GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 3893

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 15 OF 1986

Parties:

Kenya Engineering Works' Union

and

East African Hydraulic and Metal Industries Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Termination of services of Geophas Ochieng' Ogunde.

THE Kenya Engineering Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the East African Hydraulic and Metal Industries Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 10th March, 1986, 21st April, 1987, 11th May, 1987, and 24th June, 1987.

The parties called the following witnesses:

*Claimants:*Geophas O. Ogunde.
Absalom Ondong'.Respondents:

J. M. Ragoi.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 11th November, 1985, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 27th January, 1986, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. Ogunde was first employed by the respondents, on 6th June, 1972, as a temporary assistant accountant at a salary of KSh. 600. per month.

The claimants stated that the cause of dismissal of the grievant was a personality clash between him and one of his supervisors, who is a senior member of staff namely J. M. Ragoi. The claimants alleged that there were misunderstandings during the course of duty when the grievant unearthed some discrepancies on invoices from a supplier of hardware materials which appeared to involve Mr. Ragoi in shady deal with the supplier. This matter was reported to the management by the grievant and apparently it upset Mr. Ragoi as he felt undermined. Mr. Ragoi then waged a war against the grievant by making conditions hard for him to remain in employment.

The claimants went on to say that even after the grievant had been transferred to a sister company namely Continental Developers Limited, as site manager in charge of stores, Mr. Ragoi followed him till he found some reason to get him suspended and later dismissed him without even giving him a formal letter of termination of service. Furthermore, he was not paid what was purported to be his dues at that time. The claimants therefore demanded that he be paid for the period he has been out of employment with effect from 2nd May, 1980, to date as he has suffered wrongful dismissal.

The respondents in their submissions stated that Mr. Ogunde remained on the payroll as their employee even at the time he was seconded to Continental Developers Limited by Mr. J. Goldberger to perform specific duties there. The respondents refuted the allegations of the claimants that there had been a scandal which was uncovered by the grievant. Furthermore, the issue of the grievant having had to be questioned by the police on matters alleged to have involved other members of staff were unknown to the respondents.

The respondents further stated that the circumstances which led to the dismissal of the grievant are that it was found out by the respondents that the grievant was inciting other employees against them. As a result of this the grievant was suspended on 2nd May, 1980, and was asked to make his representations before 13th May, 1980. Mr. Ogunde did not show up again at his work place but instead went to the claimants who started chasing the issue of Ogunde's termination. Several meetings were held and it was agreed that Mr. Ogunde be paid his terminal benefits and the respondents' accountant was instructed to work out and pay the amount on 21st June, 1980. He did pay the money and Mr. Ragoi asked Mr. Ogunde and the claimants' representative to come back on 30th June, 1980. The accountant then gave the sum of Sh. 4,385.35 to Mr. Goldberger, on 30th June, 1980, who took the money to Mr. Ragoi and the money was paid out to Mr. Ogunde in the presence of Mr. Ondong'.

The respondents went on to say that after 30th June, 1980, nothing else happened until 7th May, 1981, one year after, when a letter was received from the Ministry of Labour stating that the issue was still unresolved. However, after further discussion by the parties the matter was settled and Mr. Ogunde was paid what was due to him. In the circumstances, the claimants' case has no merit and should be dismissed in total.

The court notes that Mr. Ondong' denied in court on oath that the grievant was paid Sh. 4,385.35 on 30th June, 1980, in his presence. Unfortunately for the respondents the voucher which the grievant is alleged to have signed is missing but Mr. Ragoi gave evidence to say that he paid the money to the grievant. So there is direct conflict in evidence on this point. In view of this the court has decided to disregard this piece of evidence completely.

The court must now concern itself on whether or not the grievant has suffered a wrongful dismissal. After careful consideration of all the circumstances the court finds that he has as there was absolutely no evidence to show how the grievant had hurt the enterprise by inciting other workers.

Under these circumstances the court has decided to award him two months salary by way of compensation in full and final settlement of all his claims. The grievant's salary at the time of his dismissal was Sh. 1,550 per month.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 120 OF 1986

Parties:

Railways and Harbours Union (K)

and

Kenya Railways Corporation

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Makonjo Kangu C/No. 85030 ex-locomotive driver grade RB. IV, Nakuru.

THE Kenya Railways and Harbours Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Railways Corporation shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 10th June, 1987, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 7th October, 1986, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 17th December, 1986, together with statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

Mr. Kangu was first employed in the services of the then East African Railways and Harbours administration, on 1st June, 1955, as a locomotive cleaner and subsequently translated to fireman. On 1st April, 1968, he was promoted to shunting driver grade No. NB. VB, rising to the rank of main line driver grade RB. IV with effect from 1st February, 1980.

