GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 3167

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 21 OF 1970

Parties:—

Egerton College Staff Association and
Board of Governors of Egerton College

Issue in dispute:—

Dismissal of Mr. Kemei.

1. The Egerton College Staff Association shall hereinafter be referred to as the Claimants and the Board of Governors of Egerton College shall hereinafter be referred to as the Respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on the 7th and 8th day of September 1970 and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. On 17th June 1970 the Minister for Labour, acting under the provisions of section 30 of the Trade Disputes Act 1965 (hereinafter referred to as the Act) referred this trade dispute to the Industrial Court for adjudication as it is subject to the first schedule of the Act which lists the essential services.

It is not denied that the Claimants, at the time they resorted to industrial action when the services of one of their members were terminated, were not registered as a trade union. Subsequently, however, during the early part of this dispute when their members resorted to go-slow action and after the reference of the dispute to the Industrial Court by the Minister, they have applied to the Registrar of Trade Unions to be registered as a trade union. Apparently this was done on 11th July but up to the date of the hearing there was no evidence to prove that they had been registered as such.

The Respondents took this as a preliminary point and submitted that the Claimants had no right to appear before the Industrial Court as a trade union. The Court carefully considered this objection but overruled it because:—

(a) The dispute had been referred to the Industrial Court by the Minister for Labour under section 30 of the Act, this dispute being in an essential service. The Minister found that the employees of the Respondents' institution had resorted to industrial action in the form of a go-slow with the result that the education of the students at this institution was being seriously disrupted. Irrespective of the fact whether the Claimants had been registered as a trade union or not he had to take appropriate action in order to bring to an end this state of affairs. After the intervention by the Ministry officials in this dispute a return-to-normal-work formula was signed whereby the Claimants resolved to call off the go-slow strike and the threatened total strike on the following conditions on 19th June 1970:—

1. There will be no victimization by either side—subject to the Board of Governors confirmation on the 29th June 1970.

2. The college administration will not attempt in any way to hinder the Egerton Staff Association from presenting its case to the Industrial Court provided it is strictly on Mr. Kemei's case.

Note.—The Principal however will be free to report the series of events to the Board of Governors on the whole situation as far as the strike is concerned.

The Principal assures the Association that both the Chairman of the Board of Governors and himself will present the possible case in favour of "no victimization".

(b) Nowhere is it stated in the Act that only a registered trade union can bring a trade dispute before the Industrial Court, and the definition of trade dispute also supports the view that an employee, or a group of employees can be involved in a trade dispute.

The fact is that the Minister found on his hands a trade dispute in an essential service and he had to take immediate steps to rectify the situation and the Court finds that the steps he took to resolve this dispute are perfectly justified, legitimate and fall within the provisions of the Act. The question of the Claimants being a registered trade union or not has no relevance at this stage. It is a separate matter and it is entirely up to the Registrar of Trade Unions, if he thinks it necessary, to take appropriate action in the matter.

The Respondents made a further submission that since they are strictly governed by the Egerton Agricultural College Act of 1955 as subsequently amended and the regulations made thereunder, the Court should direct that Mr. Kemei, if he has any grievances, should pursue his legal remedy in the High Court. The Industrial Court has on several occasions in the past drawn attention to the fact that the law as it stands now gives the worker a choice of two forums with the result that if a worker is fortunate to have the support of his fellow workers through a trade union or otherwise and an industrial dispute erupts then inevitably the matter is bound to end up before the Industrial Court. Therefore, unless the Act is amended, the Court cannot refuse to hear the dispute and order the parties to go to the High Court.

The Respondents made another submission. This was that since their governing body has been vested under section 4 (3) (d) of the Egerton Agricultural College Act with the powers of making decrees relating to the terms and conditions of service including the appointment, dismissal, salary and retiring benefits of members of their staff, the Court cannot interfere in this matter. This submission will be dealt with in due course in this award.

