GAZETTE NOTICE No. 3421

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 28 OF 1980

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers and Wellcome (Kenya) Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Termination of services of Mr. Simon Munyaka.

1. The Kenya Union of Commercial Food & Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Wellcome (K) Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.
2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 25th July, 27th and 28th August and 26th September, 1980 and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses to give evidence on oath:

Claimants:

S. Munyaka.

Respondent:

E. Martin.
J. W. Ogola.
A. B. Omondi.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 29th February, 1980 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 15th May, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. S. Munyaka started working for the Respondents on 18th October, 1971 as a statistical clerk and his services were terminated on 25th April, 1979 when he was told that he would be paid one month's pay in lieu of notice as his services were no longer required by the Respondents from the date of that letter. The parties are not agreed on the salary that Mr. Munyaka was earning at the time of his termination with the Claimants producing documentary evidence dated 3rd December, 1979 showing that his revised salary was K.Sh. 3,465 p.m. and the Respondents producing his pay advice for the month of March, 1979 showing his basic pay to be K.Sh. 2,610.

Mr. Munyaka was the Claimants' chief shop steward in the Respondents' undertaking and the Court is satisfied that he played a very prominent role in certain matters on behalf of the workers which resulted in their gaining substantially on their wages.

The Claimants reported a trade dispute on his behalf to the Minister for Labour and the Ministry's findings and recommendation were conveyed to the parties on 14th February, 1980 as follows:

"It was found that Mr. Munyaka attended a conciliation meeting in the Ministry of Labour when he was on sick leave and so unfit for normal office work. It is hard to determine whose interest he had in mind by doing so—his employers or fellow employees—because he had no authority from the former.

When he was asked to furnish the employers documents from the medical doctor he took time to do so despite several reminders and demands.

Mr. Munyaka was also found to have a record of lateness while reporting on duty, absenteeism and non-co-operation which dated as far back as 1973. In view of all these facts the management's gesture was lenient to Mr. Munyaka considering that they did not dismiss him.

After careful consideration of the facts contained in this report I recommend that he be paid a further two months salary as ex-gratia payment in consideration of his services on top of his terminal benefits."

The Claimants did not accept these and have brought the dispute before the Court.

The Claimants have very strongly submitted that it was the Respondents' policy to get rid of vigilant shop stewards and it was in pursuance of this policy that they had decided to victimize Mr. Munyaka for his trade union activities in pressing demands on behalf of the workers very vigorously. They maintained that there was no reason why Mr. Munyaka should have suffered a termination as during the material time he was indeed sick and had produced adequate documentary evidence to the Respondents supporting that.

The Respondents on the other hand argued that Mr. Munyaka's services were terminated because he had failed to observe rules of the work and to obey all lawful commands or instructions given to him by any person placed in authority over him and that he had committed a gross misconduct.

The facts leading to this dispute are that Mr. Munyaka asked on 23rd February, 1979 his immediate superior, Mr. Omondi, for permission, to attend a Joint Industrial Council meeting of 26th February, 1979 in the morning. It is not disputed that he attended the meeting of 26th February and also that he did not report back to work on that day. He resumed duty on 27th February and worked up to 3 p.m. and claims that again with Mr. Omondi's permission he went to see the doctor as he was not feeling well. He then resumed duty on 5th March, 1979 with him claiming that it was in the morning and the Respondents maintaining that he came in the afternoon.

It is also not disputed that on 2nd March, 1979 he delivered certain documents to the conciliator at the Ministry of Labour. This was the time when he was sick.

The Respondents have in their appendices referred to various letters which they say they wrote to Mr. Munyaka to explain his absences during the aforesaid period and maintained that he did not give any satisfactory reply until 24th April, 1979 which letter they received sometime after they had decided to terminate his services.

Mr. Munyaka while giving evidence stated that he had produced the doctor's certificate to Mr. Omondi which the latter had refused to accept and Mr. Munyaka had thereafter made a photostat copy of that certificate.

The parties have given conflicting evidence on this part of the dispute which is so very important to it. Naturally their evidence is biased towards their respective versions.

The Court, however, has seen the original of two cash receipts dated 26th and 28th February, 1979 for Sh. 40 and Sh. 35 from Dr. S. P. Amin. The Court also saw as an exhibit a certificate signed by Dr. Amin dated 28th February, 1979 saying that Mr. Munyaka was suffering from giddiness and was under his treatment from 27th February with an endorsement dated 21st July, 1980 that he was not fit to attend duty from 28th February to 2nd March, 1979. Dr. Amin has further confirmed in writing on 21st July, 1980 as follows:

"This is to certify that S. Munyaka was under treatment from 27th February, 1979 and was not fit to go to work from 28th February to 2nd March, 1979. He was suffering with giddiness".