The claimants told the court that Mr. Kangu had maintained a good record of employment and that through his good work of performance he had progressively risen from a locomotive cleaner to a main line driver grade RB. IV in which position he remained until 20th October, 1980, when he had an accident which resulted into his interdiction and thereafter dismissal on 28th March, 1984.

The claimants submitted that on 20th October, 1980, the grievant was booked and given a light engine No. 6220 to transfer from Nakuru to Nairobi. On his arrival at Kariandus station at 22.15 hours the grievant was received on the second line to await crossing another train from Gilgil. They further stated that the station master failed to alert the grievant what time the expected opposing train was to arrive or what kind of train was being crossed at the station.

The claimants stated that after the accident Mr. Kangu delay at Kariandus station awaiting to cross the other train, the grievant naturally dozed off and his engine through various mechanisms started moving ahead without his control and in the process caused a head on collision with the on-coming train, which was BO7 up passenger train from Nairobi to Kisumu.

The claimants stated, that after the accident Mr. Kangu was instantly interdicted and arrested by the Railway Police and taken to Nakuru Provincial Hospital for a medical examination with a view to establishing whether he was under the influence of alcohol. Thereafter the grievant was taken to the District Magistrate Court, Nakuru, and charged as follows:

On 20th October, 1980, at about 10.58 p.m. at Kariandus Railways station—Nakuru District of the Rift Valley Province, you unlawfully did an act which obstructed the working of 6220 which had head-on collision with engine No. 8701 the trains by failing to apply brakes of locomotive engine No. hauling BO7 up Nairobi/Kisumu passenger train.

The claimants submitted that the grievant was, however, acquitted of the charges as he was not found guilty of the offences under section 210 of the Criminal Procedure Code. The claimants went on to state that they were surprised by the respondents' action to dismiss the grievant after his acquittal by the court of law and thereby violating their own staff regulation G.9 (f) which reads as follows:

An employee acquitted of a criminal charge in any court may not be dismissed or otherwise punished on any charge upon which he has been acquitted but this does not prevent him being dismissed or otherwise punished on any other charges arising out of his conduct in the matter unless the charges raise substantially the same issues as those on which he has been acquitted.

The claimants further pointed out that the decision to dismiss the grievant was unfair and too harsh considering that the grievant had worked diligently for a period of 29 years.

The claimants finally asked the court to order the respondents to reinstate the grievant to his former position without loss of seniority and demanded that he be paid full salary from the date he was interdicted plus the necessary financial compensation for the sufferings he had endured.

The respondents in their submissions stated that on 20th October, 1980, the grievant was the locomotive driver in charge of light engine No. 6220 while at Kariandus station at 22.15 hours. The train had been received on the second line to await crossing with BO7 passenger train which was expected from Gilgil station for reception on the platform line. While waiting for the crossing, locomotive No. 6220 made an unauthorized movement forward, ran through the trailing points which had been set against the movement, passed the starter signal at danger and came into a head-on collision with the approaching passenger train. Fortunately no one was injured.

Following the accident, the Railways Police arrested the grievant and brought him before the Resident Magistrate's Court at Nakuru where he was charged on two counts as follows:

Endangering the safety of any person while under the influence of alcohol contrary to section (c) of the Kenya Railways Act No. 1 of 1978.

Unlawfully doing an act which obstructs the working of trains contrary to section 66 (1) (a) of the Kenya Railways Act No. 1 of 1978.

At the conclusion of the prosecution case on 31st July, 1981, the magistrate found that the grievant had no case to answer and he was acquitted under section 210 of the Criminal Procedure Code. Subsequent to the grievants acquittal, the respondents invoked the provisions of staff regulation G. 9 (f) and preferred departmental charges against him.

The respondents further stated that in the first statement made and recorded from the grievant on 27th October, 1980, the grievant admitted having been asleep when his locomotive started to move. In a subsequent statement recorded from him on 16th and 17th November, 1982, during the joint enquiry the grievant conceded that the locomotive started moving without his knowledge which confirms that he had dozed off.

With regard to the defence offered by the grievant that the brakes loosened themselves, the respondents pointed out that nothing was wrong with the braking system, except for the fact that the grievant was not alert to manipulate the system. The respondents pointed out that under the Kenya Railways Corporation Act (Cap. 397), the respondents are charged, inter alia, with providing efficient and economical rail and inland waterways transport services, with due regard to safety. It is emphasized in the context of this dispute that the grievant completely compromised the safety of the line and endangered the lives of passengers being conveyed on the train which came into head-on collision with his locomotive due to no other cause but his sleeping while on duty and thereby being unable to control the movement of the locomotive.

