THE Dockworkers' Union shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the Kenya Ports Authority shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 12th and 13th January, 1988 and 8th and 9th February and 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th April, 1988, respectively. The parties relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. During the hearing the parties made very important submissions with the claimants vigorously pointing out that the workers had to forego 112 months increases on wages and housing allowance to a tune of Sh. 58.1 million in order to facilitate the amalgamation process of the two organizations. The claimants further pointed out that it would be improper as demanded by the respondents to call upon the workers to make another sacrifice by foregoing Sh. 59.9 million in terms of overtime and third shift payments irrespective of the fact that the respondents are financially capable of meeting the workers demands in this dispute. The claimants stressed that the respondents demands in this dispute are geared towards making workers forego hundreds of million shillings that the workers have been enjoying for the past 25 years. The claimants also stated that the Government had no intention of reducing the workers benefits as a result of the merger as long as the workers justified the payments of the benefits through efficiency and hard work.

The respondents submitted that the port of Mombasa has been modernized through containerization and heavy capital investments leading to a public debt of Sh. 1,998.3 million and debt servicing charges of Sh. 117.6 million as at 30th June, 1987. The respondents further submitted that their proposals in this dispute are aimed at steering the port's investments to generate a return on assets employed of at least 8.0 per cent or an average of 20 million tons per year to raise annual surplus to over Sh. 298.3 million from the present rate of 1.3 per cent or an average of 6 million tons per year. The port would then be in a position to earn revenue and realize surplus funds to be paid to the Government for onward remission to the foreign donors involved in the improvement of the port. The respondents emphasised that the claimants' demands if they are acceptable to the court would wash away the celebrated surplus of Sh. 216 million per year in less than four years time.

The respondents also informed the court that they took over a contingent liability of Sh. 80.0 million since there were no funds set aside in respect of gratuity earned by former employees of Ex-Kenya Cargo Handling Services Ltd. In addition the same employees will have to be admitted into the pension scheme which as at 30th June, 1987, had only Sh. 102.3 million instead of Sh. 241.1 million reflecting a shortfall of Sh. 139.8 million. The respondents stated that the shortfall will be raised from the employed resources, in addition to fulfilment of new projects at a cost of Sh. 171 million within the 1988/89 financial year.

The court notes that the parties were able to reach an agreement on general wage increase and housing allowance during the process of harmonization. These are usually the real major items in respect to labour cost increases. For these items the parties negotiated increases of Sh. 1,586,100 on wages and Sh. 2,148,550 on housing allowance or a total of Sh. 3,734,650 per month. These increases are effective from 1st January, 1986.

The court finds itself in an extremely difficult position in this dispute because collective agreements are supposed to be a package deal yet in this dispute two most important issues re: labour costs that is the salaries and house allowance have been agreed upon by the parties themselves and implemented. The remaining 18 items were left for the court to decide upon including the date from which they would be effective. This is most unfair considering the fact that this dispute involves a total labour force of well over 10,000 workers and above all the welfare of approximately 70,000 dependants.

The court must acknowledge that the port of Mombasa and its operations form a very important part of Kenya's economic activities. The port also serves other landlocked countries in the region. It is therefore of utmost importance that this Port should continue to function smoothly at all times.

The respondents acquired Kenya Cargo Handling Services Ltd. under Legal Notice No. 8 of 1987 which was issued in pursuance of powers conferred by section 72 (a) of the Kenya Ports Authority Act on the Minister for Transport and Communications. In paragraph 3 (1) of this Legal Notice it provides as follows:

"3 (1) Except as the Authority otherwise directs, all persons who were employees of the company on the 1st January, 1986, shall be deemed to have become employees of the Authority on terms and conditions of service to be determined by the Authority:

Provided that until the new terms and conditions of service are determined by the Authority the employees transferred from the company shall retain their terms and conditions of service."

It is obvious that the former employees of the Kenya Cargo Handling Services Ltd. retained their conditions of service until the new terms and conditions of service are determined by the Authority.