Coming to the facts of this dispute, the person involved, Mr. Kemei, was appointed on 2nd April 1968 to the Respondents' staff as an Assistant Finance Officer with effect from 1st December 1967 at the salary of £1,440 per annum in the scale £1,040 by £60 to £1,680. At that time the Finance Officer was one Mr. F. G. Warren who was due to leave the country in a couple of years' time.

In August 1968 the Respondents sponsored Mr. Kemei and he attended a course in personnel management at the Kenya Management Advisory and Training Centre and in January 1969 he received a letter from the Principal asking him if he would like to attend an in-service course in advanced accountancy (Certified Public Accountants Part II Course) at the Kenya Institute of Administration (KIA) to which Mr. Kemei signified his acceptance.

On 27th January 1969 a meeting was held between the Chairman of the Board of Governors, the Principal and Mr. Kemei at which the conditions under which Mr. Kemei would attend the in-service course at the KIA were discussed and agreed on. These conditions were set out and confirmed in a letter addressed to him by the Principal on 29th January 1969. There are two important paragraphs in this letter which are reproduced hereinbelow:—

(d) On your return from the K.I.A. and on successful completion of the course you will be promoted to become the College Finance Officer.

(e) During the interim period however, the College will feel free to advertise for a Finance Officer on a two-year contract. On your return and resumption of your new responsibilities as the Finance Officer the Finance Officer serving on contract will revert to a supernumerary position and in that way give you an overlap not exceeding one year depending upon your shaping as the Finance Officer.

Another important point which has a bearing on this dispute was touched in paragraph (g) in this letter as follows:—

(g) The Chairman also explained to you that it would be necessary that you be bonded to serve with the College for a minimum of three years, after the completion of the in-service training. You will realize that this is absolutely essential as you will be going to K.I.A. on full pay and that the College would not wish to train you and then for some other organization to snatch you without giving you an opportunity to render services to the College for a minimum number of years. Documents to this effect will be made available to you for scrutiny and signature before you proceed on the in-service course.

Mr. Kemei proceeded for the course at the KIA on 19th May 1969. Prior to this, however, Mr. Warren on 3rd February 1969 had prepared a paper on "Reorganization of Duties in the Finance Office". His suggestion for the reorganization of the office and duties as far as the Assistant Finance Officer was concerned, i.e. Mr. Kemei, was as follows:—

From the 1st February, he will take over my office and will be in general control of the whole office. He will also be responsible for all the staff salaries and allowances, imposts, tax, N.H.I.F. and N.S.S.F. Also, I suggest he should control the Cash Book and he will also be responsible for the general office correspondence. I also require that all correspondence and incoming files to be passed initially into his tray. He will then deal with problems as they come in and only pass files and papers to the Finance Officer if he cannot deal with these himself. My thinking behind this part of the reorganization under the Assistant Finance Officer is that, in the next few months he should feel the full impact of the work load of a Finance Officer so that he can understand all the problems with the duties and the extent of the work involved. This will provide useful experience for him for any future possible take-over.

All the new salary cards for 1969 have yet to be titled and entered with details of service, etc.

The Court has no doubt that at this stage Mr. Kemei was being groomed to take-over in due course the duties of the Finance Officer. In fact the Respondents during the hearing conceded that in Mr. Kemei they saw a person who had the necessary potential for becoming the Finance Officer in due course.

In March 1969 in accordance with paragraph (e) of the letter of 29th January 1969 referred to hereinabove, the post of Finance Controller was advertised and one Mr. Malik was engaged as a result of this advertisement. The Respondents informed the Court that when Mr. Malik was engaged he was not appointed the Finance Controller or the Finance Officer but was taken on as an accountant. Subsequently, however, in December 1969 he was appointed as the Finance Officer. At that time Mr. Kemei was attending the aforesaid course at the KIA at the Respondents' behest.

The Court finds this, to say the least, most surprising. Admittedly, contrary to expectations, Mr. Warren who was due to serve until 30th September 1969 indicated his wish to precipitate his departure by leaving the college some six months earlier and in fact left on 26th June 1969. During this period some other members of the accounts department also left the service with the result that out of a total establishment of 11, there were only seven left in service at that time.

