GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 1307

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 3 OF 1965

Parties:—

Kenya Shoe and Leather Workers' Union (Claimant)
and

Bulleys Tanneries Limited (Respondent)

Issues in dispute:—

Protective clothing to be provided to all employees.

GENERAL BACKGROUND

1. The dispute was heard in Nairobi on 4th March 1965, and the testimony of one witness was taken, the parties relying mainly on their written and verbal submissions. The Court visited the factory at Thika and all the employees were seen at their actual jobs and the conditions under which they work. The Union demanded:—

- (a) Overalls to cover the whole body, for men.
- (b) Overcoat, to cover the whole body for women.
- (c) Gumboots and gloves.
- (d) Two pairs of such protective overalls and a bar of soap per week.

The employers rejected these demands and made a counter offer which the Union did not accept and declared deadlock. The matter then came before the Industrial Court.

MAIN SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE UNION

2. The Union states that the employers have not provided protective wear since they started business in this country. The employees are provided with a leather apron which is not enough to protect the clothes of the workers from getting dirty and wet. This leather apron also becomes very heavy after it gets wet with the result that employees find it too cumbersome to wear. The Union further contends that the other tanneries in the country do not provide aprons like the present employers but supply proper overalls made of khaki material, gumboots and gloves are also provided. The Union rejects the new garment made of plastic material which has been offered by the employers on the ground that it does not afford adequate protection.

MAIN SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE EMPLOYERS

3. The employers maintain that protective clothing can be treated as a fringe benefit.

Section 53 of the Factories Act, Cap. 514, clearly sets out in law the employer's obligations and reads as follows:—

"Where in any factory workers are employed in any process involving exposure to wet or to any injurious or offensive substance, suitable protective clothing and appliances, including where necessary suitable gloves, footwear, goggles and head covering shall be provided and maintained for the use of such workers."

The employers accept that tannery employees should be protected whilst working but state that the overalls demanded by the Union are not going to protect the workers when exposed to wet tanning materials. The employers have recently embarked on a new policy of using plastic material for aprons. The employers state that plastic is advantageous in every respect, it is light and convenient to work in and has (unlike leather) no absorbent qualities. These plastic garments (which were exhibited in Court) with rubber boots and gloves afford adequate protection to the employees. The employers submit that the Union is more concerned with getting extra clothing from the employers than with protective clothing. It is ridiculous to suggest that cloth overalls offer protection in the circumstances under which these employees work. The female employees would be hampered in their work with overcoats which again could become wet. In brief, the Union is expressing a desire for subsidized clothing. The employers have imported suitable plastic materials to replace the present leather aprons.

AWARD

4. After careful study of the conditions under which the various employees work the Court awards as follows:—

The undermentioned employees shall be provided with two pairs of overalls every year:

Carpenters,
Masons,
Painter,
Mechanics,
Boilerman—greaser.

5. All the other employees should be provided with plastic tunics but these should not be open down the sides. The Court notes that gumboots and gloves are already being provided.

All the clothing mentioned in this award shall remain the property of the employer and shall be accounted for by the employee to whom it is issued.

Given in Nairobi this 5th day of April 1965.

SAEED R. COCKAR,
President.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 1308

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 5 OF 1965

(Consolidated with Industrial Court Cause No. 6 of 1965)

Parties:—

The Kenya Distributive and Commercial Workers' Union
(Claimant)

and

Night Security Organization and International Security Services
(Respondent)

Issues in dispute:—

- (i) Wages for monthly and casual watchmen.
- (ii) Working hours—overtime.
- (iii) Annual leave.
- (iv) Sick leave.
- (v) Gratuity.
- (vi) Uniforms.

1. The parties agreed to consolidate the above two Causes and the hearing took place in Nairobi on 8th March 1965. The parties relied on their written and verbal submissions.

GENERAL BACKGROUND

2. On 22nd November 1963, a Joint Disputes Commission was appointed to hold an inquiry into a dispute between the Kenya Distributive and Commercial Workers' Union and the Night Security Organization (Mombasa). The Chairman of this Commission was Mr. J. D. Akumu. This Commission made various recommendations on wages, working hours, overtime, annual leave, sick leave and gratuity. On the question of the implementation of its recommendations the Commission stated as follows:—

"The Commission has already made its recommendations on the implementation of the new terms and conditions of service and sees no reason why they should not be implemented on 1st December 1963, providing the Union has been able to finalize negotiations with the other security companies in order to bring them up to the general level of these recommendations in the month of December 1963."

These recommendations to date remain unimplemented as the Claimant could not get the International Security Services to sign a similar agreement.

This firm subsequently signed an agreement with Mr. Kiyaka who was the former Branch Secretary of the Claimant Union in Mombasa and who signed this agreement after having been suspended from his post by the Union. The Union went on pressing for the implementation of the Joint Disputes Commission recommendations but the Respondent Company did not agree to this. On the Claimant Union threatening strike action the matter has come to the Industrial Court.

MAIN SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE UNION

3. The Union submits that at the time of the Joint Disputes Commission towards the end of 1963 there were only two Security Organizations in existence, i.e. Night Security Organization and International Security Services—Coast Security Organization was not functioning. Out of these, the International Security Services was not a member of Federation of Kenya Employers and was not bound by the findings of the Joint Disputes Commission. The Union states that when Mr. Kiyaka signed an agreement with the International Security Services he had already been suspended from the Union and was not an office bearer on 6th January 1964. The Union maintains that this agreement is not valid as it was signed by a person who was not a Union official and that its wage rates are considerably less than the Joint Disputes Commission's recommendations.