The respondents went on to say that the claimants had emphasized that the movement of the locomotive was not intentional on the part of the driver and that it is not abnormal for the brakes of a stationary locomotive to loosen and set it free to move. This claim is based on the evidence given in the resident magistrate's court by the district mechanical and electrical engineer, Nakuru and has been quoted out of context. The respondents stated this can only happen with decreasing brake power when the locomotive is left unattended on a falling gradient. On this occasion, the locomotive was standing on a light down gradient of 0.2 per cent but the grievant admitted dozing and he could not be said to have been controlling the locomotive.

The respondents concluded their submission by stating that the grievant had been tested on this class of locomotive and issued with a certificate of competency. The assertion by the claimants that he was not acquainted with this type of locomotive is, therefore, totally unfounded.

The respondents asked the court to note that employees engaged on train operations and who are found guilty of infringement of rules which if broken might result in loss of life or serious damage to equipment are invariably awarded the punishment of dismissal. As a result of the accident, the two locomotives involved in the accident were extensively damaged and remained out of service for several weeks which resulted in loss of earnings and heavy repair costs.

The respondents stated that in view of the seriousness of the offence committed by the grievant, his reinstatement would be a risk they would not be in a position to take and that the punishment awarded serves as a warning to other employees to be vigilant whilst on duty.

The respondents therefore asked the court to uphold their decision to dismiss the grievant with loss of all benefits as his record of service leaves a lot to be desired.

This dispute was investigated by the Ministry of Labour and the Ministry's finding and recommendation are as follows:

Investigation established that Mr. Kangu was all along a responsible employee save for the incident of 20th October, 1980. However, Mr. Kangu was acquitted by a court of law on charges related to this incident. This in itself does not disprove the fact that Mr. Kangu caused an accident on 20th October, 1980.

Mr. Kangu was interdicted between 20th October, 1980, and 28th March, 1984, during which time he did not receive any salary as would have been the case. His dismissal however, is hereby upheld.

After a careful consideration of both parties' submissions, it is recommended that Mr. Kangu's dismissal be upheld. He should however be paid salary for the time he remained under interdiction as per the parties collective agreement.

The court has carefully considered the parties submissions and finds that the dismissal of the grievant is fully justified as through his fault a head-on collision took place between his train and a passenger train. It is sheer good luck that there was no loss of lives but the respondents suffered financially because of the damage to the two locomotives.

The accident occurred on 20th October, 1980, and the grievant was dismissed on 30th March 1984. This is an unusually long time for a decision to be taken for which no proper explanation is available.

Under the circumstances of this dispute the court has decided that Mr. Kangu's dismissal should be upheld with loss of all benefits but because of the nearly 3½ years delay before the decision to dismiss him was taken the court awards that in addition to the half salary which he was paid during 20th October, 1980 and 30th March, 1984, the respondents should pay him another 6 months full salary and the court so awards.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 8 OF 1987

Parties:

Kenya Engineering Works' Union
and
Steel Billet Castings Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Termination of the services of Alfred M. Magambo.

THE Kenya Engineering Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Steel Billet Castings Ltd., shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 16th June, 1987, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The respondents called Kenneth Kimani, who gave evidence in court.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 11th November, 1986, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 23rd January, 1987, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Labour Commissioner and the Minister for Labour.

The grievant in this dispute is a Tanzanian citizen who was employed by the respondents in October 1979. Following the Government directive in 1981, the respondents got a work permit to employ him. It is alleged that the grievant wanted to go back to Tanzania in November 1985, before the expiry of his work permit on 26th January, 1986. The respondents paid him all his dues except his salary from 11th December, 1985 to 26th January, 1986.

The claimants told the court that the grievant, Mr. Magambo, worked for the respondents on work permit which was periodically renewed. His third work permit was to expire on 26th January, 1986. The claimants stated that on 30th November, 1985, Mr. Magambo wrote a letter to the respondents stating that his work permit was approaching expiry and he was willing to go back home. The claimants alleged that before the expiry of the permit, the respondents terminated the services of Mr. Magambo, on 11th December, 1985, and paid him his dues upto that date but refused to pay him salary from 11th December, 1985 to 26th January, 1986, when his work permit would have expired, the date he wished to leave them as stated in his letter of 30th November, 1985. The claimants further stated that their member was due 26 days leave but the respondents refused to pay him for that also. The claimants prayed the court to find that the termination was wrongful and order the respondents to pay Mr. Magambo redundancy benefits, notice pay, leave pay and maximum compensation for loss of employment and other terminal benefits.

