THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 82 OF 1990

AND

CAUSE No. 98 OF 1990

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and
Metro Bottling Company Limited

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Mr. Joseph Juma Ondiff and Mr. Zacharia Ndwiga Nyaga.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial, Food and Allied Workers, shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Metro Bottling Company Limited, shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 17th and 18th January, 1991, respectively, when both these cases were consolidated. The parties relied on their written and verbal submissions and in addition the following witnesses were called to give evidence on oath.

Claimants.—J. J. Ondiff

Z. N. Nyaga

J. Osama

The respondents did not call any witness.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 16th November, 1989, was received by the court on 10th August, 1990, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The grievants were both employed by the respondents on 12th September, 1984, as general labourers. The grievants at the time of their dismissal on 9th September, 1988, were earning KSh. 1,483 plus a house allowance of KSh. 240 per month. They were both dismissed after having served the respondents for nearly four (4) years and one (1) month respectively. Prior to that they had worked for the previous owner from 1972 and 1975, respectively.

The event that led to Mr. Ondiff's dismissal occurred on 26th August, 1988. It is alleged that at the material time Mr. Ondiff being untested and unqualified driver drove a forklift without authority. It is claimed that Mr. Ondiff's action was a serious infringement of the parties collective agreement clause 5 (h).

The circumstances which led to Mr. Nyaga's dismissal happened on 15th August, 1988. It is alleged that Mr. Nyaga disobeyed lawful order issued by his immediate supervisor, which in itself was a gross misconduct.

Both the grievants have worked for the respondents since 12th September, 1984. Prior to that they had worked with the previous owners of the respondents' business since 1972 and 1975, respectively.

The court observed that both of them appeared to be responsible persons during the time they gave evidence in court and the court was impressed by their demeanour.

The third witness, Mr. Osama, who used to work for the respondents as a labour clerk but was considered as part of management gave evidence on oath on behalf of the claimants. His evidence was somewhat startling as he said that he was asked to change his original statement which he had made regarding Mr. Ondiff to suit the management purpose and that he did so. He, however, stated that Mr. Ondiff was not driving the forklift but was just sitting on it. The court notes that this witness has been sacked by the respondents because of forgery. The court has taken this fact into account and also that he may be trying to get his own back on the respondents for having dismissed him.

The respondents on the other hand did not call any witness, but chose to rely on the statements of the various witnesses. The court is in a position to make any finding on their statements because they are not on oath and have not stood the test of cross-examination.

The grievants have stood the test of cross-examination quite well and the court cannot discount their part of the story.

After careful consideration of all the submissions made by the parties and of the evidence given by the witnesses the court finds itself in agreement with the findings of the Ministry of Labour, that a reprimand or a stern warning to both grievants could have been a fairer disciplinary measure in the circumstances of this dispute.

The court finds that both the grievants have suffered a wrongful dismissal and the court awards that both of them should be reinstated to their former jobs, with effect from 1st March, 1991.

The court further awards that each of the grievants should be paid nine (9) months' salary by way of compensation for the time they were out of employment and that the services of both of them should be deemed to have continued without a break.

Dated the 30th February, 1991.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 1106

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 85 OF 1990

Parties:

Kenya Shoe and Leather Workers' Union
and Kamiti Tanners (K) Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Wrongful dismissal of nine (9) employees:

Mathew Kaisha, Manase Mudembu, Ali Omar, Simon Kigalave, Hannah Wanjiku, Wilson Mulavi, Seth Makoli, Felister Njeri and Peter Waiyaki.

THE Kenya Shoe and Leather Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kamiti Tanners (K) Ltd., shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi, on 16th and 23rd January, 1991, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. In addition the respondents called the following witnesses to give evidence on their behalf:

1. Mr. James Nagwuya.
2. Mr. Stephen Migwe.

The claimants did not call any witness.

AWARD

3. The Notification of dispute form "A" dated 13th February, 1990, and signed by the parties, was received by the court on 10th August, 1990, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The grievants were employed by the respondents in the raw material section of their undertaking between 1978 and 1987, and their employment records are as hereunder:

Name	Engagement	Basic Salary	House Allowance	Period of Service
		KSh.	KSh.	Years
Mathew Kaisha	1983	955	265	6
Manase Mudembi	1986	750	265	2
Ali Omar	1985	855	265	3
Simon Kigalave	1983	910	265	6
Hannah Wanjiku	1978	1,375	265	10
Wilson Mulavi	1985	955	265	3
Seth Makoli	1982	955	265	6
Felister Njeri	1978	1,375	265	10
Peter Waiyaki	1984	1,550	265	4

The circumstances leading to the summary dismissal of grievants Nos. 1 to 8 are that on 13th August, 1988, at 11 a.m., the Senior Production Supervisor, Mr. Peter Ndung'u, instructed them to take a break and resume duty at 3 p.m. in order to receive and treat hides/skins which were expected at the factory at the material time. The grievants did not comply with the instructions; and on 25th August, 1988, they were each served with an identical letter to show cause, on or before 27th August, 1988, why a disciplinary action should not be taken against them refusing to obey a lawful order. The grievants failed to respond thereto, and, on 31st August, 1988, their services were terminated by another identical letter to each of them.

