IN THE INDUSTRIAL COURT OF KENYA AT NAIROBI

(Before: Charles P. Chemmutut, J.,
J.M Kilonzo & P.M Osero, Members.)

CAUSE No. 122 OF 2003.

KENYA UNION OF COMMERCIAL, FOOD AND ALLIED
WORKERS—(Claimants)

VERSUS

KENYA POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANK—(Respondents).

Issue in dispute:

"Wrongful termination of Agnes L. Ogolla, PF.0605" (hereinafter called the grievant).

D.A Ngiramani, Deputy Secretary General, for Claimants (hereinafter called the Union).

M. Onyango (Mrs.), Executive Officer, F.K.E, for Respondents (hereinafter called the Bank).

AWARD.

The notification of Dispute, Form 'A' dated 8th October, 2003, together with statutory certificates from the Labour Commissioner and the Minister of Labour under Section 14(9) (e) and (f) of the trade Disputes Act, cap. 234, Laws of Kenya (which is hereinafter referred to as the Act), were received by the court on 17th November, 2003. The union submitted its written memorandum on 14th January, 2004, while the Bank filed its reply statement on 7th May, 2004, and the dispute on 24th May, 2004.

Admittedly, the grievant was employed by the Bank as a Clerical Officer on 1st October 1990; and at the time of her alleged termination from service on 20th August, 2002, on the ground of the "pecuniary embarrassment," she was earning a monthly salary of KSh. 21,050 and a house allowance of KSh. 3,640 per month.

The circumstances leading to the termination of the grievant from service are that on 25th September, 2001, the Assistant General Manager/Operations received and undated letter of complaint from one Mr. Eric Nwanko that the grievant owed him Kshs. 120,000/- which she had borrowed from him but refused to pay back and that he was forced to write the letter in an effort to compel the grievant to oblige (Union App.1 (a)). The General Manager/Operations called the grievant and requested her to sort out the matter with Mr. Nwanko by the end of November. The matter was discussed with her again by Senior Managers between September and November, 2001; and by 1st December 2001, the grievant had still not sorted out the matter, prompting the Bank to write to her officially to repay the debt. But in her response, dated 6th December, 2001, the grievant could not explain how she was going to pay the debt (Union Apps.1 (b) and (c)). On 11th December, 2001, the grievant request the Bank to be allowed to pay or liquidate the amount by instalments of either KSh. 2,000 or KSh. 5,000 per month (Union App.2), but the Bank declined to give authority to the grievant because it had no authority from the creditor to accept payment by instalments from her. In the meantime, i.e. on 29th November, 2001, the Bank received another complaint from the grievant's landlady about non-payment of arrears of rent, amounting to KSh. 31,000. On 10th December, 2001, the Bank asked the grievant to confirm whether the claim for rent arrears was true (Bank Ann.7) and on 14th December, 2001, the grievant confirmed that she owed the money to the Landlady, but she had given security to the Landlady's agent to secure the Debt (Bank Ann.8) on 20th December, 2001, the grievant was interdicted from duty for "pecuniary embarrassment" (Union App.3.), and on 20th August, 2002, she was terminated from service for the aforementioned offence. It was stated that at the time of her termination, the grievant had only paid KSh.15,000 to Mr. Nwanko and KSh. 5,000 to her landlady in spite of the fact that during the eight months of her interdiction the grievant was in receipt of her full salary (Union App. 5 and Bank Ann. 9).

Consequently, the grievant reported the matter to the union and the latter approached the Bank, on her behalf, for an amicable settlement of the matter, but no compromise was reached. On 19th November, 2002, the union reported a formal trade dispute to the Minister of Labour in accordance with Section 4 of the Act. The Minister accepted the dispute and appointed Mrs. Jane Murage of Nyayo House Labour Office to act as the Investigator; and, on the basis of the investigation, the Minister released his findings and recommendation to the parties on 2nd September, 2003, wherein he found and recommended as follows:

"FINDINGS.