The Union demands a wage of Sh. 270 plus housing allowance, annual leave and sick leave for monthly employees. The Union points out that Harbour Guard which is owned by the Night Security Organization is paying Sh. 12 for an eight-hour shift with a fall back of Sh. 40. In Nairobi a salary of Sh. 235 is paid to watchmen with 21 days' leave. The employees at the Coast work 84 hours per week. The Union admits that due to the negative attitude of the Respondents the Union demands as tabled in Appendix "O" of their memorandum were never discussed, but asserts that the employees should get these terms and conditions as the recommendations of the Joint Disputes Commission have not been implemented up to now although they should have been as from 1st January 1964.

MAIN SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE RESPONDENT

4. The Respondents submit that no case has been made out by the Union as it failed to carry out the recommendations of the Joint Disputes Commission in that it did not secure wage rates and other benefits similar to the Joint Disputes Commission's recommendations from other security organizations at the Coast.

Coastal Security Service is in business today and was in business on 3rd December 1963. The Respondent Night Security Organization maintains that the Joint Disputes Commission imposed a condition precedent before its recommendations could be implemented in order to afford them protection against their rivals, who, by not offering realistic terms of service to their employees, were able to undercut. As the Union agreed to the bargain set down in the Commission's findings they are now committing a breach of the contract. The the recommendations of the Joint Disputes Commission. As there have been no subsequent demands or negotiations it was obvious that the Union was seeking implementation of 1963 demands. The Respondent states that the Union has not given any explanation of its failure to comply with the condition precedent. The Respondent Night Security Organization urges that the Union signed an agreement with International Security Services within five weeks of the Joint Disputes Commission's recommendations, well aware of its shortcomings in so far as the quantum is concerned and dubiety in some of the clauses. The Respondent Night Security Organization further states that if the Union is to succeed it must show that an agreement now exists and is implemented between the Union and International Security Services for the provision of terms of service comparable with the recommendations. In the absence of such an agreement no obligation can pass to the Night Security Organization. The Respondent International Security Services points out that the Union has entered into an agreement with them dated 6th January 1964, and that agreement is still binding on the Union. They claim protection of the Tripartite Agreement in so far as a wage freeze is concerned. The Respondents finally submit that the Union should also get similar terms to the Joint Disputes Commission's recommendations from Coastal Security Services before they can be implemented by the Respondents.

AWARD

5. After careful study of all the arguments advanced and documents produced by the parties hereto the Court finds that the condition precedent to implementation of the Joint Disputes Commission's recommendations was an unfair condition, if not impossible. In any case the Union was given only the month of December 1963, in which to secure agreements from the other security organizations. This they failed to do as they could not get hold of the Managing Director of the International Security Services who most of the time was not available. To perpetuate this state of affairs would be extremely harsh.

Further, the Union having failed to secure similar terms in December 1963, from other organization the parties are not bound to the recommendations of the Joint Disputes Commission. In the meantime Mr. Kiyaka who was the Branch Secretary of the Union's Coastal Branch was suspended but nevertheless proceeded to sign an agreement regulating terms and conditions of the employees with International Security Services. The Court finds that Mr. Kiyaka was not authorized to enter into any negotiations on behalf of the Union and it would have been prudent on the part of the International Security Services to confirm Mr. Kiyaka's position in the Union with the headquarters before signing the agreement. Further, the circumstances under which this agreement was signed are highly suspicious. For these reasons the Court rejects this agreement. This being the finding of the Court on this agreement it leaves both the Respondents in the same position. There is considerable doubt when the Coastal Security Services started operating and since the delay in implementation was not the fault of the Respondent the Court awards the effective date to be 1st March 1965.

The award of the Court on other items is set out herein below:—

(i) Wages (monthly).—The Court awards that wages be increased to Sh. 200 per month inclusive of house allowance.

Wages (casual).—The Court awards that casual daily-paid employees be paid at the rate of Sh. 9 per day, and it is expressly understood that these casual workers do not qualify for any annual leave or gratuities.

(ii) Working hours.—The Court awards no change in the existing hours of work (i.e. 12-hour shifts).

Overtime.—The Court awards that overtime shall be paid at the rate of time and a half, and this includes work done on the employee's normal rest day. An employee required to work on a Gazetted Public Holiday will be paid at double time.

(iii) Annual leave.—The Court awards that monthly-paid employees shall be entitled to 21 consecutive days' leave with full pay on completion of 12 months' unbroken service.

(iv) Sick leave.—The Court awards that all monthly-paid employees shall be entitled to paid sick leave up to a maximum of 30 days in any period of 12 months.

(v) Gratuity.—The Court awards that in the event of termination of service other than by resignation of the employee or arising out of gross misconduct by the employee the employee shall be entitled to:—

One week's pay for each completed year of service up to five years.

One and a half weeks' pay for each completed year of service after five years and up to and including the tenth year of service.

Two weeks' pay for each completed year of service after the tenth year of service.

(vi) Uniforms.—The Court awards the provision of two sets of uniform per employee per year on the condition that this uniform shall remain the property of the employer and shall be accounted for by the employee.

Given in Nairobi this 5th day of April 1965.