The Court accepts the Respondents' submission that Mr. Malik was appointed in good faith as an accountant under these circumstances and that his appointment was no impediment to Mr. Kemei's promotion.

In the meantime, Mr. Kemei completed the course on 26th March 1970 and on 28th May he was notified of his success by the Principal of the KIA. It should be pointed out that Mr. Kemei was required to work at the college during his vacations from KIA and in fact worked on the following dates—8th August to early September, 4th December 1969 to early January 1970—and during these duties he was required to prepare trial balance for 1968 accounts and to wind up the College provident fund.

After Mr. Kemei had resumed his duties on a full-time basis at the College on 1st April 1970 the Chairman of the Board of Governors had a meeting with him at his Subukia home. At this meeting Mr. Kemei was informed that he would be declared redundant because the post of the College Finance Officer had been filled.

From then on the dispute started because Mr. Kemei informed the Claimants of the position and as a result they pursued a certain course of action which resulted in a series of meetings and an exchange of letters between the Claimants, the Principal and the Chairman of the Board of Governors and eventually on 7th May 1970, by which time Mr. Kemei had been served with a letter terminating his services on 22nd April, it was resolved by the Claimants that:

The letter of Mr. Kemei's termination of service Ref. SW/KEMEI of 22nd April 1970 be withdrawn and that Mr. Kemei be employed in the Egerton College establishment by 30th May 1970 as per terms of contract between Egerton College and Mr. Kemei when he left the College (Egerton) for Kenya Institute of Administration for in-service training. Failure to do this the Association shall take such action as it deems necessary.

During the discussions that ensued between the parties the Respondents informed the Claimants that they had investigated two alternative possibilities of solving Mr. Kemei's problem:

1. To employ two Finance Officer for the College.
2. To declare Mr. Kemei redundant.

The Respondents stated that the first possibility was not feasible and therefore was dropped. The second alternative was taken thus declaring Mr. Kemei redundant in accordance with the Egerton College Regulations 1970, the relevant part of this regulation reads as follows:

12. REDUNDANCY

Should it become necessary for the College to terminate the service of any employee for reasons of redundancy, then the following procedure will be followed—

(a) the selection of the redundant employees shall be determined by the College, and the principle of "last in first out" shall apply subject to such factors as experience, skill and ability which shall be taken into account in the implementation of this principle.

After further meetings and after the Respondents refused to change their decision the Claimants resolved to go on a go-slow strike effective from 15th June 1970 and gave a notice of a total strike after 21 days from 12th June 1970. On 17th June the Minister referred the dispute to the Industrial Court as stated hereinabove.

The Respondents submitted that Mr. Kemei had not unequivocally accepted their offer set out in the letter of 29th January 1969 in that he had evaded signing the necessary bond on one pretext or the other and further that they had acted within their statutory powers in terminating Mr. Kemei's services on grounds of redundancy because they had come to the conclusion after careful consideration that after having done their best for Mr. Kemei he just did not match up to the job of the Finance Officer. In elaboration of this submission the Respondents relied on the confidential reports which had been submitted to them by the KIA from time to time and on reports from the Inspector of Statutory Boards who confirmed his views in a letter dated 8th September 1970 addressed to the Respondents' Principal. The gist of their complaint against Mr. Kemei is that although he had the potential he was careless in his work and negligent as during his vacation work he had failed to prepare the trial balance, because inaccuracies were found in it, after Mr. Kemei had reported that he had balanced the account. Furthermore, although Mr. Kemei had reported that he had completed the provident fund winding up, it was found that he had not done so.