The respondents submitted that they did not terminate the services of Mr. Magambo as claimed by the claimants. The respondents stated that Mr. Magambo wrote a resignation letter himself and saw the managing director several times requesting to be relieved as he wanted to go home in Tanzania. The respondents stated that they tried to persuade Mr. Magambo to withdraw his resignation as they needed his services but he refused. They were then forced to accept his resignation although they did not have anybody to take over his job. The respondents stated that they paid Mr. Magambo all his dues and gave him Sh. 1,600 on an ex-gratia basis which he readily collected.

Giving evidence in court, Kenneth Kimani, who is the respondents personnel and administrative officer, told the court that after receiving a letter from Mr. Magambo on 30th November, 1985, he and the director tried to persuade Mr. Magambo to withdraw his resignation but he insisted that he wanted to leave immediately. Mr. Kimani stated that he advised Mr. Magambo that he had to give a month's notice but Mr. Magambo said he had some leave which could be offset against the notice. Mr. Kimani stated that he gave Mr. Magambo one week to reconsider his decision and report back to him. In the middle of that week Mr. Magambo went back to Mr. Kimani and told him come what may, he was going. Mr. Kimani stated that although they had no suitable replacement they had to accept Mr. Magambo's resignation. Mr. Kimani stated that after calculating his terminal dues they had to recover some Sh. 2,765 from Mr. Magambo which was the loan he had taken from them. When Mr. Magambo found that he would not get much money as probably he had anticipated, he started demanding severance pay. Mr. Kimani told the court that he told Mr. Magambo severance pay was paid to employees declared redundant and he was not being declared redundant. Mr. Kimani stated that Mr. Magambo kept going to the respondents' offices and as a result, the respondents decided to pay him Sh. 1,600 ex-gratia on 23rd January, 1986. Mr. Kimani denied that the respondents terminated the services of Mr. Magambo.

After careful consideration of the submissions by the parties and the evidence before it, the court finds that the respondents were happy with Mr. Magambo right from the time he joined them and that is why the respondents renewed his work permit every year. It is evident that Mr. Magambo wrote a letter to the respondents on 30th November, 1985, expressing his willingness to go. The respondents persuaded him to change his mind but he refused and insisted he had to go immediately. He was paid his terminal dues on 11th December, 1985, which he accepted. The court finds that Mr. Magambo was not declared redundant and his demands are an after thought. The court rejects all the claimants' demands made on his behalf.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE NO. 17 OF 1987

Parties:

Kenya Quarry and Mine Workers Union
and Clayworks Limited

Issue in dispute:

Working hours for watchmen,
Leave travelling allowance,
Basic minimum wages,
Housing accommodation and house allowance,
Rates for casual labourers,
Retirement benefits,
Death of an employee,
Bonus,
Redundancy,
Milk and fat,
Wages increment.

THE Kenya Quarry and Mine Workers Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Clayworks Limited shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 13th July, 1987, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 4th December, 1986, signed by the parties was received by the court on 13th March, 1987, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The respondents are registered as a private liability company of which shareholding is as follows:

Agricultural Industrial Holding Limited 75 per cent
M. Gonella and Company 25 per cent.

The respondents manufacture building bricks and roofing tiles and currently employ a total labour force of 270 employees out of whom 238 are unionizable employees and subject of this dispute now before the court.

The present dispute arose from the parties attempt to renew their collective agreement which expired on 31st March, 1986. The parties held several meetings and later the Ministry of Labour appointed a conciliator to assist the parties on reaching an agreement. The parties agreed on most of the issues except the ones now before the court.

Working hours for watchmen:

The parties have agreed on this item.

Leave travelling allowance:

The respondents want the present rates for leave allowance of KSh. 300 for employees who hail from around Nairobi and Central provinces and KSh. 350 for employees from Nyanza Western and Coast provinces, respectively, maintained.

On the other hand the claimants told the court that transport expenses in the country have gone up recently and as such the present rates are inadequate to meet travelling expenses for a worker and his family. Therefore, they demanded that the current rates of Sh. 300 and Sh. 350 be increased to a flat rate of Sh. 900 for each and every employee.

Basic minimum wages:

The claimants would like that, the present basic minimum wages shown in table I column (a) be raised to levels shown in column (c).