Agnes was an employee of Post Bank who served in the bank as Clerical Officer from 1990 and 2002.

The borrowing of Kshs. 120,000/- is brought out by both parties' submission as the main cause of Agnes' termination.....when the money exchanged hands, there was no formal agreement written or signed, whatever transaction took place was based on mutual trust and understanding.

At no time does Agnes dispute having borrowed the money from Eric who was an intimate friend. Investigations have no disclosed failure of Agnes to repay the loan that she took on 4th May, 2002. Eric's letter which management treated with a lot of seriousness and consideration did not specify the duration of time Agnes would have the loan or when she was supposed to refund. It is from this point the management interfered without proper investigation done to an issue, which had no relationship with employment contract between the bank and the affected employee.

Eric's letter is used by management to end Agnes' employment contract with Post Bank. No meeting was held jointly in order to get facts right from complainant and Agnes. This portrayed management was unfair while dealing with Agnes, they never regarded anything she told them..... issues happening outside the office were given a lot of more attention than what Agnes was doing in the cause of her duties, for example the complainant from the Landlord's (read landlady's) Agent had been brought in by management for the sake of strengthening their points and to have the grounds of getting rid of Agnes.

Payment of full salary while Agnes was under interdiction should not be construed as an overpayment of salary as the management has submitted. It is noteworthy that on her interdiction she was informed of her payment of half salary. Management continued paying her full salary, in this instance, Agnes, therefore, committed no offence, she should, therefore, not be penalized for other people's mistakes. The manner in which her case was handled reflects on the poor managerial coordination within the organisation.

RECOMMENDATION

....., I recommend that Agnes be reinstated to her duties without loss of continuity of service and she be paid salaries and house allowance for the time she has been out of employment."

Finally, the Minister appealed to the parties to accept the recommendation as a basis of resolving this dispute. The Union accepted the recommendation but the Bank rejected it on the ground that the findings and recommendation were contrary to the basis upon which the decision to interdict the grievant were made, unjustified and biased against it.

In his submission, Mr. Ngirmani for the Union conceded that the grievant received a personal loan of Kshs 120,000/- from Mr. Eric Nwanko; and according to the latter, the amount was to be repaid in 4 days. However, the grievant defaulted in repaying the same; and in the circumstances, Mr. Nwanko wrote a letter to the Managing Director of the Bank seeking assistance in recovering the said amount (Union App.1 (a)). Mr. Ngirmani stated that the transaction between Mr. Nwanko and the grievant was a contractual one and wondered why the management of the Bank allowed themselves to be involved in a private and personal matter to which they were not privy and had no relations with the grievant's contract of employment with the Bank. He pointed out that the indebtedness between Mr. Nwanko and the grievant was civil in nature, and Mr. Nwanko should have had recourse to a competent Court of law to determine the same.

Therefore, the Bank was wrong to usurp and arrogate to itself the function of the Court, and as such the dismissal of the grievant was made in bad faith and capricious.

On the disciplinary procedure, Mr. Ngirmani submitted that the Bank was wrong to invoke Regulations J.12, J.5 and J.6 of the Code in dismissing the grievant because she had not been adjudged a debtor by a competent Court of law, nor had she been warned on any case of "pecuniary embarrassment" as required under Regulation J.5 of the Code. He asserted that the grievant had a clean or unblemished employment record and her efficiency and trustworthiness were not impaired. In the circumstances, the action taken by the Bank against the grievant was highly prejudicial and amounted to witch-hunting and miscarriage of justice.

For the foregoing reasons, Mr. Ngirmani urged the Court to uphold the Minister's findings and recommendation. In addition, he prayed that the grievant be paid maximum compensation, i.e. 12 months salary, for wrongful termination of service or loss of employment.

