THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 121 of 1986

Parties:
Kenya Timber and Furniture Workers Union
and
Victoria Industries Limited

Issue in dispute:

"Dismissal of William Zacharia Okore"

THE Kenya Timber and Furniture Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Victoria Industries Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 9th September, 1987, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. In addition, the respondents called the following witnesses:

H. Mediratta

J. Were

The claimants did not call any witness.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 30th July, 1986, signed by the parties was received by the court on 29th September, 1986, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The grievant was employed by the respondents on 1st April, 1978, as a machine attendant and in 1982 he was elected as a shop steward. He was summarily dismissed on 4th April, 1984, for allegedly using abusive language and trying to fight one of the company's director after a service of six (6) years.

The circumstances that led to his dismissal took place on 3rd April, 1984, after closing work at 5 p.m.

The claimants submitted that, on 4th April, 1984, the respondents employees assembled in front of the directors offices after closing work at 5 p.m. and demanded to know when they would be paid their February 1984 wages which had not been paid while March 1984 wages had already been paid. One of the directors, Mr. Meshi, came out of his office and told employees who were asking questions about their wages that they would be paid immediately the money was released by the Ministry of Labour and asked the workers to go home.

The claimants further stated that Mr. Okore, was called back by Mr. Meshi and demanded to know why Mr. Okore had assembled the employees and as the grievant tried to explain a heated argument ensued between the two, who were later joined by another director, Mr. Harish. The two directors started abusing him and calling him names. Mr. Okore ignored the insults and started to move to go home but before he went away Mr. Harish took an iron bar and advanced to hit the grievant but before he could hit him a watchman called Ali came between them and separated the two and the grievant went away.

On the following day Mr. Okore reported on duty and at around 11 a.m. he was called at the reception, where he found three policemen who arrested him and subsequently charged him with creating disturbance in a manner likely to cause a breach of the peace. He was tried and acquitted due to lack of sufficient evidence.

The claimants told the court that, after the acquittal they demanded reinstatement of the grievant but the respondents refused. The claimants then reported a trade dispute, and having gone through the usual machinery, the Ministry's findings was that the grievant's dismissal be reduced to normal termination and that he be paid all his terminal benefits. In addition, he be paid three (3) months salary by way of compensation for loss of his employment.

This recommendation was turned down by the respondents and the issue is now before the court for consideration.

The claimants in their submissions stated that Mr. Okore's employment was terminated through witchhunting and victimization by the respondents because of his role as a shop steward. They pointed out that Mr. Okore had been dismissed on three previous occasions, first in June 1982, second on 31st January, 1983, and the third time on 14th March, 1984, and on each occasion through the Ministry of Labour's intervention the grievant ended up being reinstated back to duty having been found innocent.

The claimants asked the court to award either of the following:

1. (a) "Reinstatement without loss of wages and other benefits from 4th April, 1984, to date"

- (b) "Arrears in wages and housing allowance totalling to KSh. 1,237.65 negotiated prior to his dismissal and paid to other serving employees, or alternatively—
2. (a) Maximum compensation for wrongful dismissal as the court may deem it fit.
 - (b) Terminal benefits in accordance with the parties collective agreement.
 - (c) Arrears in wages and housing allowance as computed in 1(b) hereinabove.

The respondents witnesses informed the court that, Mr. Okore had discussed the issue of February 1984 salaries with the management earlier in the day. He chose not to tell the workers what had been discussed between himself and the management and instead assembled the employees in front of the directors' offices and demanded that the directors themselves explain the position to the employees.

The directors called their personnel manager, Mr. Were, to come and explain to the workers why February 1984 salaries had not been paid after which employees agreed to leave for home leaving behind the grievant. The explanation was that because of the general strike in the timber industry the respondents had been asked by Federation of Kenya Employers to deposit employees wages for February 1984 with the Ministry of Labour and that as soon as the Ministry released the money, workers would be paid.

