GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 3913.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 60 OF 1966

Parties:—

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers and Achelis (Kenya) Limited

Issue in dispute:—

Gratuity.

1. The Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and Achelis (Kenya) Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The Parties were heard in Nairobi on the 22nd day of September 1966, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

GENERAL BACKGROUND

3. The Parties entered into a Recognition Agreement on 9th May 1966, whereby the Claimants were accorded the sole right of representing the interests of unionizable workers. Following the signing of the Recognition Agreement, negotiations began on wages and terms and conditions of service on 24th May 1966. During these discussions, agreement was reached on all items except the question of gratuity.

At a meeting held on 3rd June 1966, in which discussions took place on the question of Provident Fund/Gratuity Scheme, the following Minute was recorded:—

"Minute S/66/3—Provident Fund/Gratuity

The Union proposed that before the National Social Security Fund was introduced employees should be paid three weeks' pay for every completed year of service. This amount to be paid prior to their joining the National Social Security Scheme. The Company representative stated that he could not accept this as the Company was going to contribute into the National Scheme when it is introduced.

No agreement could be reached on this point."

The Parties signed the notification of dispute form to the Industrial Court on 10th August 1966, in accordance with the Trade Disputes Act 1965.

MAIN SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE CLAIMANTS

4. The Claimants stated that, the Respondents had not made any attempt to come to terms with them on this issue. They accepted that, the Respondents were required to contribute towards the National Social Security Fund, but pointed out that the Respondents lost sight of the fact that, the employees would also contribute an equal amount to that fund. The Claimants stated that, they were not asking for the introduction of the provident fund scheme, but had demanded that the introduction of a gratuity scheme which, in fact, amounted to a money present which an employer should give to an employee following faithful service. The Claimants argued that, the fact that the Respondents had no provident fund scheme in operation, made their demands for the introduction of a gratuity scheme all the more valid. Otherwise an employee having spent all his working life with the Respondents would have nothing to live on during the time he was out of work. The employer was morally obliged and duty bound to give such an employee something to depend on even if it was for a short period only.

The Claimants submitted that, the National Social Security Fund was intended to take care of an employee or his dependents on reaching a certain age or after an employee's death. It should be borne in mind that, an employee would not be entitled to any benefit under the National Social Security Fund unless he has reached the age of 50, 55 or 60. In these circumstances if an employee left the service he would have nothing to depend on during the period between the time he left the service and when he reached the age of 50. The present low wages did not allow the workers to make adequate savings. It was for these reasons that the Claimants had demanded the introduction of a gratuity scheme.

The Claimants made it clear that, they wanted the gratuity payment to be made to an employee when he left the service, but subject to the usual provisions of a qualifying period. The Claimants wanted their members to be covered for the period of service they had done prior to the introduction of the Government scheme.

The Claimants demanded the following gratuity scheme:—

- (a) That an employee who left the service of the Respondents after completing not less than five years should receive gratuity.
- (b) That such gratuity should be paid at the rate of three weeks' pay based on an employee's wage at the time of leaving for each completed year of service.

The Claimants rejected the Respondents' argument that, the bonus payment which was made to all employees at present at the rate of one month's pay every year, had no bearing on the issue in dispute and stated that, in Tanzania the Respondents paid bonus in addition to a gratuity scheme. The Claimants also drew the Court's attention to the fact that, the Respondents paid bonus to all their employees in Germany and Hong Kong where the wages and salaries were very high indeed. In these circumstances the Claimants requested the Court to make an award so that the poor workers would not be exploited unduly in Kenya.

MAIN SUBMISSIONS ON BEHALF OF THE RESPONDENTS

5. The Respondents stated that, the Industrial Court had on previous occasions drawn attention to a precedent laid down in arbitration that gratuities were correctly a matter which could become a subject of a trade dispute. The establishment of this fact did not, however, confer on the Claimants an inalienable right to expect compliance by all employers with a demand.

