In this dispute the court finds the parties' submissions agree on one fact that the grievant's termination was caused by his poor state of mind but disagree on whether this fact could lead to his termination or not and whether the proper procedure was followed.

After going through the documents tabled before it by the parties, the court notes that the respondents terminated the grievant's service while he was still undergoing treatment at Mathare Mental Hospital. The court notes that the hospital's consultant psychiatrist wrote to the respondents on 7th January, 1976, regarding the grievant a letter which reads in part:

"It would be appreciated if this patient were to be treated as having been sick during the period in question and consequently not unduly penalized for it."

The court can find no conclusive evidence which would constitute a medical certificate under staff regulation D. 7(b) which would have entitled the respondents to terminate his service on medical grounds.

Now coming to his termination on grounds of public interest, here again the respondents did not strictly comply with the relevant regulations as the grievant was entitled to have details of specific complaints against him so as to defend himself. He was also entitled to know the contents of the adverse reports against him. The respondents failed to comply with these but instead relied on the previous letters written to the grievant. This court finds it to be unprocedural.

Under the aforesaid circumstances the court finds that the grievant has suffered a wrongful dismissal and the court awards that the respondents should pay him twelve months' salary by way of compensation in addition to what he has already received.

Kingsway Radio and Refrigeration

Issue in dispute:

Recognition.

THE Amalgamated Union of Kenya Metal Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kingsway Radio and Refrigeration shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 17th June and 2nd November, 1987, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The court also had before it a report from the Division of Manpower Planning and Development on the nature of the respondents business.

AWARD

3. The dispute was referred to the court by the Minister for Labour invoking his powers under section 8 of the Trade Dispute Act, chapter 234 of the laws of Kenya.

The court has examined and evaluated the submissions by the parties and finds that since the claimants are the only trade union seeking recognition from the respondents and considering the nature of business carried out by the respondents which includes licence for running a repair workshop, among others, the court finds that the Ministry of Labour's recommendation should be upheld. The court accordingly recommendation should be upheld. The court accordingly awards that the respondents should recognize the claimants and directs that the recognition agreement be signed within two months of the date of the court award and the recognition agreement should be effective from the date of the signing of the agreement.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 18th June, 1987, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 1st July, 1987, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The court would now like to deal with certain points which have been raised by the parties during the hearing. The court would like to start with the Industrial Relations Charter on which the respondents and the interested party have relied. This charter was revised in 1980 but there are still extremely important areas on which there is no final decision as yet by the Government, C.O.T.U. and F.K.E. In appendix (b) to the revised charter there is a proposed reorganization of trade unions along industrial lines. There is also an indication of some trade unions to be deregistered but so far no decision has been taken in the matter.

The striking point is that whereas the Government, C.O.T.U. and F.K.E. have not yet finalized this very sensitive issue of reorganization, the court is being put in a position of deciding on how trade unions should be reorganized.

The court has carefully considered all aspects of this dispute but must refrain from making any ruling or award which will create a precedent that might adversely affect the policy being formulated on this particular point at the national tripartite level. The court has decided to make its award on the facts that came to light during the hearing of this dispute. These are that the claimants came into existence to represent the employees of the Kenya Power and Lighting Company Ltd. but their constitution allows them to recruit members from employees of the Kenya Power and Lighting Company Limited and other allied electrical and electronics firms. On the other hand the interested party's constitution allows them to recruit into their membership unionizable employees in the following undertakings :

- (i) Motor trade group;
  - (ii) Electrical and electronic trades;
  - (iii) Tyre manufacture and retreading group;
  - (iv) Battery manufacturing group;
  - (v) Allied industries to the metal trade and
  - (vi) The above that is (1) to (v) will include:
- (a) Transformation of electric energy, such as electrical generating, transmission, distribution apparatus; electrical appliances including household appliances; insulated wire and cable; electric lamps; communication equipment and related products including radios, T.V.s, phonographs, electric batteries, X-ray, therapeutic apparatus, electronic tubes, and refrigerators.

A comparison of the constitutions of the two trade unions shows that the interested party's constitution on membership is much wider as far as electrical and electronic trades are concerned.