In reply, Mrs. Onyango for the Bank submitted that the grievant was "a difficult person to work with" and "almost all the warnings and the dismissal were on the grounds of very poor interpersonal relationship with her supervisors and workmates"; and according to her own admission "impoliteness and use of high pitched voice is in her nature"(Bank Ann. 10). She stated that between 1st June, 1993 and 13th November 2000, the grievant was warned on several occasions, interdicted and even dismissed at one time, but reemployed on humanitarian grounds, for using unofficial language to her immediate supervisor, excessive sick leave, double posting 56 items of accounts, insubordination, absenting herself from duty without permission, etc (Bank Anns.1 to 6). Mrs Onyango submitted further that the grievant was terminated on the grounds of "pecuniary embarrassment" under Regulation J.12 of the Bank's Code, and that her case fell under Regulation J.12(iv) (Bank Ann. 12). She pointed out that there were two separate reports of instances where the grievant was unable to pay her debts and/ or financial commitments as they fell due. In both cases the grievant admitted liability, and in the case of the landlady, she even made what would, under the Bankruptcy Act, Cap. 53, Laws of Kenya, be regarded as "an act of bankruptcy" by making arrangement with her creditors.

Mrs Onyango averred further that before taking the decision to terminate her services, the Bank took into account all relevant circumstances surrounding the case and gave the grievant ample opportunity to pay her debts but she never took advantage of the opportunity. She urged the Court to bear in mind that in a bank pecuniary embarrassment would of necessity be considered more seriously than in other work situations because banks deal with money and a person with no money is likely to be tempted by the large sums of money which banks handle. Such a person, she said, is therefore, a very dangerous employee as far as banking business is concerned. In any case, Regulation J.2 B2 (g) of the Code prohibits employees from engaging in any trade, commercial, or agricultural undertakings, among other prohibited activities (Bank Ann. 11.)

In the circumstances, Mrs. Onyango urged the Court to find that the termination of the grievant by the Bank was lawful and justified; and, therefore, prayed that the demand by the Union be rejected as baseless.

There is no dispute that the grievant received a personal loan of Kshs.120,000 from Mr. Eric Nwanko, and the question for consideration in this case is whether her inability to pay on demand constituted "pecuniary embarrassment". On 20th December, 2001, the grievant was interdicted for the delay in repaying the said loan as a result of his complaint, vide his undated letter which was received by the Managing Director on 25th September, 2001. Under para.3 of the said letter of interdiction, the Manager/Nairobi Region, C.K. Muge, informed the grievant that:

"As a result of this delay the Management has been forced to invoke the regulations as stipulated in the Code J12 on pecuniary embarrassment which is regarded as impairing the efficiency and endangering the trustworthiness of an employee as well as bringing the Bank into disrepute. This is considered as a serious offence and calls for disciplinary action being preferred against you as stipulated in Code J5 and/or J6".

In the last para., i.e para.5 thereof, the grievant was "required to show cause why further disciplinary action should not be preferred against you" and that "Your reply is awaited within 48 hours".

M/s Ogola Okello & Co., Advocates, intervened on behalf of the grievant (Union App.4), and after 8 months, i.e on 19th August, 2002, the grievant was terminated with effect from 20th August, 2002, and she was advised to clear her liability of Kshs 81,127.10 which she owed to the Bank (Union App. 5).

Regulation J. 12 (i) states that:

"Pecuniary embarrassment from whatever cause is regarded as necessarily impairing the efficiency and endangering the trustworthiness of an employee as well as bringing the Bank into disrepute. Disciplinary action will be taken against an employee in the manner and the circumstances set out below"; and according to Mrs. Onyario, Regulation 12(iv) under which the grievant was terminated reads as follows:-

"(iv) Other Types of Pecuniary Embarrassment.

Subject to the provisions of this Code, the Board of Directors and the Managing Director may deal with cases of pecuniary embarrassment not covered by this regulation including the imposition of any punishment provided in this Code, according to the circumstances of each case and in such manner as they may determine".

