THE Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Insurance Employers Group of Federation of Kenya Employers shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. This dispute was fixed for hearing on 28th May, 1990, but on this date the parties raised some interesting preliminary legal arguments which apparently touched on the substantive issue before the court. After the arguments the court ordered that the parties should appear before it on 29th May, 1990, for further directions. When the parties appeared as aforesaid, the court ruled that, in view of the fact that the legal arguments which the parties had raised clearly affected the substantive issue before it, the matter should proceed to full hearing, and the dispute was then fixed for hearing on 3rd and 4th July, 1990. On 3rd July, 1990, the parties requested for adjournment until the next day—i.e. 4th July, 1990.

The parties were finally heard in Nairobi on 4th and 30th July, 1990, and relied on their written submissions and verbal arguments.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 7th February, 1990, and signed by the parties, was received by the court on 16th February, 1990, along with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The parties to this dispute have had a recognition agreement between them, dating back to 1972, and the present dispute arose when the parties were negotiating for the review or renewal of their latest collective agreement which expired at the end of December 1988.

The parties held several meetings between themselves, and later reported the matter to the Minister for Labour who appointed a conciliator to assist them reach a settlement. The parties settled all the issues in dispute, except the annual increment and general wage increases.

The respondents are an insurance group, comprising of 15 members, out of which 10 are active members. They employ a total labour force of over 4,000 employees, who are affected by this dispute.

The parties had appeared before this court on 6th and 7th August, 1980, in Cause No. 31 of 1980 on the issue of "wage increase and salary structure," and the court delivered its award at page 3 thereof as follows:

"After careful consideration of all the submissions the court finds that it cannot accept the respondents' submission that notches do not reflect years of service, otherwise they would be meaningless as they do not represent anything if not the years of service."

The court has decided to award a new salary structure embodying a wage increase for the respondents' employees as appears hereinbelow.

All the employees who have completed one year's service by 1st January, 1980, should be slotted therein according to their years of service. In other words the workers will get an increase for compensation for cost of living and the annual increase."

The award came up for interpretation on 14th April, 1981, at page 3 thereof, the court clarified as hereunder:

"The court award is to be implemented on salary levels already in operation as at the effective date of the court award. The question of starting a new slotting exercise does not arise in this dispute."

The court would like to emphasize that the workers get an increase for cost of living and the annual increase and no more. For reasons the court upholds the respondents' interpretation of the court award."

The award, therefore, was incorporated in the subsequent parties' collective agreements, and as such became a term of the employees' conditions of service.

In February, 1989, the unionizable employees of Kenya National Assurance Co. Ltd., staged an illegal strike on the ground of non-payment of their annual salary increments, among other issues, with effect from January 1989. But, through the intervention of the Ministry of Labour, a return-to-work formula was reached, and an investigation committee was appointed to investigate the matter. The committee noted from the parties' submissions to it that the issue involved the unionizable employees of all the members of the group, and the same was under negotiation by the parties. Furthermore, the matter was also a subject for interpretation by the industrial court; and, in the circumstances, the committee recommended that the parties should wait for the court's determination.

The main question in this cause for consideration is whether the respondents refused to implement the court's award in Cause No. 31 of 1980. There is no dispute between the parties that the award was incorporated in the subsequent parties' collective agreements. The award, being a compulsory industrial agreement, therefore, because an implied term of the contracts of employment of the employees to whom it referred in the respondents' enterprises. Hence, the award caused to remain as such when the parties subsequently entered into an agreement based on it, and registered the same in accordance with part III of the Trade Dispute Act, Cap. 234, laws of Kenya.

It is, therefore, outrageously ridiculous and absurd for the claimants to come to this court, after a period of ten years, and accuse the respondents of having refused to implement the court award in the above cause and yet they have accepted in their submissions that "this award has been incorporated in all the subsequent parties' collective agreements." There was no award any more after its incorporation in the subsequent parties' collective agreements, and for the claimants to come here and argue that the respondents refused to implement the court award is a clear indication that they lacked understanding and grasp on the issue at stake; and, in the circumstances, the issue as framed and reported stands rejected.

However, a very interesting limb and intriguing aspect in this dispute is the unregistered agreement signed by the parties on the renewal or review of their 1987/88 collective agreement whereby the respondents' employees were to receive wage increases of 11 per cent for the year 1989 and a similar 11 per cent for the year 1990, or 22 per cent for the two year period, and the abolition of the notches (elongation). The claimants made vigorous submissions on this matter, maintaining that they had only agreed to the abolition of the elongation of the notches, but not the notches themselves. On the other hand, the respondents contended that, contrary to the claimants' assertion, the parties had in fact agreed to abolish the notches. They accused the claimants of backing out of the agreement.

On careful perusal of the parties aforementioned agreement and all the other annexures in this dispute, the court is convinced that the claimants representative knowingly and foolishly signed the agreement whereby he sacrificed the employees' annual wage increments for higher wages as it is apparent from the 11 per cent each year wage increases; and, on realizing the mistake and the implication of their commitment, the claimants are now back-pedalling by claiming that the notches do not reflect years of service. The whole blame lies squarely on the claimants for committing their members to such a course, after which they rushed to the court without a clearly defined issue.

The court, however, is very much concerned that the respondents' employees have not had wage increments from 1st January, 1989 to date; and there seems to be no valid reason why they should be deprived of their annual wage increments in these days of high inflation for no apparent mistake of their own. The Planning and Research Division (P.R.D.) report reveals that:

"The latest date of revision of wages was January, 1987. Since then up to 1989, the cost of living indices has gone up by 16.4 per cent of which three-quarters is 12.3 per cent. If housing allowance entitlement of a half of three-quarters, or 6.15 per cent is added to 12.3 per cent, then the applicable compensation becomes 18.45 per cent. In addition the workers are entitled to compensation for productivity increase for the period which is 2.4 per capita increase. Therefore the maximum compensation applicable becomes 20.85 per cent for the agreement period, or 10.4 per cent per annum."

On serious consideration of this matter, the court is satisfied that the respondents' employees are entitled to be compensated for the decline in their real earnings and the cost of living, and accordingly awards that all the unionizable employees in the respondents' undertakings should receive annual wage increases of 10 per cent for the year 1989—i.e. on their salaries as at 31st December, 1988, and a further 10 per cent for the year 1990 i.e. on their salaries as at 31st December, 1989, or 20 per cent for the two year period.

In conclusion, the court would like to warn the parties, particularly the claimants, to desist from using the court as a negotiating forum on matters or issues which are within their competence, and the court so refuses.

The court finally directs that the parties should immediately embark on their normal negotiations and register with the court their current collective agreement within two months from the date of this award.

Dated the 17th October, 1990.

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within sixty (60) days from the date of this Gazette, lodge notice of opposition on form TM. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 120.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him an opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration, is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.