Housing accommodation and house allowance:

The claimants have demanded that, either the employer provides the employees with free accommodation of two-bedroomed houses as agreed by the parties in their previous collective agreement or pay a house allowance as:

Income Bracket	Demand
(a) Sh. 400.00 to 700.00	Sh. 600.00
(b) Sh. 700.00 to 1,000.00	Sh. 800.00
(c) Over Sh. 1,000.00	Sh. 1,000.00

On the other hand, the respondents have proposed to increase the present housing allowance rates of Sh. 140, Sh. 150 and Sh. 160 respectively by Sh. 20.00 for each income bracket.

Rates for casual labourers:

The claimants would like the present rates of Sh. 30.80 be increased to Sh. 40.00 and Sh. 50.00 for the first and second year respectively. They felt that only high daily rates would discourage the respondents from the abhorrent practice of engaging casual labourers.

The respondents like the current daily rates of Sh. 30.80 maintained since they are in conformity with the current Wages (General) Order.

Retirement benefits:

The respondents would like the status-quo upheld on this issue as contained in clause 27 of the parties agreement.

On the other hand, the claimants demanded gratuity payment of 21 days pay per employee, instead of basing it on the length of service as contained in the agreement. The parties have agreed on the principle of baggage allowance.

Redundancy:

Similarly on this issue the respondents would like to have the 21 days pay for each completed year of service in the agreement upheld. The claimants would like the 21 days pay increased to 30 days pay.

On the other hand, the respondents argued that their basic minimum were substantially revised by the Wages (General) Order of 1st May, 1987, and should not be revised upwards once again. They would like the levels of basic minimum wages shown on column (b) maintained.

Death of an employee:

The parties told the court that they had agreed on Sh. 3,000 for funeral expenses. However, the claimants demanded that the employer should be made to meet the cost of transporting the body to the deceased's home.

Bonus:

The claimants demanded one month's salary at the end of each year in form of bonus. On the other hand, the respondents requested the court to uphold the provisions contained in clause 29 of the parties agreement.

Milk and fat:

The claimants told the court that this was a new clause they were introducing to help those employees working in hazardous conditions. They further told the court that other companies do provide milk and fat to employees working in similar conditions and therefore they cannot see the reason why the respondents cannot accept this request.

On the other hand, the respondents told the court that they have no employees working in hazardous conditions as alleged by the claimants and termed the claimants' demand as ridiculous and requested the court to reject it.

Wages and wage increases:

The claimants told the court that the respondents are capable of meeting their demands because they have been doing a booming business as they have not experienced any problems in marketing their products and accordingly demanded 30 per cent increase for the first year and a further 30 per cent for second year respectively.

On the other hand, the respondents told the court that the company is financially sick and therefore they are not in a position to meet the claimants' demand. The respondents further pointed out to the court that the factory machines are in a very poor condition and are to be rehabilitated at a cost of KSh. 8 million inspite of cumulative losses of some KSh. 7.9 million for the last three years and pleaded with the court to award a small token increase of 3 per cent for the first year and 3 per cent for the second year.

The court notes that the parties collective agreement which is the subject matter of revision expired on 31st March, 1986, and the claimants did press for negotiations for its revision. The court has no doubt that the respondents are operating at a loss arising from poor state of their machinery and equipment. The Department of Manpower Planning and Development investigator confirmed this and also that the accumulated loss as at April 1987, was over six million shillings.

The court has carefully considered the respondents' financial position and in view of the fact that they are labour-intensive undertaking, the court feels that it would not be in the interests of the parties to make an award which would increase the financial burden of the respondents to a point where the payment of the wages of their employees may be jeopardized. The court cannot make an award which may quite easily put the respondents in liquidation and cause a loss of over 200 jobs.

Keeping all these points in view, the court awards as follows:

Working hours for watchmen

As agreed by the parties 52 hours per week.

Leave travelling allowance, Retirement benefits, Bonus and Redundancy.

These four (4) items should remain as per the existing collective agreement between the two parties.

Basic minimum wages and Rates for casual labourers.

These two (2) items are to remain as revised by the Wages (General) Order of 1st May, 1987.

Death of an employee:

The court awards Sh. 3,000 as agreed by the parties for the funeral expenses and rejects the claimants' demand for transportation of the body to the deceased's home.

Housing accommodation and housing allowance:

The court awards increases as follows:

- (i) The present amount of Sh. 140 and Sh. 150 will be increased to Sh. 175 and Sh. 185 respectively;
- (ii) The Sh. 160 will be increased to Sh. 200 per month;

Wage and wage increases

The court has decided to award a 4½ per cent increase for the first year and a further 4½ per cent increase for the second year respectively.

Milk and fat:

The court rejects the claimants' demand.