The respondents further stated that, one of the directors called Mr. Okore back and cautioned him against assembling workers in future but the grievant answered back very loudly that the workers wanted an explanation from the directors themselves. The director was not pleased by the manner and language used by the grievant and so the grievant was told not to report on duty the following day and that was final. Mr. Okore assumed that he had been abused and tried to fight the director by trying to hit him with an iron-bar. The watchman on duty realized the danger and got hold of the grievant and asked him to go home and he agreed to do so.

The following day 4th April, 1984, Mr. Okore was served with a dismissal letter and asked to leave the respondents' premises. He refused to comply and the police were called in, he was arrested and subsequently charged with creating disturbance in a manner likely to cause breach of the peace. He was tried and acquitted because none of the directors was summoned by the police to come and give evidence during the hearing.

After a careful scrutiny of all the facts and the evidence given by the respondents' witnesses it is evident that Mr. Okore was rather rude to one of the directors when asked why he had told all the workers to assemble at the directors' offices on a matter which had already been discussed between Mr. Okore and the respondents' personnel manager earlier on. But then unfortunately the way the director swore at himself and told Mr. Okore that he would not be allowed to continue working from the next day did not help matters. The grievant thought he had been abused and grabbed a crowbar and moved threateningly towards both the directors but was intercepted by the watchman.

Under these circumstances and considering that Mr. Okore was acquitted on the charge of creating disturbance the court has come to the conclusion that both parties were at fault. Mr. Okore did not deserve a dismissal as the workers naturally prefer the employer to address them on matters relating to their wages.

Having found Mr. Okore to have been wrongfully dismissed the court finds in view of the very serious incident between Mr. Okore and the director that reinstatement is not desirable and the court has decided to go along the Ministry of Labour's recommendation and awards that Mr. Okore's dismissal should be reduced to normal termination and that he be paid all his terminal benefits. In addition he should be paid three months salary as compensation for loss of his employment. He should also be paid all the wage and housing allowance arrears amounting to KSh. 1,237.65.

Given at Nairobi on 13th September, 1987.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 4748

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 1 OF 1987

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers

and

East African Building Society Limited

Issues in dispute:

Wages and Salaries
Housing Allowance
Leave Travelling Allowance
Termination and warning procedures
Suspension
Effective date and duration.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the East African Building Society Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 30th April and 8th September, 1987, respectively, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 22nd July and 15th September, 1986 duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 7th January together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents operate under the Building Societies Act, Chapter 489 of the laws of Kenya and have branches in Nairobi, Mombasa and Kisumu. The respondents cater for 35,000 depositors and have 93 employees out of which 88 are unionizable. The 88 employees are therefore affected by this dispute.

The parties entered into a recognition agreement on 11th July, 1985, and which became effective from 1st January, 1985. The present dispute arose from the parties attempt to negotiate their first ever collective agreement. The parties held several meetings and later the Ministry of Labour appointed a conciliator to assist them in reaching an agreement. The parties agreed on most of the issues except the ones now before the court.

Wages and salaries

The claimants demanded basic minimum wages for the newly employed employees as follows:

	Sh.
Messengers, cleaners	1,100
Drivers and head messengers	1,200
Watchmen	1,150
Chauffeurs	1,600
Clerical staff	2,600

They also demanded a general wage increases of 18 per cent and 14 per cent for the subordinate and clerical staff respectively for the first year, and another 16 per cent and 14 per cent for the second year for the two groups. The claimants told the court that, they would like the respondents workers to be offered terms and conditions of employment similar to those in other financial institutions and building societies. To achieve this objective the claimants pleaded with the court to establish a salary structure with sliding scales drawn up to 18 years where the annual increment should be Sh. 85 per month for subordinate staff and Sh. 150 per month for the clerical staff.