It is also very important to note that in cases of pecuniary embarrassment, Regulation J.5 (b)(4) of the Code provides thus: -

J5. WARNINGS

(1)-----
(3)-----

(4) Pecuniary Embarrassment:

The offender should be warned thrice and appropriate disciplinary action taken at the fourth offence (see POSTBANK CODE J12)."-

No doubt, the grievant was terminated on disciplinary grounds, and there is no evidence on the record, either verbally or documentary, to show that she was given the necessary warning letters before her services were terminated on account of pecuniary embarrassment. I am cognizant of the fact that it was the prerogative of the management of the Bank to judge the efficiency or shortcomings of the grievant, and this Court should not interfere unless there was a clear case of unfair labour practice or victimization. On the assessment of the documentary evidence brought on the record by the parties, I find that if the grievant had committed the said offences between 17th June 1993 and 13th November, 2000, such shortcomings also devolved on the Bank too because had it attached any importance to them, the management would have taken action.

The management of the Bank condoned the alleged infractions, if any, for a period of 8 years without taking any decisive action, and they cannot be heard now when they say that the grievant was "a difficult person to work with". Regrettably the Bank allowed itself to be used as a "debt collector" by Mr. Nwanko when he should have filed a civil suit against the grievant in a competent Court of law for recovery of the said amount. In the circumstances, I find that the letter of termination and the alleged shortcomings of the grievant on account of pecuniary embarrassment are of no consequence and bad in law.

With the foregoing discussion in view, I set aside the alleged termination of the grievant on disciplinary grounds, and in accordance with the powers conferred upon this Court by Section 15(1)(i) of the

Act, I AWARD and ORDER as follows:

(1) (a) That the grievant be reinstated forthwith and unconditionally to her job, with continuity of service and seniority including promotion, if any, with effect from the date of her alleged termination on 20th August, 2002.

(b) That she be paid her full salary, including house, leave and medical allowances, e.t.c. with effect from the said date, i.e 20th August, 2002, until full implementation of this award.

OR in the alternative:

2 (a) That the grievant be given normal termination of service and she be paid her full terminal benefits under 1(b) hereinabove.

(b) That, in addition, the grievant be paid compensation equivalent to twelve (12) months' salary for wrongful termination or loss of employment, based on her last salary when she was wrongfully terminated from employment.

In coming to this decision, I have consulted with and considered the advice or opinion of both members of the Court who sat with me.

Dated, delivered and signed at Nairobi on this 1st day of September, 2004.

C. P. CHEMMUTTUT,
Judge.

The Proponent (Geothermal Development Company) of the proposed installation of 5 – 10 MWe Modular Geothermal power plants at Menengai Geothermal drilling project, Nakuru County has proposed to undertake construction and installation of geothermal modular generator unit on well MW – 01, construction of substations, sump, re-injection well and transmission lines to various proposed drilling sites. The modular generator unit steam consumption shall be about 6.3 tons per hour per MWe with a generation voltage to 33kv befitting the evacuation line. The modular generator unit shall be designed for at least 200,000 hours continuous operation (25- year life).

The following are the anticipated impacts and proposed mitigation measures:

Possible Impact	Mitigation measures
Increased solid waste generation	• Use of an integrated solid waste management system i.e. through a hierarchy of options: 1. Source reduction 2. Recycling 3.Composting and reuse 4. Combustion 5. Sanitary land filling. • Through accurate estimation of the sizes and quantities of materials required, order materials in the sizes and quantities they will be needed rather than cutting them to size, or having large quantities of residual materials. • Ensure that damaged or wasted construction materials including cabinets, doors, plumbing and lighting fixtures, marbles and glass will be recovered for refurbishing and use in other projects. • Use of durable, long-lasting materials that will not need to be replaced as often, thereby reducing the amount of construction waste generated over time. • Provide facilities for proper handling and storage of construction materials to reduce the amount of waste caused by damage or exposure to the elements. • Purchase of perishable construction materials such as paints should be done incrementally to ensure reduced spoilage of unused materials. • Use building materials that have minimal or no packaging to avoid the generation of excessive packaging waste. • Reuse packaging materials such as cartons, cement bags, empty metal and plastic containers to reduce waste at the site. • Dispose waste more responsibly by dumping at designated dumping sites or landfills only. • Waste collection bins to be provided at designated points on site. • Private waste disposal company to be contracted to transport and dispose the solid waste from site.
Dust emission during construction of site infrastructure and transportation of machinery such as modular power generation equipment and their accessories	• Ensure strict enforcement of on-site speed limit regulations. • Avoid excavation works in extremely dry weathers. • Sprinkle water on graded access routes when necessary to reduce dust generation by construction vehicles. • Personal Protective equipment to be worn.
Increased possibility of subsidence due to higher rate of steam extraction	• Re inject into the geothermal system spent geothermal liquids. • Carry out regular geophysical

