise of transferring their workers to a new site and therefore the workers are not entitled to safari allowance as demanded by the claimants. The court accordingly rejects the claimants' demands.

Given on the 2nd June, 1987.
