THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 100 OF 1990

Parties:

Railway Workers Union (K)
and
Kenya Railways Corporation

Issue in dispute:

"Wrongful and/or unjustifiable termination of services of Mr. Nicholas Buhere Ex-Assistant Storeman Grade RC. I by the Kenya Railways."

THE Railway Workers Union (K) shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Railways Corporation shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 22nd January and 5th March, 1991, respectively and the parties relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Form "A" dated 15th January, 1990, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 28th August, 1990, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The grievant was initially employed by East African Railways Corporation as a labourer on 3rd August, 1971. He subsequently, rose through the ranks to the position of Gangman, RC. 2 and Assistant Storeman Grade RC. 2 on 1st December, 1972 and 1st March, 1978, respectively. He was eventually promoted to Assistant Storeman RC. I on 1st August, 1979, and held that position until 29th June, 1988, when his services were terminated by the respondents.

The respondents alleged that the grievant was in the period between January 1984 and May 1985, responsible for fuel shortages with a value loss of KSh. 547,042.50. The respondents further alleged that between May 1985 and September 1986, the grievant again obtained from Messrs. Ideal Spares and Tools Limited materials by signing various invoices. The materials involved cost KSh. 147,471.45 and despite demands from the shop the payment has not yet been made. As a result on 29th June, 1988, the grievant's services were terminated in public interest as provided for under the provisions of Personnel Regulation G. 12 (a) and he was subsequently paid his terminal dues.

The claimants told the court that, they took up the matter with the respondents on 12th July, 1988, and no settlement was reached. The claimants then on 2nd August, 1988, reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour. Thereafter, the dispute having gone through the usual machinery the ministry's findings and recommendations were released to the parties on 14th November, 1989.

The ministry's findings were that the respondents could not claim to have been magnanimous in terminating the grievant's services in the public interest, because the gist of the matter was stealing, a matter that had been decided by a court of law and Mr. Buhere acquitted unconditionally.

The ministry recommended that the grievant be re-instated back to his former job and his services deemed continuous. The parties were to treat the period he was out of employment as leave without pay.

The recommendation was turned down by the respondents and the matter is now before the court for consideration. The claimants prayed the court to award the grievant re-instatement back to his former job without any loss of service.

The respondents felt that they treated Mr. Buhere most humanely and their action in terminating his services in public interest be upheld. They prayed the court to reject the claimants' prayers.

Both parties submitted that this dispute was of particular importance to each one of them. The court can see why—because it basically revolves around the application of Staff Regulation G. 9 (f) which reads as follows:

"An employee acquitted of a criminal charge in any court may not be dismissed or otherwise punished on any charge upon which he has been acquitted, but this does not prevent his being dismissed or otherwise punished on any other charges arising out of his conduct in the matter, unless the charges raise substantially the same issue as those on which he has been acquitted."

The claimants' fear is that if the above staff regulation is not strictly applied then the security of employment of over twenty-two thousand railway employees will be at stake. The respondents' view is that where a railway employee is acquitted on a technicality or for any other reason without the criminal court trial magistrate inquiring into the merits of the criminal charge then it would not be fair to tie the respondents' hands so that they are prevented from taking departmental action against the employee concerned.

It is not disputed that the grievant had a good record prior to the shortfall of nearly half a million shillings in fuel accounts which was discovered. This led to the grievant being charged in the criminal court—criminal case No. 1331 of 1987. The learned magistrate acquitted the accused of all charges under Sec. 210 of C.P.C. In the last two paragraphs of his judgement the learned magistrate stated:

"I have never witnessed such farce in court before. During his submission, Mr. Anassi narrated to court that Inspector Boiyo had informed him that a prosecutor was to come from Railways Police to prosecute this case. Yet the same inspector told the court that it was Inspector Mukhebi who was going to conduct this case.

