MEMORANDUM OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The working of the Civil Service Commission since the Civil Service Commission Ordinance, 1954, came into force on 1st January, 1955, has revealed the desirability for the appointment of a Deputy Chairman of the Commission. The Commission meets in full session only twice a month, but Selection Boards meet on most days and the Chairman of the Commission normally presides at Selection Board meetings. If the Chairman should be unable to preside at these meetings for any reason, the Ordinance makes no provision as to which member of the Commission or other person should take his place. It is, therefore, considered that the Ordinance should be amended to provide for the appointment of a Deputy Chairman of the Commission who would specifically preside over any meeting in the absence of the Chairman. At the same time it is desired to provide that a temporary Chairman or Deputy Chairman may be appointed to cover periods when there is no substantive Chairman or Deputy Chairman, or when the Chairman or Deputy Chairman is unable to perform the duties of his office. While section 3 (5) of the principal Ordinance can perhaps be interpreted so as to enable such an appointment to be made, it is considered better to make specific provision for this eventuality. Clause 3 of this Bill amends the principal Ordinance accordingly, and since it is not desired to increase the total membership of the Commission with the appointment of a Deputy Chairman, section 3 (1) (c) of the Ordinance is also amended to reduce the number of other members from 4 to 3, one nominated by each of the Civil Service Associations. Clauses 2, 4 and 7 make consequential amendments to the principal Ordinance.

Clause 5 of this Bill makes a minor amendment to the Ordinance to provide that the advice of the Commission need not be sought for the transfer of an officer within departments which are grouped together within one Clerical Scheme or within the Scheme for Stenographers and Secretaries, provided that no promotion is involved.

Clause 6 makes a formal amendment consequent upon the Exchequer and Audit Ordinance 1955.

No additional expenditure of public moneys will be incurred if this Bill is enacted.