House allowance

The claimants told the court that, employees are currently paid housing allowance of 15 per cent of the basic minimum wage which ranges from Sh. 90 upto Sh. 150 per month. These rents are hardly enough to meet monthly rents paid by their members. They have demanded a housing allowance as follows:

Messengers, cleaners and watchmen	Sh. 400 per month
Drivers, chauffeurs and head messengers	Sh. 450 per month
Clerical staff	Sh. 850 per month

Leave travelling allowance

The claimants told the court that, currently the respondents are paying leave allowance that varies from Sh. 250 upto Sh. 1,500. They felt that this practice is discriminatory with intention to create rift and hatred among the workers. They demanded uniform leave allowance for all employees per job grading as follows:

Subordinate staff	Sh. 850
Clerical staff	Sh. 1,650

Termination and Warning Procedures

The claimants have demanded that, an employee should be given two (2) warnings in writing, with termination being effected on the third offence committed.

With regard to the notice period the claimants told the court that either party should be entitled to two months notice in writing or payment of two months salary in lieu thereof by either party.

Suspension

The claimants have demanded that before an employee is dismissed for issues that require investigation, such an employee should be suspended for 30 days and during suspension be entitled to a half salary.

In short they pleaded that the relevant clause in the banking industry should be incorporated with their collective agreement with the respondents.

Effective date and duration

The claimants would like the effective date to be 1st January, 1985 and it should remain in force for a period of two years.

Wages and salaries

The respondents submitted that, even without negotiations with the claimants, they had given their workers general wage increases for the last four years averaging at 16.5 per cent per year.

The respondents have asked the court to uphold their offer of 10 per cent and 8 per cent for the subordinate staff and clerical staff for the first year and similar increases of 10 per cent and 8 per cent for the second year. They also asked the court not to backdate the award as the workers had received salary increase effective from 1st January, 1987.

Basic minimum rates

The respondents told the court that, they have accepted to establish basic minimum rates and have proposed the following rates:

Messenger	Sh. 900
Watchmen	Sh. 1,100
Chauffeurs	Sh. 1,400
Clerical staff	Sh. 1,500

The respondents informed the court that, the claimants had withdrawn the demand on the salary structure and sliding scales of Sh. 85 and Sh. 150 drawn upto 18 years and should not be allowed to revive the issue during the hearing of the dispute.

Housing allowance

The respondents told the court that currently employees are being paid 15 per cent of the basic wages as housing allowance but are prepared to give employees a uniform rate of Sh. 200 p.m. for subordinate staff and Sh. 300 p.m. for clerical staff.

Leave travelling allowance

The respondents informed the court that, this is an area in which they have made a generous offer to the employees. They have proposed to increase the present rate of Sh. 250 to Sh. 600 and Sh. 950 for the subordinate and clerical employees respectively.

Termination and suspension

The respondents would like after completion of the probationary period either party to be able to terminate employment by giving one month's notice or one month's pay in lieu thereof. They feel that suspension clause is not necessary in this case because the respondents are a small establishment with less than 100 employees. The respondents would hate to be a party to a clause which is bound to cause unnecessary disagreements like in the banking industry.

Effective date and duration

The respondents would like the effective date to be the first day of the month following the court award.

After careful consideration of the parties submissions and after taking into account the Division of Manpower Planning and Development report the court awards as follows on each item.

Wages and salaries

The court awards a general wage increase of 11 per cent and 9 per cent each year based on individual existing salaries for the subordinate and clerical grades. The increase for the second year shall be calculated after the first year wage increase has been added to the employees' salaries. This is to be in addition to the increases the respondents have already given to their employees with effect from 1st January, 1987. The respondents knew that they were in dispute with the claimants on this issue but went ahead and granted wage increases—this they have done at their own risk.

Basic minimum rates

The court has carefully considered submissions by the parties on this item and finds the respondents offer reasonable and so the court rejects the claimants' demand and endorses the respondents' offer.

Housing allowance

The court in consideration of the evidence from the parties has found it proved that housing allowance has stagnated at the rate of 15 per cent of the basic wage for the last four years.