It is obvious therefore that the court and the defence counsel are not getting the truth from the prosecution side. Inspector Boiyo is not telling us why he does not wish to continue with this case which he started and which he should naturally continue prosecuting. If he is unwell he should have said so. He was in my chambers this morning and never gave me any hint that he was unwell. In fact he confirmed that the hearing was to go on as scheduled. A court cannot force the prosecution to proceed with their case. It can respond to various applications as and when they arise and make decisions considering the merits of each. If for some reason the prosecution feel they are having genuine difficulties, then they can always invoke the relevant provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code. What is happening here is that the prosecution are not willing to proceed with the case or withdraw it. This is rather absurd. We can only assume they have no evidence to offer or if they do, they do not want to offer it. The accused cannot be kept in suspense for no known reasons, I do not know what else to do other than conclude that the prosecution have no other witnesses to call or evidence to offer and are closing their case which entitles the accused to an acquittal under S. 210 of C.P.O. on all charges facing them which I hereby do."

On 14th March, 1980, the respondents lifted the grievant's interdiction and reinstated him back on duty.

On 19th April, 1988, the grievant was informed that it was the respondents' intention to terminate his services in the public interest in accordance with the regulations in force. The principal grounds were the fuel shortage which caused the respondents a loss to the tune of Sh. 547,042.50 and an allegation that the grievant had received materials from Ideal Spares and Tools Limited to the value of Sh. 147,471.45 the payment for which was being demanded from the respondents. The grievant relied on his acquittal in the criminal case re: Fuel loss and denied the allegations re: Sh. 147,471.45. The respondents, however, proceeded to terminate the services of the grievant on 6th June, 1988 in the public interest.

The Ministry of Labour investigated this dispute and its findings and recommendations were as follows:

"Investigations revealed that Mr. Muhere was directly responsible for receiving and issuing of diesel and petrol in accordance with instructions in force. The corporation no doubt incurred heavy loss either through Mr. Buhere's sins of commission or omission. Investigations also revealed that Mr. E. Buhere was charged in a court of law and consequently acquitted when the prosecution side failed to pursue the matter as it were. In other words it is fitting to state that it is a grave error for management to have lost enthusiasm in a case of their own behest Mr. Buhere's innocence or guilt apart. Ironically much as the management lament of the colossal loss of revenue through Mr. Buhere and attendant loss of confidence yet in the "eyes" of the law Mr. Buhere remained innocent, save the life long stigma of being a thief. Investigations also revealed that management cannot merely claim it was magnanimous when they terminated Mr. Buhere's services on public interest, because the gist of the matter was stealing a matter that was properly handled by the police and the court, with the conclusion that, Mr. Buhere was not responsible for the allegations."

Recommendations:

"After careful consideration of both parties submissions and in the light of the findings it is recommended that, Mr. E. Buhere be re-instated back to duty with the lapse in his employment being treated as leave without pay."

The court has carefully considered the parties submissions and finds that there is no room in S.R.G. 9 (f) for any flexibility in its application. To allow the respondents to act contrary to this regulation for whatever reason would defeat the whole purpose of this staff regulation and workers would be deprived of the protection afforded to them by the regulation. The court finds that the respondents were wrong in dismissing the grievant on charges upon which he had been acquitted. The court further finds that the second ground stated in the letter terminating the services of the grievant to the public interest was not proved in court even on balance of probability.

The respondents have failed to satisfy the court that the grievant deserved to be terminated in the public interest and the grievant has therefore suffered a wrongful dismissal.

The court, however, does not find that the grievant deserves reinstatement and the court feels that an award of compensation would meet the dictates of justice.

The court awards that the respondents should reimburse the grievant his half salary when he was on interdiction i.e. if they have not already done so and also give him another twelve months' salary by way of compensation for the wrongful dismissal he has suffered. This is to be in addition to what the respondents have already given him by way of terminating his services in the public interest.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 117 OF 1990

Parties:

Kenya Engineering Workers Union
and
Kenya Engineering Industries

Issue in dispute:

"The company's failure to implement the wages clause in the parties C.B.A. between the Union and Engineering and Allied Industries Employers' Association registered by the Industrial Court under R.C.A. No. 58 of 1989 on 8th March, 1989. The agreement's effective date is 1st September, 1988 to 31st August, 1990."