The Court was also given an internal communication memo showing that the Respondents reimbursed Mr. Munyaka the sum of K.Sh. 75 in respect of the aforesaid two receipts. From all these documents the Court must come to the conclusion that Mr. Munyaka was indeed not well during the relevant time and that if nothing more the Respondents had documentary evidence to show that he had incurred medical expenses which they reimbursed. The Respondents, however, insisted that he should produce a doctor's certificate showing that he had been given days off. It appears, after a careful scrutiny of evidence from both sides, that Mr. Munyaka did not produce the original certificate from the doctor for reasons best known to himself. Perhaps he suspected that the Respondents might destroy it in order to give him the sack. Instead of producing the original he made a photostat which he claims he tendered to Mr. Ogola who kept on insisting that they must have the original.

Before making a decision on this point the Court would like to dispose of two points regarding Mr. Munyaka's resumption of duty on 5th March and his attending a conciliation meeting on 2nd March. The Court notes that 2nd March was a Friday and Mr. Munyaka resumed duty on 5th March. This being so the Court sees nothing sinister in his being up and about on a Friday when he subsequently resumed duty on the following Monday. The Court accepts his explanation that the documents that he was required to bring to the conciliator were rather important for that meeting. It is obvious that by Friday he had sufficiently recovered to be able to move out of his house.

On 5th March the Industrial Court was to announce an award in a dispute between the Claimants and the Respondents which award went in favour of the workers. As stated earlier in the award the Court finds that Mr. Munyaka was responsible for winning these extra wage increases for the Respondents' employees and indeed for spotting that the workers had not received their legitimate dues. The workers had claimed that they had been underpaid their 5 per cent increases. Both parties agreed that Mr. Munyaka attended the Court in the morning when the award was announced. In view of the fact that the Respondents' undertaking is at Kabete even if Mr. Munyaka did not report for duty in the morning at Kabete but came straight to the Industrial Court at 10 a.m. in order to hear the award it is not unreasonable. It is not disputed that after the Court award he went to Kabete with Mr. Ogola.

The Court has now to decide if Mr. Munyaka had refused to obey any lawful orders which the Respondents had given him regarding the medical certificate. The Court is satisfied as stated earlier that he was sick during the material time and a letter from Mr. Ogola dated 10th April, 1979 confirms that the Respondents had received a photocopy of Dr. Amin's certificate issued on 28th February, 1979. The Respondents, however, insisted that he should produce the original and he was warned that unless he produced the original drastic action would be taken against him. On 18th April he was given another last reminder and his services were terminated on 25th. The Court notes that after Mr. Munyaka was asked to explain the various absences during the material time on 12th March, 1979 no reminder was sent to him in this regard until 2nd April, 1979.

The Court cannot overlook the letter of 24th April, 1979 which Mr. Munyaka wrote to the Respondents' personnel manager in which he referred to the certificate of Dr. Amin and stated that it appeared that the Respondents did not want to honour the doctor's certificate. Mr. Munyaka also pointed out that on 26th February he had attended a meeting between the Claimants and the Federation of Kenya Employers and that on 5th March he was in office and had gone out for the Industrial Court award.

The Court cannot attach any weight to the previous history of the alleged absenteeism and lateness and disobedience which the Respondents have alleged against Mr. Munyaka because on the Respondents' own admission they had not issued him with any warnings in respect of any of these incidents. In fact the Court was very surprised to hear from one of the Respondents' witnesses that a warning letter which they had issued to Mr. Munyaka had subsequently been cancelled and all the documents relating thereto had been torn up and destroyed.

After careful consideration of all the submissions and evidence of the various witnesses the Court finds that Mr. Munyaka's role as the Claimants' chief shop steward in the Respondents' undertaking is the reason why the Respondents decided to terminate his services. At the most in view of the documentary evidence that was tendered to the Respondents in respect of his absences between 26th February and 5th March he deserved an official warning only. The Court must emphasize that Mr. Munyaka has been victimized for his trade union activities which he pursued vigorously as a chief shop steward.

The Court has carefully considered the question of his reinstatement but finds that an award of compensation to Mr. Munyaka would be appropriate under the circumstances of this dispute and the Court awards that he should be paid nine months' salary by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal that he has suffered. The Court directs that the Chief Industrial Relations Officer should investigate and establish what was his salary at the time of the termination of his services as the Claimants are claiming it to be Sh. 3,465 and the Respondents saying that it was Sh. 2,610 p.m. This compensation includes the one month's notice and the Court further directs that the Respondents should also pay 25 per cent of their contribution to the staff pension scheme to Mr. Munyaka as he has been refunded only his contributions. This is in accordance with the rules of the staff pension scheme which were produced to the Court during the hearing.

Given in Nairobi the 3rd November, 1980.