The court having examined the two proposals put forward by the parties has found some merit in the claimants' demand and has decided to award housing allowance as follows:

First year

Subordinate staff	Sh. 325 per month
Clerical staff	Sh. 425 per month

The existing house allowances are to be increased to these rates.

Second year

Subordinate staff	Sh. 350 per month
Clerical staff	Sh. 500 per month

Leave travelling allowance

The court has carefully considered this issue and finds that the respondents offer to the subordinate staff is reasonable and so awards.

The court further awards that the leave allowance for the clerical staff should be increased from the proposed Sh. 950 to Sh. 1,000 per employee per year.

Termination and warning procedures

The court has carefully considered this issue and rules that the parties should stick to the existing statutory provisions for the time being. They can negotiate on this item during the revision of the collective agreement when it expires.

Suspension

The claimants' demand, that before an employee is dismissed in circumstances which require investigations, employee be suspended for 30 days with half pay while investigations are concluded. The respondents rejected the idea of suspension saying that it is unnecessary in a small organization unlike the big establishments where decision making process is slow and cumbersome.

The court has carefully considered this issue and finds that the claimants' demand has some merit and so awards that there should be a suspension period of 30 days with half pay while investigations are in progress.

Effective date and duration

The court awards the effective date to be 1st May 1987, and the collective agreement should remain in force for a period of two years from that date.

Joshua Ouma Oyoo.

Simioal Koyaki.

Lenny S. Kamoyo.
Mafampashi Saire.
Kiptanue Marisi.

THE Kenya Game Hunting and Safari Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenebco Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 16th September, 1987, and they relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The dispute was referred to the court by the Minister for Labour in accordance with section 8 of the Trade Disputes Act on 27th December, 1986, together with his own and the Labour Commissioner's certificates.

The background of this dispute is that, the redundant employees were first employed by one Dr. Ramoni for his hunting safaris and photographic expeditions as far back as 1970. When the hunting was banned by the Government, Dr. Ramoni sold his business to another company called Kantino (Kenya) Limited in 1979 and the services of the employees of Dr. Ramoni were transferred to the new buyers. The new proprietors, that is Kantino (K) Limited, continued the business for a period of one year and due to inexperience and lack of good business, they decided to sell it to the respondents and the services of the said employees were transferred again to the new proprietors. The respondents had a total workforce of 36 employees and eight (8) were declared redundant.

The claimants submitted that the respondents did not follow the redundancy procedure when they declared their employees redundant. It was the respondents' duty to report to the Minister for Labour that they intended to declare some workers redundant and at the same time should have stated the reasons for doing so and then await for the Minister's approval or rejection. The respondents however bypassed the Ministry of Labour and went ahead and declared the workers redundant without the consent of the Minister for Labour.

The claimants complained bitterly in court against the respondents' behaviour in declaring the employees redundant without bothering to alert them of their intention to declare the workers redundant and also to tell them the reasons for taking such drastic actions against their members. The claimants further told the court that the respondents were financially rich and therefore they were not justified in the actions they took against the employees; and as far as they were concerned the respondents were misled by a labour consultant who was advising the management wrongly and as a result the respondents did not even sign "Form A" to facilitate this case to be referred to the court, until it was referred to the court by the Minister for Labour as empowered by law. The claimants added that the investigator appointed by the Ministry of Labour had ruled in their favour but still the respondents were not prepared to abide by that ruling. The claimants ended their submissions by asking the court to award 12 months pay by way of compensation to 8 employees who were wrongfully declared redundant by the respondents.

The respondents stated that it was unfortunate that the respondents did not have any specific agreement on the services of the employees whether they were to remain the employees of Messrs. Kantino or were to be taken over by the respondents. The respondents added it was for this reason that when it came to the time of declaring the employees redundant in June 1981, both respondents and Kantino could not agree on who was to assume responsibility.

The respondents were, however, advised by the Federation of Kenya Employers to assume the responsibility and liability in respect of the employees redundancy benefits so as to bring to an end this dispute and they have accepted this advice. The respondents ended their submissions by telling the court that they have offered as a settlement the payment of redundancy benefits on the basis of ten days pay for each completed year of service and one months pay to each employee by way of compensation for the wrongful termination in that the respondents failed to observe the redundancy procedure.