On 1st September, 1988, in the evening, the grievants reported the matter to the claimants' shop steward who sought an audience with the respondents the following day—i.e., 2nd September, 1988—in order to discuss the matter. But before the meeting took place, the respondents summoned the police, who arrested and charged the grievants with the offence of creating a disturbance likely to cause a breach of the peace. The claimants then took up the matter with the respondents, but no settlement was reached; and, under the circumstances, they reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour. Mr. S. M. Manguye of Nairobi Labour Office, was appointed to act as an investigator. On 5th May, 1989, the chief industrial relations officer recommended to the parties that the grievants' "dismissal should be reduced to normal termination to entitle them to terminal benefits as per the parties C.B.A."

The claimants accepted the ministry's recommendation, but the respondents rejected it and the matter is now before the court for adjudication.

On careful consideration of this case, the court notes that grievants Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7 and 8 lost their jobs on 31st August, 1988, for allegedly disobeying a lawful order to resume duty on Saturday, 13th August, 1988, at 3 p.m. after a break at 11 a.m. Clause 2 of the parties' relevant collective agreement on working hours stipulates as follows:

Working Hours:

The normal working hours a week shall consist of forty-five working hours spread over five days of the week, provided that an employee who is required to work in excess of such hours shall be paid overtime for the excess hours worked.

(a) Monday to Friday.—8-1 p.m. and 2-5 p.m.

Saturday.—8-1 p.m.

(b) Overtime.—For the time worked in excess of the normal number of hours of work a week the following rates shall apply:

(i) Monday to Saturday—time worked plus a half.

(ii) Sundays and gazetted public holidays shall be paid paid for at double rate.

As is clearly stated hereinabove, the number of hours to be worked per week were fixed by the parties, and any hours worked in excess of the normal hours counted for overtime payment. The respondents' first witness, James Nagweya, who was their supervisor on duty at the material time, informed the court that, although Saturdays afternoon were treated as overtime, the 2 hours which the grievants were required to work from 3 to 5 p.m. on 13th August, 1988, did not constitute overtime because they had not completed their normal 5 hours in the morning.

The court's impression from the foregoing testimony is that the respondents have been cleverly flouting and avoiding the overtime provisions of clause 2 of the parties' agreement by shortening the employees' 5 hours of work in the morning on Saturdays and requiring them to report on duty in the afternoon with a view to completing the remaining hours. In this way, the respondents are denying their employees the benefit of overtime payments on Saturdays afternoon. If this kind of conduct by employers is not curbed and discouraged forthwith, the employees would be mercilessly exploited and their rights trampled under foot.

Under the circumstances, the court, therefore, finds that the respondents are engaged in an unfair labour practice and the grievants' disobedience of the order to resume work in the afternoon on Saturday, 13th August, 1988, was justified on the ground that the same was wholly unreasonable. The grievants' conviction for creating disturbance likely to cause a breach of the peace is not relevant to the issue before the court, and no useful purpose will be served in going into its merits or demerits.

Having come to the above conclusion, the court awards that the grievants' summary dismissal should be reduced to normal termination of service; and, in addition to the payment of their terminal benefits in terms of the parties collective agreement, they should be paid eight (8) months' salary each as compensation for wrongful dismissal.

As for grievant No. 6, Wilson Mulavi, it is on record that he was not at work when the alleged incident took place—i.e., on 13th August, 1988. In his evidence on oath, the respondents' first witness, James Nagweya, informed the court that the grievant was under arrest at the material time, and it was, therefore, a mistake to include his name in this case. The respondents' second witness also testified that the grievant was not at work on the day in question. This was confirmed by the respondents themselves in the course of their submission.

In view of the foregoing, the court awards that the grievant should be reinstated to his job which he was doing with the respondents when his services were terminated with effect from the first working day of next month. His services should be deemed to have continued without a break as far as wage increments seniority, etc., are concerned. The court further awards that the grievant should be paid six (6) months' salary by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal that he has suffered. The offence for which he was allegedly arrested is not connected with this dispute.

The last grievant, Peter G. Waiyaki, was summarily dismissed for being absent from duty from 16th to 23rd June, 1988, without permission. The only reason he gave for his absence to the respondents was that his wife had ran away from home after a quarrel with his mother, and he spent the time looking for her. He did not communicate with the respondents and the court does not believe him when he says that the telephones to the respondents were disconnected for non-payment. The claimants relied in their submission on clause 14 of the parties' relevant collective agreement, but the reason which the grievant gave for his absence was outside the ambit of the grounds of absence listed thereunder. The grievant's employment record was also not clean as he had one valid and relevant warning letter at the time of his summary dismissal.

In the circumstances, it is evident that the grievant's absence from duty is not vindicated by the facts on record and clause 14 above; and accordingly the court finds that the respondents' action was justified and rejects all the demands made by the claimants on behalf of the grievant.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 1107

THE TRADE MARKS ACT
(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within sixty (60) days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on form TM. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 120.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him an opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.