Disturbance of terrestrial flora and fauna	• Long access routes will be avoided and the shortest possible route will be used. • Access routes will avoid areas that may be sensitive or important to wildlife e.g. migration pathways and watering points. • Any structure within the project site will be camouflaged with natural environment friendly colours.
Dust emission during construction of site infrastructure and transportation of machinery such as drilling equipment and their accessories	• Areas where animals, both wild and domestic, are known to pass will be kept free of any obstruction. • Ensure strict enforcement of on-site speed limit regulations. • Avoid excavation works in extremely dry weathers. • Sprinkle water on graded access routes when necessary to reduce dust generation by construction vehicles. • Personal Protective equipment to be worn.
Increased possibility of subsidence due to higher rate of steam extraction compared to rate of natural replenishment of fluids	• Re inject into the geothermal system spent geothermal liquids. • Carry out regular geophysical monitoring to detect any changes related to subsidence in the project area and immediate environs.
Emergency preparedness and evacuation procedures	• Design suitable documented emergency preparedness and evacuation procedures to be used during any emergency. • Such procedures MUST be tested at regular intervals. • Ensure that adequate provisions are in place to immediately stop any operations where there is an imminent and serious danger to health and safety and to evacuate workers. • Ensure that the most current emergency telephone numbers posters are prominently and strategically displayed within the construction site. • Provide measures to deal with emergencies and accidents including adequate first aid arrangements.
Noise and vibration during construction and generation	• Sensitise construction vehicle drivers and machinery operators to switch off engines of vehicles or machinery not being used. • Sensitize construction drivers to avoid running of vehicle engines or hooting especially when passing through sensitive areas such as churches, residential areas and hospitals. • Ensure that construction machinery are kept in good condition to reduce noise generation. • Ensure that all generators and heavy-duty equipment are insulated or placed in enclosures to minimize ambient noise levels. • Workers on-site will need to wear appropriate hearing protection as a necessary safety precaution. • The noisy construction works will entirely be planned to be during daytime when most of the neighbours will be at work. • Comply with the provisions of Environmental Management and Coordination (Noise and Excessive Vibration Pollution) (Control) Regulations, 2009 regarding noise limits at the workplace.
Exhaust emissions	• Vehicle idling time shall be minimized • Sensitise truck drivers to avoid unnecessary racing of vehicle engines at loading/offloading points and parking areas, and to switch off or keep vehicle engines at these points.

Increased energy consumption	• Ensure electrical equipment, appliances and lights are switched off when not being used. • Install energy saving fluorescent tubes at all lighting points instead of bulbs which consume higher electric energy. • Ensure planning of transportation of materials to ensure that fossil fuels (diesel, petrol) are not consumed in excessive amounts. • Monitor energy use during construction and set targets for reduction of energy use.
High water demand	• Install water conserving taps that turn-off automatically when water is not being used. • Promote recycling and reuse of water as much as possible. • Install a discharge meter at water outlets to determine and monitor total water usage. • Promptly detect and repair of water pipe and tank leaks. • Sensitise staff to conserve water by avoiding unnecessary water use. • Provide for breathers along the pipeline to minimize pipe busts.
Generation of wastewater	• Provide means for handling sewage generated by construction workers. • Monitor spent geothermal fluids quality regularly to ensure that the stipulated discharge rules and standards are not violated. • Provide means for handling sewage generated by site workers. • Re-inject spent geothermal fluids back into the geothermal system. • Potential for contamination of groundwater by re-injected fluids should be minimized by installation of leak-proof well casings in the injection wells. • Consider use of binary power generation technology that reuses rejected geothermal fluids. • Monitor geothermal effluent quality regularly to ensure that the stipulated discharge rules and standards are not violated.
Machinery/equipment safety	• Ensure that machinery, equipment, personal protective equipment, appliances and hand tools used in construction and power generation do comply with the prescribed safety and health standards and be appropriately installed, maintained and safeguarded • Ensure that equipment and work tasks are adapted to fit workers and their ability including protection against mental strain. • All machines and other moving parts of equipment MUST be enclosed or guarded to protect all workers from injury. • Train and supervise workers regarding construction and power generation machinery and other procedures/operations.