The Court has given considerable thought to these allegations but cannot accept that they were all that serious to warrant the elimination of Mr. Kemei from the college administrative staff. The fact that a student in some reports has been reported to be careless has got to be tampered with and viewed in conjunction with other remarks which are made in such reports. The Court finds that the other remarks contained in these reports are quite favourable to Mr. Kemei and that the total effect of all these reports is not at all unfavourable to him. At the most they indicate that there is room for improvement as far as he is concerned. This is not unnatural. On the other allegations it should be borne in mind that the two assignments to Mr. Kemei during his vacation work were immense and that time although on vacation the fact remains that he was primarily involved in studies. It would be different if he had been on full-time duty and had failed to perform certain work without any errors. If he had been working full-time at the College the Court has no doubt that he would have found the error in the trial balance and he would have completed the winding up of the provident fund. The Respondents should have given due consideration to the fact that whatever Mr. Kemei did during this period was after all vacation work and not work on full-time basis.

The Court is not at all satisfied with the evidence which the Respondents have produced in order to justify their compliance with the regulation on redundancy, quoted hereinabove, particularly as far as the question of experience, skill and ability are concerned. The evidence on this point falls very much short of the standard required by the Court. The Court finds that the allegations of inefficiency and carelessness against Mr. Kemei are not proved.

The Court finds that the letter dated 29th January 1969 written by the then Principal of the College to Mr. Kemei to be very clear and unambiguous. Almost all the obligations on the part of Mr. Kemei listed therein have been discharged by him with the exception of the question of bond mentioned in para. (g) but here it follows that the parties were happy to leave this matter in abeyance for sometime, because Mr. Kemei was allowed to proceed to KIA without having signed the bond. In that letter it is clearly stated "documents to this effect will be made available to you for scrutiny and signature before you proceed on the in-service course". Despite this the Respondents allowed him to pursue his studies at the KIA without signing the said bond. In these circumstances it is reasonable to assume that at some stage Mr. Kemei would be required to sign the bond but unfortunately after he had completed his course successfully he was not only not asked to sign the bond but in fact such circumstances had been created that the Respondents found themselves unable to discharge their obligations to Mr. Kemei as set out in the said letter of 29th January. The Court finds that even if Mr. Kemei did not accept this offer in writing there is sufficient evidence to prove that it was accepted by him.

In fairness to the Respondents it must be recorded that out of 11 persons in the accounts department, four left almost at the same time when Mr. Kemei was at the KIA including Mr. Warren, who left six months earlier than anticipated. In these circumstances it is not unreasonable for them to have taken steps to improve the situation. This they did by employing Mr. Malik, a man of considerable experience. Mr. Malik appears to have made himself extremely useful and created an extremely good impression during the first six months of his engagement with the result that the Respondents found themselves rethinking on the question of the successor to Mr. Warren. The Court feels that having come to an arrangement with the Assistant Finance Officer on a certain line then they should have made a serious attempt to comply with it despite their misgivings that even after the successful completion of the course at the KIA Mr. Kemei would not possess the necessary experience and qualifications to make a successful Finance Officer. Instead they proceeded to promote and confirm Mr. Malik to the post of the Finance Officer. This clearly amounts to a breach of faith, if not of contract. Here is a person on whom the Respondents have spent a considerable amount of money in making him ready for a certain post and when he is almost ready for it, he finds that the post had been filled, not for two years as he was given to understand, but permanently by another person. Furthermore, his post of Assistant Finance Officer had also been abolished.

Since Mr. Kemei has been declared redundant the principles laid down in the relevant regulation should apply. As far as the principle of "last in first out" is concerned, the Respondents are definitely in the wrong but as is stated this principle shall apply subject to such factors as experience, skill and ability. The Court has come to the conclusion that Mr. Kemei was never given the opportunity of proving his skill and ability as against that of Mr. Malik. The Respondents appeared to have judged him on the work which he did during his vacations and on his performance prior to his course at the KIA when Mr. Warren was the Finance Officer. From the little evidence that was produced and some cryptic remarks made by the Respondents' representative during the hearing, the Court is given to understand that even when Mr. Warren was there as the Finance Officer things were not running properly, as they should have, in the finance department. For this unsatisfactory state of affairs Mr. Kemei's superior officer should also share responsibility with him. But it should not be forgotten that Mr. Warren, according to his reorganization paper, was also grooming Mr. Kemei to take-over for him. Mr. Warren would not have recommended him if he was not up to the standard. Neither is there any letter or other evidence to show that Mr. Kemei was warned either verbally or in writing for any shortcomings in his work at any time during his service.