The respondents also gave the list shown below of the redundant employees showing the number of years each employee had worked for them.

Joshua Ouma Oyoo—3 years service
Joseph Ngoshosh—4 years service
Elijah Ngagaya—2 years service
David S. Letoluo—3 years service
Simioal Koyiaki—3 years service

Lenny S. Kamoyo—2 years service
Mafampashi Saire—2 years service
Kiptanue Marisi—2 years service

The court has carefully considered the parties submissions both written and verbal. It is agreed by the parties that the redundancy procedure was not followed when the respondents declared the 8 employees redundant. The respondents have offered to pay the workers some compensation as stated in their submissions.

Under these circumstances the court has to decide what would be fair compensation to award to these workers. The court has decided to award each one of them 3 months wages by way of compensation and a further one month's pay in lieu of notice to be paid to each one of the 8 employees who had been declared redundant wrongfully by the respondents.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 4750

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 21 of 1987

Parties:

Railways Workers Union (K)

and

Kenya Railways Corporation

Issue in dispute:

Wrongful and/or unjustifiable downgrading of I. P. W. Otieno—yard foreman grade RB III to grade RB IV.

THE Railways Workers Union (K) shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the Kenya Railways Corporation shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 1st September, 1987, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 24th October, 1986, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 2nd April, 1987, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The grievant Ishmael Otieno was employed by the respondents as a yard foreman and was stationed at Nakuru Railway Station when he was demoted from grade RB III to grade RB IV. The circumstances leading to his downgrading are that on 4th December, 1975, he received an up-goods train on a line which was blocked by a wagon—it is alleged this was due to Mr. Otieno's negligence.

The claimants told the court that on 4th December, 1975, Mr. Otieno was the yard foreman on duty at the upper yard side at Nakuru station.

At about 05.30 hours the up-goods train No. B.55 arrived at Nakuru station and it was received on line 14. The driver advanced his train upto the fouling mark and stopped. The train engine was then detached in order to be driven to the locoshed for checking and refuelling. To get to the locoshed the engine was to change lines. The claimants told the court that when the driver was signalled to proceed to the locoshed he, the driver, noticed wagon No. 55149 standing some 50 yards away from the advance fouling. This wagon was not on line 14. The driver sent the pointsman to call the yard foreman to confirm the position of the wagon. After consultations both the driver and the yard foreman agreed that the wagon was not fouling line No. 14 but it was standing on the line leading to locoshed. The claimants stated that in practice, when the driver finds a wagon on line 14 as claimed, he would not have moved until he was given an order authorizing him to shunt away the wagon from that line. The claimants submitted that such obstruction should have been recorded in the train guard's report on the spot but in this case it was not recorded. The claimants further stated that this incident should have been reported to the yard supervisor who was supposed to oversee the activities at the yard and make a report but the incident was not reported to him.

The claimants stated that their member Mr. Otieno was charged with "causing averted collision" between train No. B.55 and wagon No. CLB. 55149 when in fact he did not cause it. The claimants prayed the court that Mr. Otieno's grade be restored from 4th December, 1975, and order the respondents to pay him the difference in salary, salary increments and seniority for the period he was downgraded amounting in all to about Sh. 49,000.