- Equipment such as fire extinguishers MUST be examined by a government authorized person. The equipment may only be used if a certificate of examination has been issued.
- Reports of such examinations MUST be presented in prescribed forms, signed by the assessor and attached to the general register.

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT STUDY REPORT FOR THE PROPOSED CONSTRUCTION OF A MARINA AND TOURISM FACILITY AT KILIFI CREEK, KILIFI TOWN

PURSUANT to regulation 21 of Environmental (Impact Assessment and Audit) Regulations, the National Environmental Management Authority (NEMA) has received an Environmental Impact Assessment Study Report for the implementation of the proposed Construction of A Marina and Tourism Facility at Kilifi.

The Proponent (ELSEK & ELSEK (K) LIMITED) of the Proposed Construction of a Marina and Tourism facility at Kilifi Creek, Kilifi Town has proposed to construct a marina and tourism facility including, 165 slips for different sizes of bouts, 18 floating houses, 2 bars, a cafeteria, kitchen, fueling point and an administrative office area at the Kilifi creek.

The following are the anticipated impacts and proposed mitigation measures:

Possible Impact	Mitigation measures
Degradation of environment at point of origin of raw materials	- Obtain raw materials for the construction from sources that are compliant with NEMA Regulations. - Procure quantities that are sufficient for the intended works only and recycle as far as practical to stem wastage. - Commit extensive use of recycled raw materials as will be appropriate and in a manner that does not compromise the safety of the development. - Wood requirements would be serviced by timber from planted woodlots.
Loss of traditional fishing ground for local fishermen	- Involve KMA inspectors in construction activities. - Design to be approved by KMA.
Conflicts between proponent and fishermen	- Hold consultative meetings with the local fishermen under the auspices of the Fisheries Department and the local BMU. The meeting will sensitize the local fishermen on the project and allow them to provide their input. - Develop a compensation plan for the local fishermen need to be agreed upon during the consultative meetings on the basis of the importance of the site. - Agree on a royalty programme and support for social development such as schools and medical facilities. - Carry out a survey of the creek bottom to identify as far as practical areas that have low densities of sea grass for the placement of the piers. - Localize clearance only to the specific area where the pier will be constructed - Anchor excavation machinery on a floating base for piers away from the shoreline.
Degradation of marine water quality	- Placement of piers would be undertaken during calm seas given the high amplitude of the creek tidal regime. - Use of efficient excavation machinery and best technology so as to facilitate uptake of excavated soil materials and disposal in less sensitive areas of the sea i.e. sanctioning of sediments. - Ensure that site machinery have no leakage of oil or other lubricants. Oil change and machinery servicing shall be undertaken onshore and appropriate storage and handling facilities provided. - Prepare and implement an Oil Spill Contingency Plan. - KMA to approve local oil spill contingency plan.