The Respondents referred to a letter which Mr. Kemei had written to the Principal on 20th May 1970 in which he had given his own version of the reasons why he had been declared redundant but the Court does not attach much importance to this letter because it is nothing more than a person giving vent to his frustrations when he finds that he has been treated so unfairly on such flimsy grounds. This is quite a natural reaction to be expected from any person under the circumstances in which Mr. Kemei found himself.

The Court has also taken due note of a letter written by the new Principal to Mr. Kemei on 3rd June 1970 in which he has congratulated the latter on his success at the Certified Public Accountants Part II Examination. The Principal has further written "this confirms my previous thoughts and confidence in your ability to succeed after the one year's training at the KIA". At this time Mr. Kemei was under three months' notice with effect from 22nd April 1970 as per the letter of termination served on him.

After giving anxious thought to all the facts and evidence the Court has come to the conclusion that the Respondents have treated Mr. Kemei most unfairly although they do not seem to have acted out of malice or any other ulterior motive and the Court accepts the Respondents' submission that they do not practice tribalism, racialism or nepotism in making appointments for the College establishment. All the facts are set out hereinabove showing how the termination of his services came about and it is easy to see how one development led to the next and how the circumstances altered with the result that when Mr. Kemei completed his studies successfully at the KIA, the Respondents found that he was surplus to their establishment. It is fair to assume then that Mr. Kemei was a victim of circumstances. The Court must, however, find the Respondents responsible for having overlooked their obligations to Mr. Kemei and they certainly cannot escape responsibility for having abolished the substantive post at which Mr. Kemei was employed by them during the time he was at the KIA. The Respondents should have allowed Mr. Kemei to continue in his substantive post as an Assistant Finance Officer for at least six months, if not longer, to see how he shaped and performed his work after having successfully completed the course at the KIA. This they did not do.

After the Court had completed the hearing, the Respondents' representative informed the Court through a letter dated 2nd October 1970 that Mr. Kemei had secured employment with the Nairobi City Council with effect from 25th August 1970, at a salary of £2,130 per annum. This fact was later confirmed by the Claimants' advocate also. The Court is surprised that it was not informed of such an important development as this during the hearing. It is difficult to understand the motive for this non-disclosure but the fact remains that the omission was serious and the Court might have been led to making an award quite unrelated to the present circumstances.

The Industrial Court has previously ruled that it has no powers to order reinstatement and since the Act has not been amended granting specific powers to this Court to order reinstatement the position stands unaltered. The Court has no hesitation in stating that in this case it would have strongly recommended Mr. Kemei's reinstatement if he had not secured another job. The position being as it is the question of reinstatement is disposed of. The Court, however, finds that he is entitled to some compensation.

The Court has come to the conclusion that if he is paid in accordance with the offer which was made by the Respondents to him on 22nd April 1970 (but which was subsequently withdrawn) then he would be adequately compensated for the unjustifiable and unfair termination of his services. This offer was as follows:—

1. Three months' notice with effect from 22nd April 1970.
2. In addition, three months' salary as an ex gratia payment.
3. Full retirement benefits in accordance with the Egerton Agricultural College Retirements Benefits Scheme.

The payments made under 1 and 2 above will be based on your current salary of £1,530 but on receiving formal notification of your having completed your course satisfactorily the basic salary will be increased to £1,830 per annum which is what you would have been paid had you taken up the duties of Finance Officer.

The Court accordingly recommends that Mr. Kemei should be paid in terms of the aforesaid offer less any amount which he might have received from the above entitlement in addition to his other dues which he had earned during his service with the Respondents.

No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 50.

Notice is also hereby given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the Registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make, if and when it is registered. The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the Registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the Registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred.