The court is of the considered view that the working arrangements at the port of Mombasa should not be disturbed because of the very sensitive nature of its operations which are so vital for the economic well-being of the country and the region as whole. The court notes that after the amalgamation of the respondents and the Kenya Cargo Handling Services Ltd. the former functions of the latter have now been acquired by the respondents who are a parastatal.

The court cannot also overlook that the current terms and conditions of service which are being enjoyed by the dock-workers have been won for them by their trade union, who are the claimants, over the years dating back to nearly 40 years through various commissions of inquiries, arbitration awards and since independence, through the Industrial Court awards.

The court must record that the port users are required to pay double rates to the respondents for any work done by the dockworkers on Saturdays and Sundays and further that not all of these double charges levied on the ship owners are given to the workers by way of overtime. At present the respondents even after paying overtime on Saturdays and Sundays to the dockworkers are left with about 75 per cent of the charges so levied.

With these points in mind the court will now proceed to consider its award on the various issues. By far the most important issues in dispute before the court are the working week, operational staff, overtime and hours of work—Saturday—and the court would like to deal with these four issues first:

(4.1) Working week

(4.3) Operational Staff

(5) Overtime

Hours of work—Saturday 1st shift 7 a.m.—12.30 p.m.
2nd shift 12.30 p.m.—6 p.m.

These four issues are interrelated as a decision on the working week will automatically determine the other three issues. At present Monday to Friday or 40 hours in a week are treated as a normal working week. Any work done after Friday is treated as overtime and payment is made as such. On 26th February, 1986, the claimants and the respondents entered into an agreement which was effective from 1st March, 1986, on hours of duty which included working week, administrative and non-operational staff, operational staff, shift work and overtime for non-operational and administrative staff, operational staff re: payment of overtime and 3rd shift payment and clocking system. This agreement was produced as appendix C to the claimants' memorandum and is very comprehensive indeed. The court can find nowhere in this agreement any clause stating that this agreement was of a provisional or temporary nature and would be renegotiated in due course.

The claimants have asked the court to maintain status quo as contained in this agreement on the aforesaid four issues because they have worked well in the past and have caused no problems. The respondents would like the normal working week to be six days from Monday to Saturday and the respondents expect to save some Sh. 59.9 million per year by these changes in respect of overtime and the 3rd shift payment. The court must, however, point out that if the respondents' prayer was accepted then the workers will be deprived of from their current income a sum to the tune of Sh. 59.9 million. This massive withdrawal of money from the workers is bound to have a major impact on social conditions and workers' living standard at the Coast.

The court has given very anxious thought to these issues and has decided to award that status quo on all these items should be maintained without any change whatsoever.

Annual Leave

The court notes that currently the Ex-Kenya Cargo Handling Services Ltd. employees are entitled to 36 and 30 annual leave days while the former employees of ex-Kenya Ports Authority are entitled to 34 and 26 annual leave days. The claimants are agreeable to the reduction of annual leave by two (2) days to make annual leave entitlement 34 and 30 days respectively. The respondents demand of 28 and 26 annual leave days reflects a reduction of 8 days from the present annual leave entitlement.

The court having carefully considered the workers present annual leave days entitlement vis-a-vis the parties submissions awards annual leave days as follows:

PA6—PA10	30 working days
PA11—PA12	28 working days

This award will be effective from 1st January, 1989.

8.3 Leave Travel Facilities

The court notes that at present the ex-Kenya Cargo Handling Services Ltd. employees and their families are entitled to a maximum of four return tickets per year. At the same time the former employees and their families of ex-Kenya Ports Authority were entitled to two travel warrants by rail or road. The travel facilities for the unionizable employees for the respondents at an average of Sh. 2,107 per employee accounted for 2.2 per cent of the total labour costs.

The respondents would like an employee and his family to be entitled to once a year travel warrant return ticket by rail or road to the employees home area.

The claimants are in favour of status quo.

Considering the two proposals put forward by the parties the court awards as follows:

An employee and his family shall be entitled once a year to one travel warrant facility by rail or road from Mombasa to Nakuru provided the employee takes more than half of his leave entitlement.

This award will be effective from 1st January, 1989.