Navigational hazards	• Provide appropriate signage to guide sea craft traffic entering and leaving the creek. • Place boundary markings with appropriate safety lighting to indicate the presence of a construction site at night. • Ensure that marker buoys and navigational lights are deployed and activated. • KMA and KPA to confirm the efficiency of navigational markers and buoys prior to commencement of marina operations.		• Train employees in the use of all equipment that they will be required to operate. • Rest times and breaks will be observed. • First aid services and an emergency vehicle to be readily available at site including a boat as an ambulance with a first aid kit. • Moving parts of machines and sharp surfaces to be securely protected with guards to avoid unnecessary contacts and injuries during construction phase.
Seascape changes	• Construction work will be short term. • Contractor to have a performance bond to ensure compliance with work progress schedules. • Creek users and residents will get used overtime.	Generation of waste oils and the potential for spills	• Fuel dispensing will be done by certified attendants. • Ensure proper storage and handling of oils and fuels. • Prepare and oil spill contingency response plan. • Build the capacity of staff to handle oil spillage.
Effluent from the workforce	• Provide portable toilet facilities for sanitary convenience for the workforce available in the active work areas at any given time. • Portable toilet facilities should be from a licensed dealer who also has a permit from NEMA for handling of such waste.		• Procure an oil spill response kit and train staff. Deploy the recommended containment booms and spill kits in the marina should the need arise. • Monitor water quality within the creek overtime for oil and grease levels.
Generation of solid wastes	• Appropriate waste collection bags shall be provided for all the work stations in the creek. • All solid wastes shall be collected, brought ashore, separated (into biodegradable and recyclable wastes) and disposed off by a NEMA licensed solid waste contractor.	Domestic effluent	• Installation of Biologically Engineered Single Sludge Treatment or its equivalent to treat waste to Tertiary Levels, where Total Nitrogen Loads are reduced to less than 10 mg/l and Phosphorus are reduced to 2-3mg/l. on the land area. • Thorough disinfection of effluents potentially going into water column or otherwise making contact with humans by use of BESST Sewer Treatment Plant, combined with chlorination of post treated effluents. • Reduce effluents going into the environment by recycling effluents to flush toilets – effluents from BESST Treatment Plant will be stored and disinfected through chlorination before it is reused for flushing toilets.
Air pollution	• Secure the site using appropriate dust screens. Sprinkle water on building materials that are likely to produce dust such as ballast. • Access road and dust surfaces at the construction site would also be sprinkled with water twice a day. • Employees will be provided with appropriate dust masks.		• Reduce further nutrient loads going into the water column by using stored effluents from Treatment Plant to irrigate lawn and hedgerows. • Application of BESST Treatment technology reduces TSS to less than 10 mg/l, this in combination with effluent recycling and reuse regime reduces suspended solids to insignificant levels in the water column.
Noise pollution	• Construction work and delivery of raw materials will be limited to day time hours only. • Concrete mixers will be located as far as practical from neighboring properties. • Contractor shall inform neighbors in writing prior to commencement of the development so that they are prepared psychologically at least two weeks in advance. • provided employees with earmuffs. • Register the site as a workplace with the Directorate of Occupational Health and Safety (DOHS).	Fire hazards	• Prepare and implement a Fire Hazard Response Plan. • Use of retardant material in construction works of the marina.
Occupational Health and safety	• Avail a rescue team complete with a boat and life savers. The employees shall wear life jackets at all times while in the sea. • Provide adequate and appropriate Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) including safety shoes, helmets, gloves and overalls for those working with machinery and on the terrestrial environment. • Provide correct tools and equipments for the jobs assigned.	Climate change	• Prepare and implement Contingency Plans for Phenomena associated with climate change such as sea level rise. This should be provided for in the engineering designs of the marina.
		Medical	• Prepare and implement a Contingency Plan for medical cases. • Have well trained first aid personnel on site at all times. • Have a adequately equipped first aid kits on site at all times Ensure there is always a standby ambulance/boat for transportation in case of emergencies

- Have contact numbers of reliable health facilities and professional health practitioners.
- Maritime traffic
 - Facility will Ensure that marker buoys and navigational lights are deployed at the right times.
 - Comply with the Regulations of the Kenya Maritime Act, 2006.
 - Comply with the Merchant Shipping Act.
