THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 37 OF 1980

Parties :

Domestic & Hotel Workers' Union

and

Kahuhia Girls' High School

Issue in dispute :

Violation of termination clause by terminating the services of Mr. Peterson Ndegwa Njau wrongfully.

1. The Domestic & Hotel Workers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Kahuhia Girls' High School shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 4th September and 20th, 21st and 28th November, 1980 and in addition to relying on their written and verbal submissions called the following witnesses :

Claimants—P. N. Njau

G. Nyaga.

K. Mwonga.

Respondents—E. A. Wanaswa (Mrs).

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 18th July, 1979 duly signed by the parties was received by the Court on 10th July, 1980 together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The person involved in this dispute Mr. Peterson Ndegwa Njau had 18½ years service with the Respondents and at the time his services were terminated he was an Assistant House Keeper. He was also the Claimants shopsteward.

On 11th July, 1977 he was suspended from duty with immediate effect by the Respondents Executive Committee and the Ministry of Education.

On 11th August, 1977 he was informed that the Board of Governors and the Ministry of Education had decided to terminate his services by giving him three months notice because he had engaged in activities that were not helpful in the running of the school. He was told that one month's salary had been paid in the bank and a cheque for Sh. 1,888 being the remaining two months salary was enclosed.

The Claimants took up the dispute on his behalf and reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour. The Ministry's findings and recommendation were forwarded to the parties on 26th June, 1979 in the following terms:

"Findings"

Mr. Njau had in fact removed some pages from the store ledger's book. He had admitted the charge and paid the school Sh. 108 to buy a new one. He was appropriately given a warning.

Several people interviewed during the investigation admitted that Mr. Njau usually neglected his work and no proof was produced to support the Union's contention that the management had violated the termination clause.

Recommendation

After careful consideration of the facts contained hereinabove it is recommended that the matter rests as it is since Mr. Njau's services were rightfully terminated after the management had followed the procedures laid by the termination clause."

The Claimants rejected these and during the hearing severely criticised the Investigator appointed by the Ministry alleging that he had not carried out proper investigations and had come out with a completely biased report.

The appointment of Mrs. Elen Asuko Wanaswa as the Headmistress of the school in the beginning of July, 1976 has a direct bearing on this dispute. She took over from Mrs. Evans the previous Headmistress.

It is quite obvious that the Claimants through Mr. Njau their shopsteward enjoyed cordial relations with Mrs. Asuko's predecessor as there appears to be nothing on the record to indicate anything to the contrary. If anything there are letters of appreciation and commendation addressed to Mr. Njau who enjoyed quite a good amount of freedom of action in the discharge of his duties like calling girls out of their classes during lessons to punish them for some offences committed by them and allowing some thirty-two members of the subordinate staff to eat from the kitchen.

Mrs Asuko while giving evidence stated that when she took over the school she found that it was being run in a strange way and she soon put right certain things which she found undesirable. Like completely separating the three stores, streamlining matters of discipline, setting right the order and delivery of goods which involved the respective clerks making the necessary entries in the ledgers. She also ordered all the pangas which the girls had brought from their homes and kept in their dormitories to be taken back. She also decided that she would decide on the question of punishment if the need arose.

The Court notes that apart from streamlining the administration Mrs. Asuko also brought about a radical improvement in the academic performance of the school.

The Claimants have accused her of ignoring them as a trade union and of being ignorant in the field of industrial relations. They have also alleged that Mrs. Asuko had drastically reduced the food supplies despite the increasing number of students and this had resulted in student unrest. They submitted that Mr. Njau had been victimised for the shortcomings of Mrs. Asuko which caused the riot.

From the evidence before the Court it appears that Mrs. Asuko did bring about certain changes in the quantities of the food. She herself admitted that the quantities were slightly reduced though not radically. She however maintained that the new quantities were sufficient.

The Claimants called Mr. Nyaga a cook at the school to give evidence. He said disturbances at the school started because of the reduction of food supplies by Mrs. Asuko. He said one other reason for food shortage was that the vegetable supplier and the shopkeepers were not being paid. This had eventually led to a riot by students on a Saturday and Sunday on 2nd and 3rd July 1977.

It is not disputed that there was some trouble at the school over this weekend when Mrs. Asuko had gone to Thika in connexion with some matters relating to the few blind students she had in her school. When she returned things were back to normal. Mrs. Asuko stated that her information was that the girls had gone wild because the vegetable supplier had told them that there were no vegetables because he had not been paid. But to Mrs. Asuko he had said that he could not get the vegetables. This vegetable supplier who is 80 years old gave evidence during the hearing. He confirmed that Mrs. Asuko reduced the supply of vegetables and in cross examination he stated that he used to complain about being paid in the school compound and although he did not speak to any particular girl, they could hear when he complained to the people in the kitchen.

On or about the same time in July, 1977 Mr. Njau had raised some 21 issues regarding the Claimants' members which they wanted to discuss with the Headmistress.

After careful evaluation of all the submissions and evidence given by the witnesses the Court finds that a combination of certain circumstances led to a situation which resulted in Mr. Njau's termination. These are that Mr. Njau found that his responsibilities and the free hand he enjoyed under the previous headmistress had been curtailed. He was accused of being responsible for the missing pages of a ledger for which K.Sh. 108 were deducted from his salary. He strongly objected to this. At the same time there was a reduction in the quantity of food and the vegetable supplier was complaining about non-payment for vegetables supplied. The food problem was the main reason for student unrest. The workers on their part were pressing for an answer to their twenty-one grievances.

The warnings that were given to Mr. Njau really concerned the food problem as the Respondents submitted there was total anarchy in the kitchen for which they held Mr. Njau responsible.

The Court is not quite satisfied that Mr. Njau was totally responsible for the food shortages which led to complaints from students. No doubt he adopted an attitude of just barely doing what he could under the circumstances hoping that the blame would fall on the Headmistress. He certainly did not go out of his way to arrest a deteriorating situation. The reason for this was that he was unhappy at the re-organization brought about by Mrs. Asuko particularly affecting his duties and work.

The Court notes that Mr. Njau gave detailed replies to the two warning letters he received and there is no evidence that any investigation was carried out by the Respondents to determine the exact cause of complaints giving rise to the second warning. The Respondents relied entirely on the report made by the Headmistress and no effort was made to hear Mr. Njau's version as well. The same pattern continued even when Mr. Njau was suspended and then terminated. He was not called by the Board of Governors to offer an explanation to the accusations levelled against him. After all he had served the Respondents for over 18 years and there was no direct evidence to connect him with the so called riot.

The Court is satisfied that the principles of natural justice were completely overlooked by the Respondents before they terminated the services of Mr. Njau. The Respondents erred in this.

The Respondents representative equated Mr. Njau's termination to medical practice where in order to save the patient's life the surgeons at times cut off the deceased limb. He said this is what the Respondents did in terminating Mr. Njau after the near riot in the school. In the field of industrial relations and particularly when dealing with workers employment this analogy cannot apply. Full and exhaustive inquiries should be made before a final decision is taken and an opportunity given to the person involved to offer an explanation.

After careful consideration of all the submissions and evidences the Court finds that Mr. Njau has suffered a wrongful dismissal. The Court however finds in view of the circumstances of this case that Mr. Njau does not deserve a reinstatement. The Court accordingly awards that in addition to the 3 months pay in lieu of notice which the Respondents have offered to pay him they should pay him another three months salary by way of compensation.