(16) Acting and Duty Allowance

The court has carefully examined this issue and finds that this issue concerns only the operational staff due to the nature of their work. The court notes that it is extremely rare for any one of the operational staff to act for a period of 30 days to qualify for the acting allowance unlike the other employees who act for months up to six months or even more. The court finds that the operational staff act for a day or so in order to avoid unnecessary holdups in the work and any change of the present arrangement would imply an additional responsibility to the workers for some days without an additional payment for it which they would certainly resent. This would be an unfair practice which should not be encouraged and the court accordingly rejects the respondents' prayer and awards status quo on this issue.

Medical Benefits

The court has carefully considered this issue and after examining the two proposals put forward by the parties finds that the claimants' demand will raise the current total labour costs of Sh. 35.7 million by Sh. 15.0 million or 42.0 per cent per year to Sh. 50.7 million.

The respondents offer to an employee and his family to the extent of 80 per cent of the total discharge bill is to reduce the current medical expenditure of Sh. 35.7 million by Sh. 7.14 million. The court has decided to award as follows:

- (a) The respondents' employees only should continue as has been the practice to receive free medical treatment.
- (b) The families of the employees will be entitled to medical treatment in the private hospitals up to a maximum of 80 per cent of the total discharge bill. The families will be entitled to free medical treatment at the respondents' port dispensaries.
- (c) An employee and his family will be entitled to a limit of Sh. 4,000 per year for out-patient medical treatment in the private hospitals.

This award shall be effective from 1st July, 1988.

(21) Use of Ambulance

The court finds that at the moment the respondents have only three ambulances to cater for over 10,000 workers. The court is reluctant to give specific instructions on how these ambulances should be used and hopes the present system will continue.

Accordingly the court has decided to leave this issue to remain as it is at present. The claimants' demands on this issue are rejected.

Regulation of Employment

Recruitment

The court finds it proved that the system of keeping a register for seasonal employees has been more or less dormant for quite some time now. In view of the changed circumstances and conditions in Kenya now the court has decided that rather than reinstate the system of a register for seasonal workers the parties should seek the assistance of the National Employment Bureau under the newly created Ministry of Manpower Development and Employment. The parties and the National Employment Bureau should work out a system which will be compatible to the present employment situation in the country and the needs and exigencies of the port of Mombasa.

Modification of Work Procedures

On this issue the claimants would like the court to make it mandatory for the parties to enter into prior consultations before any change is implemented in regard to work procedures. The respondents felt that it is their prerogative to make changes when occasions demand.

The court finds respondents stand to be proper on this issue but the respondents should whenever necessary consult the claimants on any such moves. The claimants are not however entitled to negotiate on such matters—they can only put forward their suggestions.

Leave Travel Allowance—Cash

The court has carefully considered this issue and finds that 7,150 employees or 65 per cent of the respondents' employees are from Mombasa. The court notes that in its award on (8.3) leave travel facilities issue would benefit only 3,850 employees or 35 per cent of the respondents' labour force. If the respondents' demand that if employees don't travel they get no cash allowance is accepted then 65 per cent of the respondents' employees will be left out. The court is not prepared to make an award that is likely to disadvantage the majority of the workers like in this case.

The court further notes that there exists an arrangement where the supervisors (about 612) and the rest of the employees 10,788 are paid Sh. 1,300 and Sh. 640 respectively cash in lieu of travel warrants. The parties had worked out the payment as an equivalent of travel cost from Mombasa to Nakuru.

The court in view of the foregoing awards that all the workers should be entitled to Sh. 640 and supervisors Sh. 1,300 cash in lieu of travel warrant once a year—the workers however will not be entitled to both benefits, that is the cash and the travel warrant.

This award will be effective from 1st January, 1989.

An Employee who has acted for six consecutive months in an established vacant post to be confirmed to the respective post

The court has carefully considered the various arguments put forward by the parties on this issue and finds it established that 41 employees had worked in acting capacity for over 1½ years without being paid acting allowance or promoted to the posts.

The court having found merit in the claimants' demand has no alternative but to award in their favour. The court accordingly awards that an employee who acts for six consecutive months after the date of this award should be confirmed in the respective post.