The Respondents submitted that, there could be only one argument for the introduction of a gratuity scheme subsequent to the establishment of contractual relations between two parties and that must be some imponderable shortcoming in the terms and conditions of service. The Respondents further stated that, in established law, a contract of service was discharged at the conclusion of each contractual period whether it was by the day, week, month or year. The law held that at the conclusion of the contractual period so long as the parties had discharged their obligations to each other, then no suit could lie from the contract.

The Respondents pointed out that, they had a Head Office in Bremen and operated branches or sister-companies in Hong Kong, Dar es Salaam, Mwanza, Kampala and Mombasa and nowhere else in the world did they make additional provision for employees and the same policy had been applied in Kenya. The Respondents submitted that, their attitude was related to the view that, current emoluments were equitable and that there was no necessity to make extra financial provision for some intangible demands which might or might not be made depending on the country of operation. In the present dispute the Respondents in arriving at the terms and conditions of service had not taken into account the need of introducing a gratuity scheme, but had made provision for an annual bonus payment equivalent to one month's pay for each employee. It followed, therefore, that were the Court to accede to the Claimants' demand for the introduction of a gratuity scheme, then equity demanded that the gratuity be not retrospective and the award should incorporate a provision that the annual bonus payment should be set aside.

The Respondents pointed out that, bonus was not a negotiable item and in the event of an award being made on this issue in all probability, the Respondents would cease paying bonus to their employees in which event the employees would be worse off than now in that, they will get only two weeks' pay for every completed year of service instead of four weeks' bonus payment for every year. In these circumstances the Respondents requested the Court not to make an award which would be detrimental to the employees.

AWARD

6. In considering a claim of this nature, the Court has to take into account factors like the broad aspects of the financial conditions of the Company, its profit-earning capacity, profits earned by it in the past, its reserves and the possibility of replenishing the reserves, the claims of capital to dividend having regard to the risk involved, in short the financial stability of the concern.

The Respondents have stressed the point that, they are paying an extremely generous bonus to their employees by way of an additional one month's pay every year, but the relevance of this point can only appear when the Court is considering the extra financial burden that would be placed on the Respondents in the event of a gratuity scheme being granted as bonus in an entirely different benefit from a gratuity. Payment of bonus is usually made on three considerations of social justice:—

- (i) Social justice in giving the workers something more when their wages fall short of living standard.
- (ii) Social justice in allowing the workers to participate in the profits of increased production, for which they were made to sweat.
- (iii) As an incentive to workers, so that they may work more and produce more and thus contribute to the society's need for production.

Gratuity, on the other hand, is a sort of retiring benefit.

The Court has very carefully considered the submissions made by the Parties and awards that the following gratuity scheme should be introduced in respect of those employees only whose monthly remuneration is less than Sh. 500:—

- (a) An employee on completion of four years' continuous service with the Respondents shall be entitled to ten days' pay for every completed year of service by way of gratuity to be based on the employee's wages at the time of the termination of his service.
- (b) An employee who is dismissed for misconduct shall not be entitled to gratuity.
- (c) The effective date for the purpose of working out the benefits under this scheme shall be 1st January 1960, i.e. an employee shall not be entitled to any gratuity for services prior to 1st January 1960.
- (d) This scheme shall cease with the implementation of the National Social Security Fund. Employees shall, however, continue to benefit under this award for services rendered up to the date of the implementation of the National Social Security Fund; for example, if an employee who started working in 1963 retires after eight years of service, then he shall be provided for the years of service up to the commencement of the National Social Security Fund on the basis of this award.

In the event of an employee's wage going up to Sh. 500, then gratuity shall be payable to him only for the years when he was earning less than Sh. 500.

In view of the limited nature of the Court's award, the Court is not prepared to set aside the present bonus payment in respect of any employee.

Given in Nairobi this 13th day of October 1966.

SAEED R. COCKAR,
President.

MOHAMED JAHAZI, M.P.,
Vice-President.

GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 3941

THE TRADE MARKS ACT

(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is hereby given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form T.M. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 50.

Notice is also hereby given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make, if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Offices, Nairobi.

Applications for registration in Part A of the Register are shown with the official number unaccompanied by any letter. Applications for Part B are distinguished by the letter B prefixed to the official number.