The respondents told the court that on 4th December, 1975, the up-goods train No. B.55 was received at Nakuru station by the yard foreman—Mr. Otieno on line No. 14. This line was blocked by a wagon No. CLB. 55149. The averted accident was reported to the district traffic superintendent Nakuru who appointed a joint investigation committee which was composed of three district inspectorate staff. This investigation committee established that the yard foreman on duty who in this case was Mr. Otieno, had made an entry in the reception advice board that the up-goods train B.55 left Mbaruku station at 05.30 hours when the train had already left Lanet station at 05.28 hours giving an allowance of 8 minutes only within which to prepare for the reception of the train. The investigation committee further found that Mr. Otieno had concentrated his attention on eastern-end of the yard where he had been shunting and only assumed that line No. 14 was clear at the western-end and whereas wagon CLB 55149 was actually blocking that line. The committee also found that Mr. Otieno authorized the signalman at the eastern-end to allow the train B.55 which was waiting at the station to proceed to the yard whereby it was received on a blocked line No. 14. The respondents stated that the committee concluded that the cause of the averted accident was due to negligence of duty by the yard foreman, Mr. Otieno. Subsequently he was charged departmentally and was demoted from grade RB III to RB. IV. The respondents produced the committee report.

The respondents submitted further that Nakuru station standing orders are that before receiving a train the line must be clear for 70 feet from the fouling mark and another 300 feet beyond that. The respondents stated that the wagon was not at the gathering line as claimed by the claimants but according to the investigation committee, it was on line 14. It was sheer good luck that the driver saw this wagon and pulled up the train otherwise there would have been a collision.

After careful consideration of the parties submissions and documentary evidence before it, the court notes with great concern that there was laxity at the respondents' Nakuru station because at the time this averted accident occurred the assistant station master failed in his duties for allowing the yard foreman to give verbal instructions to the signalman. The court notes that the assistant station master was punished for this offence. At the same time, the yard supervisor whose duty was to oversee the yard foreman's activities was asleep while on duty and he was also punished. The court finds that out of the three who were found guilty of negligence of duty and punished as per the standing orders, it is the grievant, Mr. Otieno, only who has disputed the punishment.

The court can find no reason at all to go against the findings of the joint investigation committee which was composed of fairly senior officers stationed at Nakuru.

The court further notes that Mr. Otieno regained his grade—RB III in 1983 but he is now demanding the difference in salary for the period he remained demoted, about Sh. 49,000.

The court finds that there is no merit in this claim and rejects all the demands made by the claimants on behalf of Mr. Otieno.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 4751

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT CAUSE NO. 31 OF 1987

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and
Manohar Lall and Rai

Issues in dispute:

Hours of work.
Leave Travelling Allowance.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Manohar Lall and Rai shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 10th September, 1987, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 15th October, 1986, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 7th May, 1987, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents are engaged in certified public accountancy services to the general public and employ ten (10) employees out of which six (6) are unionizable.

This dispute has arisen as a result of the parties failure to reach an agreement when revising their previous collective agreement that expired on 29th February, 1986. The parties held several meetings and later the Ministry of Labour appointed a conciliator to assist the parties on reaching an agreement. The parties agreed on 27 issues leaving the 2 issues now before the court.

Hours of work

The claimants are demanding that, the present 45 working hours be reduced to 40 working hours and be spread over five days a week.

To support their case they cited 10 firms in the same business like the respondents but whose employees worked only 40 hours in a week of five days.

The respondents have rejected the claimants' demand and have insisted on the status-quo of 45 working hours either spread over five days a week or six days a week, if it is acceptable to the claimants. The respondents likewise the claimants gave example of 10 firms in the same business like theirs whose workers put in 45 hours in a week of six days.

The court has carefully considered the submissions made by the parties and finds no merit in the claimants' demand and the demand is accordingly rejected.

The court further rules that, the parties are free to decide to continue with five-day week or to change into six-day week as long as the working hours remain 45 hours.

Leave travelling allowance

On this issue the claimants are demanding that current allowance of Sh. 300 be increased to Sh. 350.

The respondents are willing to give an additional Sh. 25 and are also willing to reimburse any employee who may incur an actual travel expense above the figure of Sh. 325.

The court has carefully considered this issue and has found merit in the claimants' demand and the court accordingly awards a leave travelling allowance of Sh. 350.

Given at Nairobi on 1st October, 1987.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 4752

THE TRADE MARKS ACT

(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within sixty (60) days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on form TM. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of KSh. 50.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him an opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representation of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.