Uniforms to appointed shop stewards

After consideration of the submissions on this item the court has decided to advise the parties to share equally the costs of the uniforms for the shop stewards.

Minimum Leave Allowance

The claimants on this item would like that anytime an employee applies for an emergency or compassionate leave, such an employee should be entitled to a travel warrant. The respondents have offered to continue granting employees compassionate leave but without travel warrants.

The court finds that if the claimants' demand on this item is allowed it will have adverse labour cost implications and the court is not prepared to do that. The court rejects the claimants' demand.

Probationary Period

The court notes that at one time during the hearing on this item the parties had proposed some amendments to their original positions. The parties requested the court to award as agreed by them on this item.

However, during the final submissions the claimants backed out of the agreement and then reverted to their original demand.

The court awards that, the probationary period should be one year but for an employee to be admitted into the pension scheme he should complete two years of service.

Effective date—Owner Occupier House Allowance

After careful consideration of the submissions the court finds that the parties had agreed on the revised rates of the new housing allowance and further agreed that the effective date for the new housing allowance to be 1st January, 1986. The court notes that the new housing allowance for some 10,454 unionizable employees at a cost Sh. 2,148,550 per month was implemented with effect from 1st January, 1986. However, the new rates of owner occupier house allowance for some 120 unionizable employees were not effected on 1st January, 1986, and are subject of this dispute.

The court has pointed out earlier that employees in this dispute had agreed to forego 13 months increases on wages and housing allowance.

The court in view of the foregoing has decided not to change the effective date for these employees and to award that 1st January, 1986 be the effective date (which the parties had agreed was applicable to 10,454 employees for house allowance entitlement) should as well be the effective date for the owner occupier house allowance.

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" duly signed by the parties dated 7th February, 1987, was received by the court on 3rd November, 1987, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The parties to this dispute entered into a recognition agreement on 1st March, 1986, and thereafter commenced negotiations on their first collective agreement. During the negotiations the parties were able to agree on some items leaving the seven issues now before the court.

The respondents engage in fruit, vegetable and flower wholesale and retail business situated in the city market. The prices of the respondents' merchandise are not controlled but vary with season and demand. The respondents employ 10 unionizable employees, who are subject of this dispute.

Service Gratuity

The claimants submitted that the respondents are not a small business as they deal with import and export business and that since they were established in 1910 the business has acquired several subsidiaries like House Wife Delight Ltd. and East African Seed Growers Ltd. respectively. The claimants further stated that the wages paid to the employees are very low despite having served the respondents for a number of years varying from 3 to 46 years. The claimants felt that the workers need service gratuity of 30 days pay for each completed year of service to supplement their meagre terminal benefits arising from their low wages as shown in table I.

Name of employee	Date engaged	Starting salary	Present salary	Service years
Andati	1979	—	700	7
Kariuki	1976	360	900	12
Mumanyi	1974	210	900	14
Kitungu	1967	250	810	21
Kiema	1966	250	1,400	22
Kamau	1965	—	760	23
Wameyo	1964	185	800	24
Ngomo	1958	250	1,050	30
Gachau	1942	18	950	46
Nthula	—	—	—	—

The respondents told the court that in consideration of the fact that this is the first collective agreement between the parties and employees are long serving they have been offered 10 days pay for each completed year of service prior to the introduction of the N.S.S.F. The respondents prayed the court to reject the claimants' demand and award as per their offer.

Long Service

The claimants have demanded that sliding scales be introduced in the parties' collective agreement as follows:

Years of service	Demand
(i) Above 5 to 10 years ...	Sh. 300
(ii) Above 10 to 20 years ...	400
(iii) Above 20 years ...	600

The respondents have made no offer on this item. The respondents stated that it is not possible to set up a scheme to cater for long service due to its monetary implications. The respondents informed the court that the claimants' demand on this issue would imply an additional labour cost of Sh. 5,800 per month or Sh. 69,600 per year.

Minimum Basic Wages

The claimants submitted that the respondents have adamantly refused to carry out job classification and the workers have been put together as general labourers. The claimants, therefore, demanded that a job grading be introduced and minimum wages be indicated accordingly. The claimants' demand and the respondents' offer are shown in Table II below.