THE Kenya Engineering Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Engineering Industries shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 27th February, 1991, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 17th March, 1990, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 23rd November, 1990, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents are a parastatal organization in category "C" and engage in manufacture of hardware products. They have a total labour force of 190 employees out of whom 140 are unionizable employees and this dispute affects them.

This dispute arose during the implementation of the wages clause (3) of the collective agreement between the claimants and E.A.I.E. Association of which the respondents are members which became effective on 1st September, 1988, with a duration of two (2) years expiring on 31st August, 1990.

The parties tried to settle the matter at their own level but failed. The dispute was then reported to the Minister for Labour. Thereafter, a conciliator was appointed to assist the parties in reaching a settlement. The parties after a series of conciliation meetings could not settle the matter and on 17th April, 1990, they recorded a disagreement. The dispute was then referred to the Industrial Court for consideration.

The claimants urged the court to find that the 15 per cent salary increases given to the workers on 1st September, 1988, were merit increases. The claimants went on to pray the court to award that the employees are entitled to a general wage increase of 8.8 per cent for the first year and a further 8.8 per cent for the second year respectively.

The respondents asked the court to note that merit increases are never given across the board, but only to selected deserving cases. Secondly, merit increases are not given on a flat percentage but each case is given whatever percentage it deserves. The respondents finally pointed out that the 15 per cent claimed to be merit increase by the claimants was only given to all the unionizable employees. The management staff were not given any wage increase during that period and to make matters worse the management staff have never been given a wage increase since July, 1987 due to poor business performance.

The respondents urged the court to note that the claimants demands if granted will lead to either massive redundancies or a total close-down. They prayed the court to reject the claimants demands in total.

The court has carefully considered the parties' submissions and notes that the respondents are members of the Engineering and Allied Industries Employer's Association. This association bargains collectively with the claimants regarding the terms and conditions of employment of the workers employed by the members of the association.

While the collective agreement between the claimants and the association was in the process of being revised—it was to cover the period 1st September, 1988 to 31st August, 1990—the shop stewards representing respondents' employees approached the management to discuss the job grading, salary adjustments and the general salary review. As a result of discussions between the shop stewards and the respondents all unionizable employees were granted a 15 per cent wage increase effective from 1st September, 1988.

When negotiations between the claimants and the aforesaid association were completed the parties agreed to an 8.8 per cent wage increase for each year effective from 1st September, 1988. The workers are now demanding this 17.6 per cent wage increase for the two (2) year period in addition to the 15 per cent wage increase which the respondents had already granted them with effect from 1st September, 1988. The claimants allege that this 15 per cent wage increase was a merit increase granted to all unionizable employees by the respondents.

The court is satisfied that the respondents are in a poor financial state and had an accumulated loss of Sh. 18,038,708 for the years 1987 and 1988.

The question before the court is: Can an employer in such a financial state give a merit increase of 15 per cent to all unionizable employees knowing that the collective agreement between their association and the claimants covering wage increases etc. was being negotiated?

The court has come to the conclusion that no sensible employer would do that and the court believes that the respondents' intention was to set-off the 15 per cent wage increase granted by them against the wage increase negotiated on their behalf by the association. The court finds that the 15 per cent wage increase granted to all their unionizable employees by the respondents was not a merit increase and they are therefore entitled to deduct this 15 per cent increase which they had already granted from the 17.8 per cent wage increase negotiated by the association on their behalf. The workers are entitled to only the balance of 2.8 per cent for the period 1st September, 1988 to 31st August, 1990, and they should be paid this amount forthwith and the court so awards.