It is also established that the respondents are members of the electronic employers group of F.K.E. and there is no evidence before the court to show that the employees of the other members of the group have joined the claimants.

Keeping all these points in view the court has come to the conclusion that the claimants' demand is rather premature and the court has decided to turn it down for the time being.

Issue in dispute :

Unjustifiable downgrading of Jackton O. Opolo by the D.T.S. Mombasa from clerk grade RB V to clerk grade RB VI.

THE Railways and Harbours Union (K) shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Railways Corporations shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 3rd and 4th November, 1987, respectively and relied on their written and verbal submissions. No witnesses were called by either party.

AWARD

3. The notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 31st July, 1986, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 30th March, 1987, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

After careful consideration of all the submissions the court finds that Mr. Opolo was negligent in the performance of his duties but at the same time the court is of the view that this was an inside conspiracy as the gate pass used was from a discarded book which was removed from the place where used documents and others not in use any more are placed—a member of the public could not have access to that. The culprits have not been traced as the misdelivery of goods in this case was not a one man job. Since Mr. Opolo was negligent the court feels that he has suffered enough punishment as a result of his downgrading. The court has decided to restore Mr. Opolo to his former grade with effect from 1st January, 1988, and the court so awards.

5. Gratuity.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 21st, 22nd and 23rd October, 1987, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 3rd June, 1987, duly signed by the parties, was received by the court on the same day together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The court has carefully considered the parties' submissions in arriving at its award but is constrained to point out one disturbing aspect of this dispute, this is that on 17th June, 1987, when the parties finally disagreed on the five items which are the issues in dispute in this cause, the claimants were known to be rallying their members to stage a go-slow strike from 22nd June, 1987, due to the disagreement which had been recorded. The industrial action took place as planned and this fact was not denied by the claimants. Apart from this aspect the respondents alleged that the workers went further and drained oil from machines resulting in serious damage. The claimants denied this very serious allegation saying that the machinery was damaged by the security personnel who were asked by the respondents to come and man them and because they had no knowledge how to operate the machines hence the damage. The respondents in turn denied this and held the claimants' members directly responsible. The fact, however, remains that the respondents incurred a loss of Sh. 47,672,000 due to loss of production between 22nd and 24th June, 1987. Not only this but the Government lost revenue through excise duty and sales tax on the lost production to the tune of Sh. 3,540,000 excise duty and Sh. 19,068,800 in sales tax. So the Government lost revenue of about Sh. 22.6 million. The court expects workers not to behave in a manner which would in the end only harm their own interests and indulge in acts which will cause loss to the Government as well through lost revenue.

It is an accepted fact that the respondents are amongst the top few employers in the country who lead in terms and conditions of employment of their employees. The court must also record that they have created 339 new jobs since February 1985 when they had 3,553 employees as against 3,892 by the end of March 1987. This is clearly in line with the Government policy on new job creation.

Having made the above observations the court makes the following award on the various issues:

General wages increase:

The court awards workers in scales A, B, C a wage increase of 8.5 per cent per year and those in scales D, E, F an 8 per cent wage increase per year for the duration of the collective agreement which is agreed to be two years.

House allowance:

The court awards new house allowance to be as follows in the various scales for non-housed employees.

Scale	KSh. per month
A ... ...	320
B ... ...	345
C ... ...	380
D ... ...	465
E ... ...	590
F ... ...	740

Leave allowance:

The court awards a leave allowance of Sh. 800.

Drivers allowance:

(a) Long distance mileage allowance—

The court has decided not to amend in any way the existing arrangements on this item except that the drivers will get 37 cents on outward kilometre as allowance from the effective date of the agreement.

(b) Subsistence Safari allowance—

The court again sees no reason to vary the existing arrangements except that the figure of Sh. 128 should be increased to Sh. 150 for an overnight stop.

Gratuity:

The respondents contribute to three (3) retirement benefits for their employees—N.S.S.F., provident fund and towards the gratuity scheme. The court finds no merit in the claimants' demand for further and additional retirement benefits and it is rejected.