Table II

	Respondents' offer	Claimants' demand
(a) General labourer	Sh. 670	Sh. 950
(b) Shop assistant	885	1,300
(c) Driver light van	886	1,300
(d) Driver medium size salesman	1,100	2,000

Leave Travelling Allowance

The claimants submitted that Sh. 150 offered is inadequate to cover for the employees' expenses incurred in travelling while on leave from Nairobi to their home areas and back to their place of work. The claimants prayed the court to award Sh. 400 as leave travelling allowance.

The respondents told the court that the employees have been offered Sh. 150 and this offer being introduced for the first time will give rise to an additional labour cost of Sh. 1,500 per year. The respondents pleaded inability to pay the claimants' demand and requested the court to reject the claimants' demand.

General Wage Increase

The claimants submitted that the respondents have totally ignored the cost of living indices over the years. Subsequently the workers have never been adequately compensated as required under the wages guidelines. As a result the claimants have demanded a general wage increase of 21 per cent per year or a total of 84.0 per cent for the last four years effective from 1st January, 1985.

The respondents told the court that they are in direct competition with some 30 other similar businesses operating in the same locality of the city market who are not unionized by the claimants so that uniform wage rates as well as other terms and conditions of employment could be applicable to all. The respondents further informed the court that the claimants' members are being paid salaries which are above the rates paid by similar business competitors and that the offer of 7.5 per cent is within the permissible guidelines based on the cost of living indices.

House Allowance

The claimants told the court that the employees are currently being paid consolidated wages disregarding the 15 per cent housing allowance provision in the wages guidelines. Consequently the employees are compelled to live in city estates like Mathare, Ngomongo, Kasabuni and Kibera where one roomed house rent was Sh. 300 per month. The claimants prayed the court to award a housing allowance of Sh. 400 per month.

The respondents have offered their employees housing allowance of Sh. 120 for the general labourer and Sh. 180 for all other categories respectively. The respondents told the court that housing allowance being a monetary element will increase the current bill on housing by Sh. 4,480 per annum. The respondents prayed the court to reject the claimants' demand on this issue and uphold their offer.

Effective Date

The claimants have demanded that the effective date be 1st January, 1985 with a duration of two years.

The respondents pleaded with the court not to make a retrospective award because such an award would lead to payment of huge arrears which could strangle the respondents business. The respondents prayed the court to award the effective date as the date of its award.

The court notes that this is the first collective agreement between the parties and that there are other 30 similar businesses in direct competition with the respondents within the city market and who are not claimants' members. The court cannot overlook the implications to the respondents of this business situation and keeping all this in mind and the wages guidelines the court awards as follows on each item:

Service Gratuity

The court note that the respondents labour force has decreased from a total of 18 to 10 employees by April 1988 and that the employees are all long serving. The court awards 15 days pay for each completed year of service prior to the introduction of the N.S.S.F.

Long Service

The court having carefully considered the two proposals put forward by the parties and taking into account the workers present salaries and the workers years of service is convinced that the claimants' demand on this item is reasonable.

The court accordingly awards that a sliding scale of Sh. 30 per month in respect of workers with 15 years of service and above should be introduced from the date of the court award.

Minimum Wage

The court has carefully considered submissions by the parties on this item and finds the respondents offer reasonable and so rejects the claimants' demand and endorses the respondents offer.

Leave Travelling Allowance

The court having examined the two proposals put forward by the parties awards that the workers should be entitled to leave travelling allowance of Sh. 200.

Wage Increase

The court awards a general wage increase of 10.0 per cent for the first year and a further 10.0 per cent for the second year based on individual existing salaries.

House Allowance

The court has carefully considered this issue and finds that the respondents offer is reasonable and so awards.

Effective Date

The court has carefully examined this issue and considering that the parties entered into a recognition agreement on 1st March, 1986, awards that 1st January, 1987, should be the effective date with a duration of two years.

Given at Nairobi on 21st June, 1988.

Particular attention should be paid to the following points:

- (i) Signature must be clarified by means of rubber-stamping or typing the name of the signer in capital letters.
